Senate Passes Tax Bill to Soak the Rich

DEFEATS MOVES TO HIT SMALL INCOME HARDER

Measure Now Goes to Conference.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's wealth confiscation bill, which levies 254 million dollars in new taxes on large estates, incomes, and corporations, and radically changes the American principles of taxation, was passed by the senate tonight after only two days of desultory discussion. The vote was 57 to 22.

The measure now goes to conference with the house of representatives, whose bill differs in many respects from the senate's, including the drastic inheritance taxes demanded by the President.

Speed Surprises Managers.

Ordinarily the senate, one of the most discursive parliamentary bodies on earth, would devote many days or weeks to a tax measure of such vital significance to the economic structure, but it was driven through to final passage at a speed that astonished even its managers.

Impelled by an overweening desire to go home and realizing the futility of opposition, senators spoke briefly and voted on the record.

Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas predicted, after the passage of the tax bill, that congress would adjourn not later than next Thursday, "possibly as early as Tuesday."

Small Incomes Saved.

It required three hours for the senate to convince Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.] that it wanted no part of his effort to broaden the tax base and soak small incomes as well as large. When the finance committee's amendments were reached it required three minutes for passage.

La Follette first sought to have surtax increases start at $3,000 instead of $4,000, and when defeated tried to have them started at $6,000, and on defeat of this proposal sought to make it $50,000, again meeting defeat. He had an amendment ready which would have lowered personal exemption to $2,000 and $800 for married and single persons, but no vote was taken on the proposal.

Reads at Top Speed.

Reading Clerk John Crockett thumbed through the bill at lightning speed, babbling unintelligibly the titles of the various sections, and Vice President John Garner kept up with him barking "without objection approved." The final roll call, however, was delayed by the offering of sundry amendments, the most important of which was adopted by a record vote of 40 to 39. This amendment, submitted by Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], would authorize taxation of all future issues of the federal government's securities.

This provision, which would have far reaching effects upon the government's financing, placing federal bonds at a disadvantage, and diverting investments to state and municipal securities, is expected to be thrown out in conference without much ado, if any.

Also expected to be thrown out, with no protests from Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the finance committee, are several amendments he "accepted" in an obvious effort to block further discussion.

Aid to Speculators.

Senator Pat McCarran [Dem., Nev.] succeeded, through Mr. Harrison's generosity, in securing the adoption of a rider enabling speculators to take advantage of the speculating possibilities of the government's silver purchasing program.

The amendment repeals the 50 per cent tax on silver trading profits and permits open trading in silver in the United States. It also repeals the nationalization section of the 1934 silver purchase act, but not silver purchasing itself.

Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.] also made a silver speech and offered the Patman bonus bill, to be paid out of the 3 billion dollars in greenbacks President Roosevelt is authorized to issue under the Thomas

'SOME ONE WANT ME?' MR. HOPSON ASKS AT SENATE

Gives Self Up for Lobby Inquiry.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Howard C. Hopson, rotund little ruler of the Associated Gas and Electric utilities system, for whose custody the two houses of congress have been engaged in an unprecedented battle, sauntered into a senate hearing room late today and inquired blandly: "Is some one here looking for me?"

Thus was climaxed a day in which senators had shouted and representatives ranted over their respective dignities. Hopson, cited for contempt by the senate because he refused to appear before its lobby committee, remained discreetly under the protection of the counsel for the house inquisitors. Just as the combatants became exhausted he suddenly announced he would appear before the senate committee if it still wanted him.

Immediate Trial Unlikely.

He was served with the contempt citation, but Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.] indicated he would not ask the senate to try Hopson or his attorney, W. A. Hill, immediately. Black had previously asked the senate to postpone Hill's trial because Hopson had not been located.

Having thus unexpectedly been given the opportunity to question the man about whom all the fuss was being made, Senator Black summoned an evening session of his committee and Hopson testified for an hour and a half. He will appear before the house committee tomorrow morning and the senate committee will take him on as soon as the lower body is through with him.

Hopson proved a pugnacious witness and by no means terrified of the senators who have become noted for their inquisitorial methods. He shouted when they shouted, pounded the table when they did, asked them questions at times, and proved also that he was as good a master of sarcasm as any of the committee members.

Much Noise, Little Evidence.

As has been the case with all the committee hearings, both house and senate, very little evidence of any kind was disclosed. But the crowd was given a good show, the press had plenty to write about, and the senators watched the flickering pencils with satisfaction.

Hopson revealed calmly that he had been registered at a local hotel all the time the senate's debonair sergeant at arms, Chesley W. Jurney, had been touring the city looking for him. He readily admitted that his location by a house investigator last week had been by prearrangement with his attorney. When Black attempted to make much of the fact that Hopson preferred testifying before the house committee rather than the senate body the utility czar remarked:

"Certainly. I know the sort of thing you've been doing in this committee."

Yesterday and today, he declared,

COLORED YOUTH STEALS RIDE ON ROOSEVELT TRAIN

The youth, whose name was not known on the train, crouched under the platform covering the steps leading to the President's car, where he rode for 40 miles.

The boy was seen by a tower watchman at Odenton, Md., about half way between Washington and Baltimore, and word was flashed to Baltimore, where police searched the train and removed him. He said he did not know he was on the President's train.

The President is going to Hyde Park to celebrate the 21st birthday of his son, Franklin D. Jr., and expects to arrive back at Washington Sunday morning.

CHINESE BANDITS SLAY KIDNAPED BRITISH WRITER

LONDON, Aug. 16 [Friday].—(AP)—A Reuters [British news agency] dispatch from Peiping reported today that Gareth Jones, British journalist and former secretary to David Lloyd George, who was captured by bandits near Kalgen, Chahar province, Inner Mongolia, a fortnight ago, had been killed by his captors. The agency reported in a later dispatch that Jones' body was found near Paochang, where he was seized.

Gareth Jones, correspondent for the Manchester Guardian, was seized on July 29 with Herbert Mueller, German journalist, and held for $40,000 ransom, arms and ammunition. The amount demanded was reduced to $20,000 later.

WIFE OF OIL CO. HEAD IS SHOT TO DEATH IN HOME

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Alice Gordon, 42, wife of Richard Gordon, president of the Three Rivers Oil corporation, was found shot to death in the bedroom of her downtown apartment here late tonight.

Coroner J. W. Bass, who will hold an inquest tomorrow, said he found no reason to believe that Mrs. Gordon had killed herself. A pistol was found near the body. Mrs. Gordon had been shot through the heart.

McCutcheon's Voice from Rio on Radio Here

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Speaking from Rio de Janeiro, 6,000 miles from Tribune Tower, John T. McCutcheon described highlights of his four continent flying adventure for the vast audience of W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system last night. The graphic flying story of THE TRIBUNE'S famous cartoonist was carried by radio telephone and land wires from the Brazilian capital to New York and thence to W-G-N's transmitter near Elgin. It was the longest distance broadcast ever sponsored by an American newspaper.

Atmospheric conditions, which are often unsatisfactory in relays from distant lands, were auspicious, making the broadcast successful. Following the program, telephone calls poured in congratulating W-G-N and THE TRIBUNE.

Departure of Zeppelin Delayed.

Mr. McCutcheon reported that the Graf Zeppelin, on which his party will be passengers to Germany, had postponed its departure until Saturday morning. The broadcast had been moved forward a day because the Graf had planned an earlier departure.

The cartoonist explained that the dirigible will take off within 15 minutes or so after its arrival at the airport, some 30 miles south of the capital, thus necessitating early rising on the part of all passengers. Mr. McCutcheon's party is to be called at 3:30 a. m., take a train for the Zeppelin field at 4:10, with the expectation that the Graf will take off around 6 o'clock in the morning. The Graf, he added, does not wait for passengers who are late.

Describes Typical Day Aloft.

Mr. McCutcheon took his radio audience with him over a sky road of more than 7,000 miles which he has traveled since leaving Miami three weeks ago, collecting bird's-eye views, visiting various zoological parks and places of exceptional interest.

Describing a typical day aloft, he declared that there had not been a disturbing note in the entire flying adventure—due to the motors at least. Flying with robot directed planes he found "just a convenience, not an adventure at all."

He recalled his first flight back in April, 1911, when he journeyed to Dayton, O., at the invitation of Orville Wright, and said he felt considerably more trepidation then than at any time during this hemispherical swing. Flying over the River Plate they ran into dense fog, forcing the plane to drop to the surface. There were some nervous moments, he said, while they taxied about in the murk searching for the harbor.

Passing Time in Plane.

Much time aloft is passed studying the maps on which all towns are listed and in scanning the scenery, Mr. McCutcheon told his listeners. Then there are diaries to be kept up. Cameras aren't of much use and are sealed except over Peru and the Argentine. Occasionally passengers have an opportunity to sit in with the pilot to inspect the 70-odd dials and gadgets controling the ships.

Among many messages of good will which came to THE TRIBUNE last night following the broadcast from Rio de Janeiro was one from Annibal de Saboia, Brazilian consul in Chicago.

DEAD NRA COSTS U. S. MORE THAN WHEN IN FULLEST OPERATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—As debate progressed on President Roosevelt's soak the rich tax bill today and senators expressed doubts that the government could ever get revenue to finance its deficits, Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] suggested one of the reasons for the plight of the New Deal.

"The NRA died on May 27," Senator Vandenberg said. "I have here a report showing that the administrative expenses of the NRA for July, 1935, were nearly $200,000 more than they were for July, 1934. For July, 1935, two months after its death, the administrative expenses of the NRA were $1,017,000, while for July, 1934, they were $887,046.

"The government should give more consideration to the demobilization of dead bureaus and less to the taxing of dead citizens."

British Consul in Chicago Fined $7.50 for Speeding

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Lewis Edward Bernays, British consul general in Chicago, who is home on leave, was fined $7.50 in Hendon, a London suburb, today for exceeding the thirty miles an hour speed limit. Bernays was driving to church Sunday when he was arrested.

Hitler Leader Assails U.S. 'Lynch Justice'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—Throwing in an attack on "lynch justice" in the United States, Julius Streicher, king of Germany's Jew baiters, assailed Jews, Catholics, and foreign newspaper correspondents in two addresses to about 50,000 persons in Berlin's two largest halls tonight. He added a sally at Christians who do not believe Christ was a Nordic crucified by Jews.

The first meeting was held in the Sportspalast. About 25,000 persons attended. Streicher spoke to another crowd almost as large in the Tennishalle. Both halls are in districts whose population is 21 per cent Jewish. Overflow crowds filled the roped off streets outside both halls, listening to Streicher's words over loud speakers. Brass bands played while they waited for hours. Extra details of police stood guard. Jews, on the advice of their own leaders, remained indoors. There were no disorders.

Chides Foreign Opinion.

Streicher, who publishes the vitriolic newspaper Stuermer at Nuremberg, expressed indignation because the world fails to see eye to eye with Germans who force Jews and Aryan women who consort with them to march through the streets placarded "racial violators."

"We do not mind if the daughter of a foreign ambassador witnessed such scenes in Nuremberg," he declared.

His reference was to Martha Dodd, daughter of United States Ambassador William E. Dodd, University of Chicago professor. Streicher failed to add that in the anti-Jewish demonstration mentioned the hair of the victims had been shaved off.

Streicher then spoke of the anti-Jewish riot a month ago in Kurfuerstendamm boulevard, center of Berlin night life.

Refers to U. S. Lynchings.

"People get excited abroad about the Kurfuerstendamm affair, although so far as I know not a single Jew was killed. I would like to suggest to foreign countries that rather they report about lynch justice in America. Such a report would be worth while. We pay no attention to Negro executions, so people should not bother when we lead racial offenders through the streets."

These were Streicher's maiden speeches in Berlin and many considered them his bid to secure an outstanding job for himself in the national capital in preference to his present job as governor of Franconia. Streicher was speaking for the first time with full approval of Reichsfuehrer Hitler. High Nazi officials were in the halls. One of the earliest arrivals was Prince August Wilhelm Hohenzollern, fourth son of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II. The prince was given a great hand by the audience. He laughed at Streicher's sex stories with the same abandon as thousands of listeners of the middle classes.

Streicher flew to Berlin early this morning, accompanied by a large entourage. He wore a light tan uniform and high black riding boots and was bareheaded as usual. He entered the Sportspalast with a riding crop

WOMAN FRIEND OF VICTIM AND HUSBAND FOUND

Acting on the first tangible clew developed in their two day investigation of the baffling murder of Kenneth A. Morrison, assistant controler of the Chicago Park district, the police were holding a married woman for questioning last night about her friendship with the slain victim.

The woman, Mrs. Madge Watson, 29 years old, a former employé of the park board with Morrison, was arrested last evening in Danville, Ill., on a Chicago warant charging disorderly conduct which was used as a technical means of holding her.

Mrs. Watson denied to Danville detectives that she had ever carried on a love affair with Morrison, but admitted that there had been gossip to that effect.

After a brief interrogation she was lodged in the county jail in Danville. Policemen David Nelson and Thomas McCarrick of the Hudson avenue station in Chicago, who were sent to bring her back for further questioning, arrived later and went to bed after announcing they would bring her to Chicago this morning.

Chicago Police Seize Husband.

Also seized for questioning last night was Mrs. Watson's estranged husband, Kenneth.

Watson, an employé of the Leader Wetwash laundry, 1633 West 43d street, was found in his apartment in the Walden hotel, 6236 Ingleside avenue, where he and his roommate, Lowell Henderson, also a laundry company employé, were entertaining a party of friends. Both men were taken to the Hudson avenue station.

Watson said that he had been a personal friend of Morrison and had no grudge against him. Questioned as to whether he believed Morrison had been carrying on a love affair with Mrs. Watson, he declared that he did not know.

"But if I had thought my wife was going wrong, I would have killed her, not the man," Watson said. "If I were going to kill a man I wouldn't be dumb enough not to rob him. I know nothing of the matter."

"Tried Not to Be Jealous."

Asked whether he was jealous of his wife, Watson answered: "I tried not to be jealous of her." He refused to explain this statement.

Shortly before 3 a. m. Capt. Andrew Barry of the Hudson avenue station discontinued the questioning of Watson, but said he would hold him until the arrival of Mrs. Watson from Danville. Henderson was released after he had substantiated Watson's story of being in bed and asleep at the time the murder was said to have been committed.

Police said last night that Mrs. Watson and her husband were cooperating with them in supplying possible clews to the murder mystery. They said nothing was disclosed in the preliminary questioning to connect them with the killing and that their chief purpose in questioning them was the hope that some clew would be disclosed concerning Morrison's life and habits which might lead to a solution.

The police also said that neither of them was in any sense a suspect and they were prepared to release them when they had completed questioning them.

Study Alternative Theory.

While the police were hopeful that the Watson clew might turn up facts which would lead to a solution of the murder, they were not overlooking another possible motive which developed last night. This was the discovery of evidence that Morrison, who earned a salary of $5,400 a year, was heavily in debt and had difficulty in meeting his bills. It was considered possible he might have been killed by an angry creditor.

Morrison, who was 47 years old, was found shot to death in his automobile in front of 628 Alaska street at 6 a. m. Wednesday. His home was on the other side of the city at 7318 Harvard avenue.

Quiz Widow on Mrs. Watson.

Shortly after Mrs. Watson had been found in Danville, Morrison's widow, Mrs. Ethelwyne Morrison, 46 years old, appeared at the station to obtain a release on his automobile. The widow, dry eyed and unemotional after a collapse earlier in the day, was accompanied by her brother-in-law, Donald Morrison of Winnipeg, Canada.

Questioned by the police, she said that she had met and had dinner with Mrs. Watson at her husband's request some months ago.

"I didn't know her well," Mrs. Morrison said, "but I don't think my husband was intimate with her. The relationship was entirely platonic."

The police then showed Mrs. Morrison two letters written by Mrs. Watson to Morrison.

Letters Indicate Friendship.

The letters were found in his desk in his office at the park board. The salutation on one letter was affectionate—"Dearest Ken"—and the body of the letters indicated a strong friendship between Morrison and Mrs. Watson, although no further endearing terms were used.

Mrs. Morrison insisted that she did not believe there had been a love affair between her husband and Mrs. Watson. The police returned the automobile to her and allowed her and her brother-in-law to depart.

Mrs. Watson, a plump, attractive woman, was found at the Danville home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Watson. She said she had been living there for two weeks with Jacqueline, her 12 year old daughter by a previous marriage.

She said she had worked for Morrison for three months at the park board.

"I never was his sweetheart," she declared. "Mrs. Morrison was my friend. I never ran around with him. I have been estranged from my husband for some time, but I wrote him a letter this morning when I heard Mr. Morrison had been killed. I told Kenneth to meet me at the train and I was preparing to go to Chicago."

She was asked if her husband had ever complained to the park board of her friendship with Morrison. She denied this.

"There was pressure at the office to have Mr. Morrison resign," she said. "He was supposed to take a vacation. This was the outcome of rumors that he was too friendly with a girl in the office. I guess they meant me.

Suspected She Was to Blame.

"I then asked Mr. Morrison if the trouble was caused by me and insisted that he take me to meet his wife. He did that and I had a heart to heart talk with Mrs. Morrison. I told her that I believed he was an ideal man and I appreciated what he had done for me in taking me out of a restaurant where I was working and getting me a job at the park board. Mrs. Morrison then wrote a letter of recommendation for me.

"Mr. Morrison had talked to me about his wife being ill, but he always said she was a very lovely woman."

Mrs. Watson said that she last saw Morrison on July 12. She telephoned him early that day and told him she was leaving for Danville by bus, she said.

Last Talk with Morrison.

"I asked him to drop me a line if he could find a job for me (she had been discharged from her job at the park board) and he said he would," Mrs. Watson said. "That night my girl friend, Margarita Black, and I had bad luck in our taxi connections to get the bus.

"So I called Mr. Morrison and he drove us to the bus and we said good-by.

"Since I left the park board last February I have been taking a course at a business school in Chicago. I was given a scholarship for the course by Earl Kulton, a friend of Mr. Morrison.

(This friend is mentioned as "Kulton" and as "Earl" in the letters written to Morrison by Mrs. Watson. The letters will be found in an adjoining column.)

Denies Accepting Money.

"I have never taken a cent from Mr. Morrison. Ours was purely a friendship. I know my husband could not have had anything to do with this. I will be glad to do anything I can to clear up this terrible thing."

TELLS OF FRIENDSHIP

From Supt. George Donoghue of the park district Capt. Barry and Assistant State's Attorney John S. Boyle, it was learned, obtained confirmation of the friendship between Morrison, the industrious, efficient accountant, and Mrs. Watson.

Mrs. Watson had been employed as a waitress in a restaurant at 61st street and Cottage Grove avenue until early in 1934. Her husband said last night that Morrison had met her there.

"He used to feed all the girls," Watson declared.

Mrs. Watson was given employment as a punch machine operator in the accounting department of the park board offices early in 1934, records showed. She was discharged in February, but on several occasions before that Morrison had interceded to save her from dismissal.

Residence Changed Often.

Mrs. Watson changed her residence often during her stay in Chicago, investigators found. At one time she lived at 6227 Ingleside avenue. About a year ago she moved to 6334 Kimbark avenue. Later she moved to the Blakemore hotel, 6318 Kimbark avenue. Just before her departure she had been living at 6106 University avenue with her friend, Miss Black.

The landlady of the building at 6334 Kimbark avenue said that three men had called on Mrs. Watson regularly. One, the landlady had heard referred to as "Phil." The other two men, investigators believe, might have been Morrison and Watson.

Mrs. Watson is the daughter of a barber living at Lyons, near Danville. Her first husband was Paul Giocone, a mail carrier living at Westville, also near Danville. He was the father of her daughter. Mrs. Watson divorced Giocone six years ago and married Watson.

Widow Defends Victim's Name.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Morrison collapsed in her home after stanchly defending her husband and refusing to acknowledge that he was other than the upright, home loving man that his friends and fellow workers had termed him. At that time she said she had never heard of Mrs. Watson.

Mrs. Morrison offered an explanation for the penciled note discovered on Morrison's body. The note read: "You are the ugliest creature that God ever made, I do believe."

"Those are my own words," Mrs. Morrison volunteered yesterday. "I jokingly made that remark to my husband several days ago and he jotted it down. He is always jotting down remarks I make. That note is undoubtedly in his handwriting."

Police declared, however, that the handwriting was that of a woman and not of Morrison.

DEBTS SURPRISE POLICE

Morrison was known as a man of exemplary habits and the discovery that he was heavily in debt caused surprise among the investigators. They were wondering whether there were any undisclosed phases of his life to explain the expenditures.

Capt. Andrew Barry, who examined Morrison's effects in his office desk, said that there were enough unpaid bills there "to take him many years to clear up."

In addition to his $5,400 salary at the park board he had in the past received considerable extra money for overtime work. Despite this and his wife's statement that he never drank or gambled, he nearly always made his purchases on the instalment plan and was in debt. He owed $800 on his automobile and several years ago he borrowed on a $20,000 insurance policy he had taken out in Canada.

The police also turned their attention to the story of a south park policeman, who said that on Tuesday night, shortly before Morrison drove from the park administration building in Burnham park at 10:50 o'clock, he saw two men seated on a fence nearby.

Descriptions of the two tallied roughly with those given police by Mrs. Anna Blazek, who saw two men run from Morrison's car at 11:30 o'clock the same night, the time the slaying is believed to have occurred.

Chief Deputy Coroner Victor L. Schlaeger announced last night that he had received a report from Joseph Wilimovsky Jr., coroner's ballistic expert, that the bullets which killed Morrison were fired from a .32 caliber Harrington and Richardson revolver. The revolver was in poor mechanical condition, Wilimovsky believed.

Woman's Letters to Murder Victim

The first of the two letters found in the office desk of Kenneth A. Morrison, slain park official, written to him by Mrs. Madge Watson, was dated in Danville, Aug. 6—about a week after Mrs. Watson had gone there from Chicago. The mentions of Jacky refer, apparently, to her daughter, Jacqueline. Jacqueline's father was Joseph Giaconi, Mrs. Watson's first husband, the police were told. The letter follows in part:

"Dearest Ken: Sorry to write you that I was greeted by a pretty sick little lady. It certainly would not be my luck to find a slight case of loneliness. She ran a temperature for several days.

"The doctor said it was the change of climate, water, heat, and, perhaps, her food not agreeing with her. . . .

"I was pretty worried at first, but feel rather relieved now.

"Her dad calls up but hasn't stopped in. I understand it is jealousy on the better half's side. So what could I expect?

Asks About Job Chances.

"I've certainly been cooped up and plenty lonesome, Jacky is so nervous and I'm twice as bad, so you can imagine the position we are in. Just another one of those unlucky occurrences. Will they never cease?

"I asked you before I left to keep Mr. Kulton freshened on the fact I wanted a job very badly. [Evidently referring to her request that Morrison help her get a position with the school board.]

"I'm writing to remind you I'd certainly appreciate the favor very much as I'm sure you can do more for me than any one. Mr. Kulton is a very good friend of yours and I'm sure would help me if he possibly could. . . .

"I don't think that would call for any criticism and my intentions are none otherwise. Do you think so?

"I missed out on the firefighters' picnic Sunday and also Uncle Joe's weekly celebration, ha, ha.

"Just hoping I don't miss the opportunity to throw rocks at the engineer when the train goes through this week.

"Outside of that I hope you will let me know in case anything breaks with Earl. [Apparently another reference to her hope for a job.]

"Will close wishing you lots of luck in business, home, and everywhere. As ever, M.

"You may write me about work at 7 Pine street, Danville, Ill. I'm with Ken's folks."

This letter was postmarked from Westville, Ill., and was mailed at 12:30 p. m. Aug. 6.

Second Letter a Reply.

The second letter was dated Saturday, Aug. 10, and indicated Mrs. Watson had received a reply to the first. It follows, in part:

"Hello:

"Many thanks for the prompt reply. Very glad to hear any news you may suggest. But so indefinite as to when I can start back. The doctor has removed the tubes from Jacky's nose and since she can breathe without them her nose will have a much better chance to heal. . . .

"I can't imagine Chicago missing me. But I can truthfully say I'd much rather be there. A little cousin of mine is visiting here. She has nightmares. She awakened last night after diving on the floor from her bed thinking she was swimming. I feel as though I was the diving board. So much for myself. How have you been? Working hard as usual? How are the rest of the crowd? Where did you park your feet at the circus? We missed the circus here.

"Will let you know when I can start back. Hope it won't be long. Bye bye. Your friend, in one hand and a bunch of asters in the other. He spoke for two hours and forty-five minutes.

NAZI JEW-BAITER ATTACKS U. S. IN BERLIN ADDRESS

Streicher Points to Lynch Law in America.

Doesn't Want to Kill Jews.

"I was asked why we did not kill the Jews when we took over power,' he began. "I answered that I do not do what the Jews want me to do. We will master this problem by legal means. Those who have realized the necessity for breaking the influence of the Jews must not allow agents provocateurs to mislead them."

Mention of America appeared frequently in Streicher's speech. Explaining that Jews could never become Germans even if they lived in Germany 2,000 years, he inferred that German-Americans always remained Germans at heart.

"German-Americans—if you are quite honest you feel when you come to Germany that your true fatherland is here where your parents came from," he declared.

What was taken to be another reference to the United States came when he spoke of "Jews who are almost chancellors in their own country," and of "the inflation in which countries lose everything and which is started by Jews. Their victims will come to Germany to seek new inspiration on how to master the Jewish menace."

Streicher declared the first step to be taken now is to forbid and punish by law consorting of Jews and Aryans. He bitterly attacked the Catholic church which, he declared, banned marriage between Protestants and Catholics, but allowed marriage between Christian Jews and Aryans.

Illustrates His Point.

To illustrate his point he went into a tearful story of hapless marriages between beautiful blonde Germanic women and Jews and a rapturous description of the matrimonial happiness of Nordic Germans and the beauty of their babies.

Half a dozen times Streicher attacked the foreign correspondents, saying "it is no longer possible to lie in Germany, so they do it abroad.'

"I can think of no viler profession than that of a newspaperman who every day must bring news, even if he has to lie to find it," he said.

"There is a lot you can learn from us," Streicher told foreign journalists who were present. "Sheer fictions have been spread about Germany abroad, but we know who stands behind all that Yiddish talk."

Streicher reinterpreted the Bible for his listeners, asserting it provides full endorsement for the Nazi creed. He then implied that Hitler succeeded in evading the Jewish plotters, thanks to the blood purge of June 30 last year. He stressed Hitler's similarity to Christ by saying:

"The battler of Nazareth was understood by everybody. Our Adolf Hitler is understood by everybody. Nazism conquered Germany through the simplicity of its aims."

Labor Front groups were prominent in the hall and outside, indicating that Streicher is aiming his present campaign for the working class.

Outside Berlin the suppression of Jews continued. The paper Israelitische Amilienblatt was suppressed until Nov. 10. Police closed Jewish-owned theaters in Hanover after a street demonstration against them.

Three monks of the Roman Catholic Brothers of Mercy were convicted and sentenced today for violation of the currency laws. Friar Ottomar Vey of Montabur monastery, found guilty of "treason to the people," was fined $20,000 and sent to prison for four years. Brother Joseph Bruemmer was fined $8,000 and given two years in prison, while Brother Stephan Kok was fined $1,200 and sentenced to a year in prison. They were charged with transferring out of the country or failing to declare in their possession $34,000, including a credit of $3,700 belonging to the Buffalo N. Y., branch of their order.

Four units of Catholic Youth societies in Wuerttemberg were dissolved and their properties confiscated. They were charged with being public nuisances.

NEW YORK RAIDS NET 600 AMONG IDLERS IN PARKS; SENTENCE 200

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—More than 100 crime suspects, holdup men, fugitives, and parole violators were sifted out today as 600 derelicts, swept up Wednesday night in the drive to wipe out crime in the public parks, were milled through the magistrates courts.

About 200 of the men, representing most of those whose cases were completed by the courts, were sentenced to serve from one to ten days in jail, others got suspended sentences upon promising they would quit the parks and notorious hangouts for the city's lodging houses and shelters.

Weary patrolmen, waiting patiently through the court sessions after the all night man hunt, were ordered back to their posts to continue the campaign against loiterers and thugs blamed for more than a score of park outrages in the last two months.

LEAK IN SECRET SHOWBOAT RAID PLAN IRKS COURT

Whether the police should stage a gambling raid on Sam's Showboat, anchored in Lake Michigan off Navy Pier, was the point in question yesterday as Attorney Maxwell Landis and Judge J. William Brooks staged a heated verbal discussion in the latter's Municipal court at the Chicago avenue station.

A warant, supposedly a secret one, was obtained by police for the raid, but all of a sudden everybody seemed to know about the secret, so the raid was postponed. The court action was on Landis' motion to quash the warant.

The lawyer's theory was that the boat is three miles off the shore, and therefore outside the city's jurisdiction. Judge Brooks, however, sharply refused to hear Landis' motion until the state's attorney's office had been notified. Twice he left the bench in exasperation as Attorney Landis renewed his pleas, but he remained firm in his stand.

In the meantime Sam Zito, manager of the boat, admitted that business had been "enormous" since the publicity involving the ship became current gossip.

HOLD JAIL GUARD FOR EXTORT PLOT ON U. S. PRISONER

Michael Starczewski, 11945 Indiana avenue, a guard employed in the county jail, was arrested yesterday by deputy United States marshals on a warant charging him with conspiracy to extort money from a federal prisoner. The warant, issued by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, charges that Starczewski, with an unidentified accomplice posing as a federal agent, obtained money from a woman federal prisoner on the pretense her case would be fixed. Starczewski has been employed in the jail since June 1, 1935. He was held last night at the Lawndale police station pending his arraignment today before Commissioner Walker.

OAK PARK MAN SHOT TO DEATH.

George Bristol, 48 years old, 814 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, was found shot to death yesterday at his summer home at Lake Geneva, Wis. Relatives of Bristol in Oak Park said that he had been despondent since his release from an Elgin hospital recently.

Drops Divorce Suit After Reconciliation in Court

A reconciliation was effected in Superior Judge Charles A. Williams' court yesterday when Herbert B. Elkin, 45 years old, of Glen Ellyn, a farmer, withdrew his suit for divorce against his wife, Mrs. Lillian D. Elkin.

ITALY DEMANDS MILITARY RULE OVER ETHIOPIA

Tells Britain Alternative Is War.

New Incident Occurs

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Italian observers here took a grave view tonight of an altercation at Diredawa, Ethiopia, between Renato Mecenate, Italian consulate secretary at Aden, and an Ethiopian policeman, during which both were seriously injured.

A report of the incident was cabled to Premier Mussolini and it was predicted representations will be made by the Italian government.

Mecenate, accompanied by Count del Giardino, Italian vice consul at Djibouti, was on the point of boarding the train at Diredawa for Addis Ababa when the trouble started.

When Mecenate arrived here his head was bandaged and he carried a bloodstained sun helmet. He said he was assaulted with a stick when he tried to place an official Italian mail pouch aboard the train, declaring a customs guard seized him and pushed him violently aside. He said he struck the guard in the face. A second guard then struck the Italian in the face with a stick.

The Ethiopian view was that the dispute was caused by Mecenate handing a package through a car window, which was against railroad regulations.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation to the tri-power conference opening tomorrow, informed the British representative, Anthony Eden, tonight that Italy's minimum demand for peaceful settlement of her dispute with Ethiopia is occupation of Ethiopia by the Italian army.

Aloisi said Premier Mussolini would require this condition in order to provide for the enforcement of economic privileges.

Italy, he said, would not be able to accept the British plan for economic concessions in Ethiopia unless Italy could make Ethiopia respect them. This, he said, would mean Italy must keep armed forces in the East African country.

Laval Causes Meeting.

Aloisi was induced to call on Eden, it was learned, by Premier Pierre Laval after the Italian had refused to visit the British minister for league of nations affairs separately on the eve of the scheduled conference between delegates of the French, Italian and British governments.

After the meeting, it was said in informed quarters, their positions were as "irreconcilable" as before the meeting.

Laval, Eden and Aloisi will formally open the conversations tomorrow. They will revolve around the tri-power treaty of 1906 by which Ethiopia was divided into spheres of economic influence, and England, France and Italy pledged themselves to protect the integrity of Ethiopia.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, whose stand as to what should be done with his country has been rarely mentioned, had a chance to present his side to Laval through Tecla Hawariat, his minister to France. Hawariat saw Laval shortly before Laval's second talk with Eden.

Laval Maps Compromise.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 15.—Ethiopia's chances of escaping Italian domination look blacker than ever tonight on the eve of the three power conference here. Europe's chances of avoiding an African war, however, were unexpectedly improved with the announcement that French Premier Pierre Laval is working on a compromise plan to settle the Ethiopian dispute.

Laval, who yesterday got the British viewpoint from Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for league of nations affairs, today received Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Italy's delegate.

Thus documented for the rôle of mediator, the crafty Auvergnat started to work on one of the biggest peace making assignments since the world war. It was learned tonight that he has already drafted the broad lines of the compromise which will be submitted to the three power conference before the end of the week.

Duce to Get What He Wants.

Details of his compromise plan have not been worked out yet, but it is reasonable to assume that it is based on the double principle of giving Premier Mussolini immediate territorial and economic concessions in Ethiopia and on giving him a free hand to extend his influence gradually over a period of years, as the French did in Morocco.

To make the British agree to this, Il Duce will doubtless be called upon to enter some kind of gentleman's agreement with respect to British colonial susceptibilities. If the British and the Italians can be persuaded to accept such a compromise there will not be any war in Ethiopia.

What Ethiopia will think of the plan is not regarded as important from the European point of view. With Great Britain supporting him the black duce can afford to talk back to the white duce, but if the three big powers who dominate Africa agree on what he must do there can be no back talk.

The purpose of the conference and the French compromise formula which is being prepared for it is to bring the three powers concerned into agreement on the division of spoils.

The question is a juridical one of how Ethiopia can be carved up without violating the covenant of the league of nations. It is a tough problem, but European diplomacy has shown before it has the caliber to tackle such problems. What is harder is for the nations to come to an understanding among themselves, and that is why this conference was convoked under the three power treaty of 1906, fixing spheres of influence in Ethiopia and not under league rules.

Italian Army of Million Near.

ROME, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Italy's goal of 1,000,000 men under arms will be reached by the end of September, it was announced tonight.

It was disclosed that a recent order recalling to the colors members of the military classes of 1911, 1913 and 1914 who have served only 3 months of compulsory service involves 150,000 men.

This number will bring the total of men in the service this fall to the 1,000,000 mark. Premier Mussolini is determined not to weaken Italy's home defenses although thousands of troops are going to east Africa.

U. S. COLORED GROUP SENDS PLEA TO LEAGUE COUNCIL FOR ETHIOPIA

GENEVA, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Dr. Willis N. Huggins of New York today appealed to the league of nations council to prevent an Italian conquest of Ethiopia.

The appeal was presented on behalf of the International Council of Friends of Ethiopia, with headquarters in New York, which Dr. Huggins said represented 350,000 American colored people.

The memornadum said that the destruction of Christian Ethiopia would imperil world peace, constitute a repudiation of the principles of Christianity, and increase the responsibility of Christian nations.

The petition asked that the council dispatch a neutral commission to eastern Africa and to protect the independence of Ethiopia by punitive measures if necessary.

WARNS ETHIOPIAN ROW IS GERM OF NEW WORLD WAR

Snowden Hits 'Appalling Impotence' of League.

BY VISCOUNT SNOWDEN.

[Former British Chancellor of the Exchequer.]

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

TILFORD, Surrey, England, Aug. 15.—The Italo-Ethiopian dispute has in it all the elements of a world war.

International affairs are now so interrelated an apparently trivial incident may have immense unexpected consequences.

The murder of an Austrian archduke was the match which set into a huge conflagration combustible material which for years had been accumulating.

Lists Elements Perilling Peace.

The elements constituting the present menace to world peace as a result of the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia may be summarized as follows:

1. The covenant of the league of nations and the Paris pact make an isolated dispute the business of all the signatories to these documents.

2. Unprovoked attack by one of the nations upon another member of the league compels the league to come to the assistance of the jeopardized nation. Under the Paris pact such an attack becomes a violation of international law and morality.

3. If Italy persists in her declared intention to attack and conquer Ethiopia, then her action is clearly in violation of both the covenant of the league and the conditions of the Paris pact. In the event of war the league must, if it discharges its obligations, take military or economic sanctions against Italy.

Says War Already Declared.

There is no doubt about the intentions of Italy. Mussolini has made these intentions abundantly clear. He has for all practical purposes already declared war.

In the face of such dangers the council of the league of nations has shown an impotence which is appalling. Its members, particularly Great Britain and France, have been afraid to take a firm line with Italy. Their dilatory methods have been an encouragement to Mussolini, who has treated them with contempt.

Three powers [Britain, France, Italy] are now meeting in Paris to talk. It is certain they will do nothing but talk. They will frame a meaningless formula and leave it at that. Mussolini will go on with his war preparations and when autumn comes will make his attack.

Aims for More Than Ethiopia.

Mussolini's aim and ambition will not stop short with the conquest of Ethiopia. If he is successful in this enterprise, his next move will be to absorb Austria. That attempt will bring Germany into the war and as European nations are now bound together with innumerable pacts and treaties a general European war would be inevitable.

There is just a faint chance of preventing these consequences. It is that the great powers with the invaluable help of America will muster the courage to take a firm line with Mussolini and show him the whole moral force of the world is against him. The united military power of the rest of the world will also be against him.

Joseph A. Hathaway, 44 years old, a public accountant with offices at 19 South La Salle street, who told the police he planned to kill the sister of the girl who spurned his love, was held to the grand jury on a charge of attempted kidnaping yesterday by Judge J. William Brooks in the Chicago avenue police court.

Hathaway was arrested early Wednesday on the fire escape of the Parkway hotel, 2100 Lincoln Park west. He was on his way, he told police, to the sixth floor room of Miss Ann Fergus, 35 years old, his former sweetheart and secretary, and her sister, Alice, 33 years old.

Sets Bond at $25,000.

He was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct, but Judge Brooks, after hearing Detective James Penney's story of the arrest, directed that he be booked and held on $25,000 bond.

"But, your honor," interposed Robert J. Bradburn, attorney for Hathaway. "This man is well known. Don't you think $25,000 is excessive?"

Judge Brooks glanced at Hathaway, dressed in a blue-black shirt, ragged trousers and sneakers, with a ragged cap in his hand. From Hathaway his glance traveled toward the table on which lay a freshly sharpened spade and shovel, two gunny sacks, a rope ladder, dyed canvas gloves, an ice pick, a screw driver—the implements Hathaway had with him at the time of his arrest.

Recalls Recent Homicides.

"No," the judge responded, "I don't think $25,000 is enough. Inasmuch as our recent homicides have gone to such ludicrous extremes, we find that no matter how fantastic the designs may appear, it is possible that they might be carried out. Were we in a state of normalcy, this might seem more or less like fiction, but I can't help being impressed by the weapons and paraphernalia this man had assembled. The charges are too serious and vicious to be tried under the classification of disorderly conduct."

Miss Ann Fergus, her auburn hair peeping from beneath the brim of a dashing navy blue hat, told the court that she had been in Hathaway's employ for five years, leaving him on May 23 when she found out he was married.

Move to Escape Him.

"You had been going around with him before that time?"

"Yes," she replied.

"He always talked about living with his mother," spoke up Alice, likewise dressed in navy blue, with auburn hair bright against her dark hat. "When we found out he was married, he said he had every right to go with Ann anyway because his wife was dying and lived in California."

"Has he threatened you since then?" asked the judge.

"No," replied Ann, "but we moved to get away from him. We received no telephone calls, and always went out together. Then he would follow us. That's why he had it in for Alice."

"And, judge," said Alice, leaning forward, "we're terribly afraid."

Hathaway, questioned briefly, said he has three children, the eldest 13 years old. They are with his wife, who is visiting her mother at Lake Morrison, Mich. Their home is at 2326 Grey avenue, Evanston.

Move Park Police Office to Burnham Pk. Building

The central headquarters of the Chicago park district police department were established yesterday for the first time in the park administration building in Burnham park. Capt. Michael C. 'SOMEBODY WANT ME?' MR. HOPSON ASKS AT SENATE

Gives Self Up for Quiz on Utility Lobby.

he had been under examination by William H. Collins, counsel for the house committee. The examination took place in a house office room, he said. While the senate and house were raging at each other over his whereabouts, Hopson was within a hundred yards of both.

Hopson's calm attitude made Black livid with anger. When Black inquired, with irony, "Will you permit me to read you a letter?" Hopson pretended to consider, then answered graciously: "You may."

Many queries were directed at the witness about his efforts against the utility control bill. He admitted that he suggested cutting off his company's advertising from newspapers which carried editorials condemning holding companies. He agreed that he had suggested the writing of letters to congressmen by investors in utility companies urging defeat of the bill.

"So What?" He'd Like to Know.

"What of it?" he demanded of the senators then. Taken somewhat aback, they did not reply. But when Hopson went on to deliver a little talk about the danger to the savings of investors in the Wheeler-Rayburn bill, Black leaped to his feet. He pounded the table. Hopson continued talking.

"That's all! That's all!" Black fairly shrieked. "If you keep up that kind of talk, we'll be compelled to take proper action!"

"I'm sorry. I assumed you wanted the whole truth," remarked Hopson, grinning at the angry senator.

"We don't want your philosophies!" shouted Black. "Answer the questions and don't make speeches."

Records Destroyed Daily.

All inter-office records were destroyed by his company daily, Hopson testified when asked why the committee had been unable to find any such records. It was a common practice with big corporations, he insisted.

"Was it honest?" demanded Sen. Lewis B. Schwellenbach [Dem., Wash.], indignantly.

"If it weren't, I wouldn't have done it," responded Hopson.

He disclaimed all connection with the sending of fake telegrams to congressmen, asserting it was a "most unwise" procedure. Hundreds of other questions, dealing with his lobbying against the utility bill, were hurled at him. His attorney finally pleaded that "some consideration" be given the witness; that he be not subjected to "the third degree" any longer.

Black Resents the Term.

Black resented this phrase and warned the lawyer not to make such accusations. But soon after, the committee recessed until tomorrow when Hopson will be shuttled back and forth between the two committees at their will.

Today's maneuvers began with O'Connor's cancellation of a scheduled committee meeting at which Hopson was to have appeared. This foiled Jurney's plan to serve Hopson at the hearing.

O'Connor's committee then drew up and approved a resolution ordering the house sergeant at arms, Kenneth Romney, to take Hopson into custody and protect him from the senate sergeant at arms.

Both houses met promptly at noon, with packed galleries attesting the public interest in the momentous affair.

Mr. Rankin Sputters Wrath.

Representative O'Connor led off by introducing his resolution. It stated that Hopson had been subpenaed first by the house committee and was under its call.

The mystery of Hopson's whereabouts yesterday afternoon while the senate committee was impatiently awaiting his appearance was cleared up. The resolution stated that Hopson, between the hours of 2:30 and 6 p. m. had been closeted with the house committee in executive session.

This aroused Representative John E. Rankin [Dem., Miss.], loud foe of utilities, to action. He sputtered that the house was criticizing the senate and had no right to do so. He was overruled by Speaker Byrns, who had previously expressed indignation at the senate's interference with house proceedings.

Greatest of Farces, He Says.

The resolution asserted that the senate was attempting to "invade the prerogatives and privileges" of the house and asked the appointment of the sergeant at arms to protect Hopson as the house's witness.

"This is the greatest farce I have ever heard," burst out Rankin. "It's an attempt to keep Hopson from the senate committee where he would be properly investigated. With the gentleman from New York [O'Connor] as chairman of that committee, I'm not sure that justice would ever result in an inquiry. This is a whitewashing resolution. It will bring the house into ill repute. It is disgusting."

The representatives did not like this language and cries of "sit down" rained down upon Rankin. The house was obviously ready to approve the resolution overwhelmingly when word was brought to O'Connor that Senator Black had announced in the senate that the senate committee would wait for Hopson until the house committee was through with him.

All Question of Dignity.

"This is a question of the dignity of the house," shouted O'Connor. "The issue here is whether there are two coördinate branches of government or whether one branch is subordinate to another. We didn't interfere with the senate. The senate interfered with us."

Loud applause from the statesmen greeted this sentiment.

"The house lobby committee has been ahead of the senate lobby committee throughout this investigation," continued O'Connor, proudly. "They're trying to steal our witnesses. It is intolerable. If Hopson had answered the senate subpena he would have been in contempt of the house."

Rankin attempted to interrupt and O'Connor quelled him with the admonition: "No more squirts out of you!"

Black Still Feels Slighted.

Senator Black was by no means conciliatory in his statement to the senate.

"Hopson has admitted under oath that he desired to escape appearing before the senate committee, and that he preferred to appear before the other committee. He appeared there by prearrangement.

Black thus gave rise to reports that Hopson's "discovery" by a house committee investigator last week was by arrangement with O'Connor. The latter has been criticized as unfit for leading an investigation into utility lobbying because his brother, Basil O'Connor, once a law partner of President, accepted a $25,000 fee from the Associated Gas company.

"Hopson has deliberately defied a senate subpena and this committee yesterday waited from 11 to 4 p. m. for him and he did not appear," Black continued.

"Our committee has never attempted to interfere with the house committee witness. But the other committee exceeded its prerogatives in putting Hopson under its protection. He had no right to ignore a senate process. Protection cannot and should not be given this witness and it will not be recognized."

WORK PLAN GOAL YEAR DISTANT AT PRESENT SPEED

Will Reach Mark by Nov. 1, Insists Hopkins.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—At its present rate of growth President Roosevelt's 4 billion dollar works relief program will not reach its goal of putting 3,500,000 employables to work within a year. This was revealed today at the weekly press conference of Federal Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins.

Hopkins placed the number of persons put to work under the program to date at 602,000. Of these 442,000 are workers taken over from the Civilian Conservation corps. Hopkins said that 52,000 persons had been taken from relief rolls since last week when the total number of workers was 550,000.

Predicts Goal By Nov. 1.

At the rate of 50,000 workers a week it will take more than a year to put 3,500,000 persons to work. Hopkins declared, however, that the program will reach the 3,500,000 goal by Nov. 1, although he refused to estimate the rate of increase.

In the general program of removing employables from the relief rolls Hopkins said his office will close down transient camps. This will be done, he added, as soon as the program gets under way.

"When I came into the relief picture transients were a great problem," Hopkins said. "They were being pushed across country lines by sheriffs at the point of guns. They were crowding breadlines, they were panhandling and in general they constituted a serious problem. Today we have cleaned all that up and the transient camps have served a useful function."

75,000 in Transient Camps.

Hopkins said there are 75,000 men in the transient camps. Of these, he estimated 80 per cent are physically able to work and nine-tenths of the latter will volunteer for work.

"They're not as bad as people think," Hopkins said." Why the University of Texas took over a camp for intelligence tests and one young fellow scored the highest rating in the history of the school."

In this connection Hopkins revealed he will attempt to break up veterans' camps which the administration financed to forestall bonus marchers. These, too, will be shipped to their homes and placed to work on works relief projects in their communities.

Dismisses Strikers with Gesture.

Hopkins dismissed the strikers in the east over the works relief wage scale with a wave of his hand. He said the strikers were dying out and he anticipated no general strikes throughout the country in the future.

With heat he denied that he had made a deal with the American Federation of Labor to raise the wage scales. No such move is being contemplated, he snapped.

Ashurst Protest Ignored; 'Who's Who' Will List Him

United States Senator Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz], is going to be included in the 1936 edition of "Who's Who in America" whether he likes it or not. Commenting here yesterday on the protest Ashurst made in Washington against being included in the volume, Albert N. Marquis, 919 North Michigan, avenue, the publisher, said: "'Who's Who' purports to include all the really prominent people of the nation. United States senators certainly qualify. Senator Ashurst's name has been listed in other years and it will be listed in the 1936 issue."

M'INTYRE, ROOSEVELT SECRETARY, FOUND IN HOPSON AID'S ROOM

New York, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A special dispatch from Washington to the New York Post today said that "two high administration officials" were involved in the congressional utility lobby investigation.

The Post's correspondent said they were Marvin McIntyre, White House secretary, and L. W. Robert, assistant secretary of the treasury.

The Post's dispatch related how they were revealed "as having spent some time last night in the room of B. B. Robinson, Washington agent of H. C. Hopson, head of the Associated Gas & Electric company."

The presence of the two administration officials, the Post said, was discovered when Chesley Jurney, senate sergeant-at-arms, seeking to serve the senate contempt citation on Hopson, called on Robinson to inquire if he knew of the magnate's whereabouts.

Jurney, the Post said, knocked on the door and Robinson stepped outside and, when he saw Jurney, hastily closed the door. He said he did not know where Hopson was and returned to his room. After a while the door opened and McIntyre and Robert came out.

Claims Dinner Engagement.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—When his attention was called to a story published in New York, saying he had been in company last night with B. B. Robinson, Washington representative of H. C. Hopson, Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre made the following statement:

"I was invited to dinner last night by 'Chip' Robert [L. W. Robert Jr., assistant secretary of the treasury] in company with Amon Carter. Before dinner on the public terrace we stopped by Robinson's room to pick him up. He also was a guest at our dinner table."

Carter is publisher of the Fort Worth, Tex., Star-Telegram.

WEST LOBBYING IN HOUSE STIRS SNELL TO ACTION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's "right hand "contact man"—who keeps him posted on what congress is doing—was denounced today by the house Republican leader as a "lobbyist."

Representative Snell of New York declared the "lobbying" by Charles West of Ohio was a "damned outrage."

West, Snell said, has been on the floor twice in recent days, "lobbying for the President." The G. O. P. chief added that house rules forbid a former member who is interested in pending legislation to go on the floor. "Unless this stops, I shall call the attention of the speaker to that rule, and see that it is enforced," Snell said.

The speaker, told about Snell's remarks, laughed and replied:

"I seem to recollect that only a few years ago one Walter H. Newton, who was a secretary to President Hoover, sat on the house floor alongside the gentleman from New York [Snell] and did a little light lobbying."

Also, the speaker expressed some doubt that the rule which Snell had in mind would be applicable to West.

President O.K.'s 40 Hr. Wk. Bill for Postal Workers

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the bill providing a forty hour week for postal employés. Officials expect it to create about 10,000 permanent jobs for men now on the postal "substitute" list. Mail carriers, clerks, railway mail workers, and others in the service will be put on the five day week, working eight hours a day, under the new law.

CHICAGO PARKS ASK U. S. CASH TO HIRE 660 ACTORS

Plan Pageants, Puppet and Minstrel Shows Free

An elaborate recreation program aiming at the employment of 660 actors and actresses, vaudeville performers, "prop" men and stage hands was proposed yesterday by the Chicago park district in an application sent to officials of the federal Works Progress Administration in Washington yesterday. The park district asked for $629,475 of WPA funds and offered to contribute $94,380, a total of $723,855 for the program.

Illinois officials of WPA approved the project without comment. It was said that the program probably would find favor with Washington because of its similarity to the "boondoggling" and eurythmic dancing activities uncovered in the New York aldermanic investigations of work relief last winter and defended by Harry Hopkins, then national emergency relief director and now head of the WPA as well.

On Payroll 11 Months.

V. K. Brown, head of the park district's recreation division, indicated the project would furnish considerable employment for out of work histrionic talent. If the plan goes through, shows will be held in the park field houses, he declared, and in addition the trouping Thespians will appear at various institutions.

Besides drama of the Shakesperian variety, the troupes will offer lighter divertisement, such as minstrel shows for the grownups and puppet shows for children. Pageants, festivals and dances also will be given for the free entertainment of the public. The 660 players and helpers will be on the pay roll for eleven months, it is expected.

Niles Center Sends Plea.

Along with the Chicago plea to Washington went a request from Niles Center for $3,342 for a recreational program. Niles Center offered $50 as the local contribution. On Wednesday the Illinois office of WPA sent to Washington the outline of a recreational project for Evanston, which included tap and ballroom dancing. Evanston asked Uncle Sam for $78,389 and proposed to contribute $10,416.

The first transfer of relief workers to Illinois WPA projects will start today. Work for 900 men will be available on the Whistler tract in the forest preserve of the Calumet district where top soil will be spread over spoilage removed from the deepening and widening of the Little Calumet river. Six hundred men will be employed on mosquito abatement in the Des Plaines river valley.

Transfer of relief workers to WPA projects also will start in 10 downstate counties today.

JAIL 83 WPA ARTISTS AS THEY DEMONSTRATE FOR PAY IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Eighty-three artists and art teachers employed by the Works Progress administration in designing and executing murals in public buildings throughout the city and in teaching art in settlement houses were arrested today after they had staged a demonstration in front of WPA offices, demanding their pay for the last two weeks. They were rounded up by ten patrolmen. Harold Chase, building owner, had telephoned to the station house asking that the police end the disturbance.

COWLEY WIDOW SUING KILLER; ASKS $100,000

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—John Paul Chase, former Dillinger gangster, was named defendant today in a $100,000 damage suit filed in federal court here by Mrs. Lavon C. Cowley, widow of Inspector Samuel P. Cowley of the department of justice. Cowley was slain Nov. 17, 1934, near Barrington, Ill. Chase is now serving a life sentence for that crime at Alcatraz Island prison in San Francisco bay.

The suit, brought on behalf of Mrs. Cowley and two minor children, charges that Chase is the killer of her husband. George "Baby Face" Nelson was killed in the same gun battle.

The bill relates that Chase has $1,738 in a savings account in a local bank in the name of his brother, Charles, and a restraining order preventing withdrawal of these funds is asked.

400 IRON MILL WORKERS STRIKE AT TERRE HAUTE

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—New labor trouble broke out today in Terre Haute, recently the scene of a general strike, when 400 molders and laborers walked out at the Terre Haute Malleable and Manufacturing plant.

Maj. E. E. Weimar, commanding Indiana National Guardsmen, left here following the general strike of three weeks ago, warned strikers that martial law still is in effect in Vigo county and that picketing will not be permitted.

Call Strike Saturday.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Street railway and bus union officials called a strike for 4 a. m. Saturday after an unsuccessful conference today with R. R. Smith, receiver of the Northern Indiana Railway, Inc. A strike tied up transportation here a little more than a year ago.

COUNTY'S BEST MAN AND WOMAN SINGERS CHOSEN

Huge Audience Applauds Festival Contest.

Only 2 Days More!

Only two days remain in which to buy tickets for the Chicagoland Music Festival tomorrow. Thousands of reserved seats have been sold, but thousands more still are available. They may be had at the Tribune Public Service offices at 50c each.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Jeane Price, 20 years old, contralto, 5905 West Ohio street, and Roy Anderson, 31 years old, baritone, 1129 North Parkside avenue, are the best man and woman singers of the Chicago and Cook county sections of the Chicagoland Music festival. They were so declared in the county finals at the Drake hotel last night by the judges, Lawrence Salerno, the station WGN baritone, and two eminent Chicago singing instructors, Edoardo Sacerdote and Louise St. John Westervelt. A huge crowd applauded the contestants.

These two artists have still another contest to meet. Tomorrow they will be confronted with the best singers who have been sent to Chicago by communities outside of Cook county in the Chicagoland district. The man and woman adjudged supreme at that time will appear on the festival program tomorrow night and on radio programs next week, according to the agreement with the Northerners and Swift & Co., already made public in this paper.

Choices Difficult to Make.

It was no easy matter to judge the winners last night. In neither case were the judges sure of their verdict on first hearing. Seated up in the gallery of the Drake ballroom, they sent down word that they wished to hear further singing. So Miss Price, who had sung Carrie Jacobs Bond's "I Love You Truly," made a second appearance in the song "Iris," while Henrietta Kracalik, 909 Beloit avenue, Forest Park, who had sung the "Ballatella" from "Pagliacci," came again with the lighter "Speak to Me of Love." After this the judges decreed first place to Miss Price, second place to Miss Kracalik, and third place to Harriet L. Forman, soprano, 5160 South Racine avenue.

With the men the case was even more complex, for three were requested to appear a second time. Mr. Anderson, who had sung Mana-Zucca's "I Love Life," appeared again with "Sylvia"; James Winning, baritone, 10509 Avenue M, who had sung the Prologo from "Pagliacci" to the irrepressible applause of the large audience, responded with a "Ballad" by Geoffrey O'Hara, and Duwayn Carnes, bass, 805 North Wabash avenue, after the Russian aria called "Two Giants," sang "Mandalay." They were finally given a one-two-three rating in the order in which they are named here.

They All Like "I Love Life."

Incidentally "I Love Life" came near to being a comic item in the contest, for it was sung not only by the winner, Mr. Anderson, but by G. E. Bennett, tenor, 715 Lincoln street, Evanston; Carl Cronstedt, baritone, 1000 Grove street, Evanston, and J. Ellis Jackson, tenor, 5711 Kimbark avenue. By the time it got its last announcement the audience was disposed to become hilarious.

Miss Price, the woman winner, is a graduate of the Austin High school. Mr. Anderson, who will carry on for the men as Miss Price will for her own sex, is a clerk in the RFC division of the Federal Reserve bank.

Three Sections of City Compete.

Last night's contest brought together the winners previously chosen in preliminary tryouts from the three sides of the city. They included classifications in soprano, contralto, tenor, baritone, and bass, since the effort was not to find the best singers of each class, but only the best singers among men and women.

Consequently there were fifteen contestants, one of each class from each of the three sides of the city. Among those not already named there were from the north side, Pauline Swayne, soprano, 18 East Chestnut street; Margie Mayer, contralto, 6512 North Fairfield avenue; from the west side Roy Cuthbertson, tenor, 617 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park; Alexander Kulpak, bass, 541 North Harvey avenue, Oak Park; from the south side, Josephine Turner, contralto, 1423 East 67th place, and Stanley Rimgus, bass, 2506 West 68th street.

THE TRIBUNE Festival office will be maintained throughout tomorrow from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. in room 240 at the Drake hotel, telephone Superior 2200.

As was arranged last year, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, will be in charge of a staf of doctors and nurses who will be on duty tomorrow night at Soldiers' field.

CRASH OF HERSE AND AUTO KILLS AN UNDERTAKER

Thomas H. Donoghue, 60 years old, owner of undertaking rooms at 1123 Pratt boulevard and at 2168 North California avenue, was killed yesterday when the herse in which he was returning from a funeral collided with a passenger automobile at Iowa street and 15th avenue, Melrose Park. William Endeen of Bellwood, a passenger in the other car, was injured seriously and taken to the Westlake hospital.

John Carey, 2055 West North avenue, driver of the herse, and James C. Masek, 1616 North 15th avenue, Melrose Park, driver of the other car, were only slightly injured. Both were held by the police. The inquest was continued until Sept. 10.

Donoghue's death and two others increased the 1935 trafic toll for Cook county to 572. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 454 had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 10,142 injured. The other victims:

Patrick Brett, 51 years old, 3258 Polk street. Died in the Belmont hospital of injuries incurred Aug. 12 when he was struck by a hit and run auto while crossing North Cicero avenue in the 5400 block.

Robert Leyh, 9 years old, 3809 North Albany avenue. Died at Martha Washington hospital of injuries incurred July 24 at North Albany avenue and Irving Park boulevard when he fell from the rear of a motor truck on which he had "hooked" a ride.

One Killed by Train; His Companion Critically Hurt

Marcus Mendoza, 26 years old, 9237 Brandon avenue, was killed and San Diego Rodrigues, 28 years old, 9001 Brandon avenue, was injured, probably fatally, last night when they were struck by a south bound Illinois Central railroad passenger train at East 90th street and Baltimore avenue.

MUSIC FESTIVAL TRAFIC EXPERTS PLAN FOR 100,000

All Transportation Lines Add Extra Service.

BY HAL FOUST.

Trafic, parking, policing and mass transportation facilities have been arranged to handle a crowd of 100,000 attending the Chicagoland Music Festival tomorrow night in Soldiers' field with a maximum of dispatch and convenience.

An army of 500 policemen under Chief Hayes of the Chicago park district has been assigned to aid the streams of pedestrians, private automobiles, buses and taxicabs that will begin to pour toward the stadium well before sunset. The city department is contributing 200 of these men commanded by Capt. David Flynn, head of the trafic division.

The Chicago Surface lines will operate terminals at 14th street and at 18th street built for A Century of Progress. Each of these has a capacity of 20,000 passengers per hour. All available trackage will be used at the close of the event.

Cars Routed Direct.

Roosevelt road, Clark street, and 14th-16th street cars, marked "Field museum," will run into the 14th street terminal with its pedestrian bridge to the Stadium. Cermak road cars from the west and Clark-Wentworth cars from the south, marked "lake front," will run into the 18th street terminal, which also is equipped with a passerelle for walking to Soldiers' field.

The Chicago Motor Coach company will have special buses plainly marked on all of its routes leading into the loop or into Grant park going directly to the Stadium. In addition, special buses will shuttle between the loop and Soldiers' field and may be boarded in Michigan avenue or in State street between Jackson boulevard and Randolph street.

20 Special I. C. Trains.

The Illinois Central railroad, with its stations designed for World's Fair convenience, will operate twenty special trains to and from the Music Festival. This is in addition to its regular interurban service.

Patrons of the elevated lines will use the Roosevelt road station, continuing to the stadium by foot, bus, or taxi over the 11th street viaduct.

Over half the taxicabs in Chicago, about 1,200, will be on hand for the event.

Otto K. Jelinek, trafic engineer for the Chicago park district, has laid out free parking space south of 16th street, east of Field Museum, and along curbs to accommodate approximately 4,000 automobiles. This will not be sufficient for all private cars, only enough for about half of them.

Pay parking space will be available in the fair grounds. A Century of Progress corporation has cleared ground for practically an unlimited number of automobiles and has hired attendants. Entrances are at the old Fair gates at Roosevelt road, 16th street and 23d street. The fee is 50 cents.

Trafic before the event will operate under the same system as normally, with most of the 500 policemen engaged in regulating the free parking, in the protection of pedestrians, and in the separation of through trafic from festival trafic.

Fifteen minutes before the close of the festival, about 10:15 o'clock, the outer drive will be closed at 31st street and Grant park will be closed at its Michigan avenue entrances so that all pavement will be available for outbound trafic only.

METHOD OF PURCHASE FOR RELIEF COAL TO BE CONSIDERED TODAY

Chairman J. C. Martin of the Illinois emergency relief commission and Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary, will hold a conference today to determine on methods of purchasing coal next month. More than 600,000 tons of coal were purchased for relief clients last winter and $4,880,023 was expended for this purpose from Oct. 1, 1934, through July of this year.

Since the meeting of the commission scheduled for today was called off because a quorum is not available, and a similar situation may exist next week, Reynolds said he might find it necessary to proceed with advertisments for bids and wait for later confirmation by the commission. He said coal might be needed in September.

It was said that a new plan for pegging the price of coal at the Illinois mines and paying dealers "service" charges for handling it virtually had been discarded by relief officials. It was decided that a new corps of inspectors, investigators and auditors would increase the cost for relief coal above the present system.

At present relief coal is furnished by dealers under contract through competitive bidding. This plan was adopted after the NRA was declared unconstitutional and is 20 per cent cheaper than under the fixed code prices.

LIFE IN PRISON FOR FERRIS AND 3 "PARTY GIRLS"

All Quiet as Judge Tells Sentences.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—William Lee Ferris, 26, and his three "party girls" stood silent in Recorders' court today as Judge John A. Boyne sentenced them to life imprisonment for the $134 holdup-slaying of Attorney Howard Carter Dickinson of New York.

Attorneys for the women had indicated they would appeal the conviction, but filed no motions in today's brief session.

The former burlesque dancers, Loretta and Florence Jackson and Jean Miller repeated none of their emotional outbreaks. They were sentenced to life in the Detroit House of Correction.

Ferris, charged with firing the fatal shots at the nephew of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, was sentenced to the Marquette prison.

The four were captured in Fort Wayne, Ind., four days after the slaying of Dickinson here on the night of June 26. They confessed they met Dickinson at the bar of a Detroit hotel and lured him to a drinking party to rob him of money they intended for a tent show. They later repudiated the confessions.

Lionel Barrymore and Wife Named in Income Tax Lien

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Lionel Barrymore, film actor, and his wife, Irene F. Barrymore, were named in an income tax lien filed today by the collector of internal revenue. The lien asks $9,649.74 from Barrymore's 1934 income. The collector filed a lien for $111.83 against Sidney Blackmar, English actor.

8 SUSPECTS HELD AFTER SERIES OF CLUB ROBBERIES

Eight men believed to be members of a band responsible for more than a dozen robberies of country clubs and resorts in the Chicago area and in southwestern Wisconsin were in custody of the state's attorney's office last night.

The arrests were made by a combined force under the direction of Lieut. Charles Egan of the state's attorney's police and Lieut. Lester Laird of the county highway police, who were instructed to establish headquarters at the Morton Grove highway station for the purpose of cleaning out the robbers who have been raiding country clubs. All the prisoners live in Melrose Park. The two leaders, according to Egan, are George Bougadis and Mike Derrico. Egan said the federal authorities are coöperating and are ready to hold the prisoners on a charge of interstate transport of stolen automobiles used in robberies of Wisconsin clubs.

Derrico and Bougadis have been identified from photographs, he said, as having participated in the robberies of the Westward Ho Golf club, the Nippersink Country club at Genoa City, Wis., and the Lake Lawn club at Delavan, Wis.

Those under arrest, in addition to Derrico and Bougadis, are Laye Gabriel, 28 years old; Tony Lullo, 24; Tony Vito, 22; Joseph Aiuppa, 21; Walter Yager, 23, and Robert Jordan, 25.

WINS PROBATION IN BURGLARY.

Wilbur Dreuth, 26 years old, 2844 Abbott court, who surrendered to the police and confessed that he had taken $250 in a burglary because he needed the money for his wife who was about to become a mother, was placed on probation for a year yesterday by Judge Justin F. McCarthy in the felony court.

TWO REPUBLICAN PARLEYS TO STIR ACTIVITY TODAY

Johnson Fights Removal as State Chairman.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Republican politics plays a double-header in Chicago today. Herbert Hoover is due to arrive this morning on his way from New York back to California. He is expected to hold conferences at the Drake hotel with a number of Republican leaders in Illinois, and perhaps some adjacent states.

The Republican state committee will meet this afternoon when an effort is to be renewed to oust from the state chairmanship Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, one of the godfathers of the June G. O. P. Grass Roots conference of ten prairie states at Springfield. Factional strife is blazing again within the committee.

See Cloud Over Election.

The state committee dissension ramified into national politics when friends of Chairman Johnson declared that if he is ousted and a successor put in his place the action might put a cloud over the next presidential election if the result should be extremely close and the Republican nominee should win by a slight margin in the electoral college.

The Johnson forces put out the following argument late yesterday:

"The Illinois statute prescribes the time and place at which a state chairman is elected and says this meeting shall be held in Springfield. The law makes no provision for supplanting a chairman, but what might happen if the committee did override the law and elect a new chairman?

Convention Picks Electors.

"The law says that 33 days before the next primary the state chairman shall file a call for a state convention. This convention among other duties will select four Republican electors-at-large. The other 25 electors, while chosen by the convention, are selected by congressional districts by the delegates of each district, which puts them on a different legal basis.

"If the presidential election should then be close and the Republican ticket won by a slight margin, and Illinois went Republican, the Democrats undoubtedly would attack the manner in which Illinois electors-at-large were selected by a convention not called by a chairman elected in conformity with law.

"They would seek to throw a cloud over the four Illinois electors at large. There are six states, each of which has only three electors, and seven states each with only four electors. If the election should hang, as it might if extremely close, upon one of these states, then to put the four electors at large from Illinois under a cloud might change the results."

Claim Ten Won't Attend.

The Johnson supporters declared yesterday that ten downstate committeemen would not attend today's session. The call for the meeting, which is to be held at 2 o'clock at the Bismarck hotel, was signed by the ten Cook county members and three from downstate. The question of a quorum depends upon voting strength, the Johnson followers insisting that a majority of the voting strength of the committee is necessary.

This voting power is based on the vote cast in the primaries of April 10, 1934, when the total Republican poll in the state was 966,246. The majority necessary to form a quorum is placed at 483,124. The total Cook county vote in 1934 was 387,773.

Downstate committeemen who signed the call were William R. Alle of Peoria, R. R. Bookwalter of Danville, and John H. Searing of Carbondale.

Hope Huey Will Run.

Senator Huey Long's announcement that he would run independently for President if there were no "liberal" candidate evoked cheers yesterday from some of the Republicans.

"The more of these fellows who start running, the better for the Republicans," said Silas H. Strawn, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The Young Democrats of Cook county held a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman at which the guest of honor was Demmy, a two year old donkey mascot of the club.

The donkey is to be taken to the national convention of the Young Democrats of America in Milwaukee Aug. 23 and 24, where he is to be presented as a gift to James Roosevelt, son of the President and secretary of the national organization.

GOV. HORNER PRAISES 33D DIVISION TROOPS IN REVIEW AT CAMP

Headed by Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond acting commander of the division, the troops greeted Gov. Horner on his arrival here by airplane from Springfield. Later the officers heard him denounce needless use of the National Guard units as "policemen."

HUEY WILL RUN FOR PRESIDENT 'IF, IF,' AND 'IF'

Names Conditions for the News Reels.

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long, pink-shirted high priest of the "sock-the-rich" cult, here today announced his candidacy for the presidency of the United States. In a suite at the Hotel New Yorker he faced a battery of newsreel cameras, etc.

Long will run for President, he said:

IF the Republicans nominate Hoover or Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher,

IF the Democrats nominate Roosevelt, whom he classified with Hoover, calling them "bedmates of disaster."

IF the Democrats fail to nominate former Gov. Ritchie of Maryland or a similar "liberal."

IF the Republicans fail to nominate Senator Borah of Idaho or Senators Norris, Capper or Wheeler.

Hopes to Make Money.

Here on a flying visit to "make a little money," Louisiana's Kingfish invented a couple of new words.

The choice in 1936, if between Hoover and Roosevelt respectively, would give the voters a pick between "high popalorum" and "low popahiram," he said.

Long startled even the most conservative of the political reporters by predicting that if the Republicans chose Senator Borah to head their ticket, that veteran campaigner from Idaho would beat President Roosevelt in a "landslide."

"Borah would carry forty-eight states," Long asserted with the typical gestures.

Pointing to the unemployment statistics as a good reason for a shift in Presidents, Senator Long declared that there are 734,000 more unemployed today than in 1934.

Quotes from A. F. of L.

"Those are A. F. of L. figures," he added.

The declaration of his "if and when" candidacy was the first indication of his possible race in 1936, but it was obvious that the voluble southerner is doing a little "watchful waiting."

"We're trying to get a bill through the senate to bar government employés from sitting as delegates at the Democratic convention," declared Long. "It'll take the government employés to nominate Roosevelt."

The five billion dollar works relief fund, Louisiana's one-man government charged, was being used "more ruthlessly than I ever spent a private contribution." The fund is nothing but a "campaign fund," he said.

ACCUSE BRIDEGROOM OF MURDER.

Lorain, O., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A warant charging first degree murder was issued today for Joseph Meluch, 26, whose 21 year old bride, Dorothy, was found with her skull crushed in her bedroom.

MISS EARHART PRAISES 'FLIVVER' PLANE AFTER HANDLING CONTROLS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart, outstanding woman flyer and conqueror of two oceans, was enthusiastic today over one of the bureau of air commerce "flivver" planes.

She was taken for a half-hour ride in the newest of several models being constructed under the bureau's direction. She landed to praise the tailless, bat-like plane.

Remarking on the similarity of its design to that of some early airplanes Miss Earhart said "I think it is a good thing to go back and experiment with models which have been abandoned."

After John H. Geisse, pilot who flew the strange looking craft from the west coast, took the plane aloft, Miss Earhart flew it from the dual controls. On landing she remarked that it handled "nicely."

"TOOK ALL KINDS OF PILLS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF"

Constipation, Due to Insufficient "Bulk," Relieved by Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

A fine letter from Mrs. Snyder:

"I have had trouble* with my bowels for years, taking all kinds of pills and drugs, with no relief.

"One year ago, I saw Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and bought a package. I have good movements every day. I am 73 years old. I am telling my friends what bran has done for me." —Mrs. Sallie Snyder, 918 N. Craft Ave., Hollywood, Cal.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to correct common constipation. With each meal in serious cases.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the "bulk" in leafy vegetables. How much better to use this food in place of patent medicines.

At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

TEST AUDIT HITS TAX CHAOS; LOSS MAY BE MILLIONS

County Commission Told of Loose Practices.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Chaotic records, loose business practices and irregular—in some cases illegal—administration of the county's tax collection machinery were described in a preliminary report submitted yesterday by auditors to the county audit commission.

The practices described have cost Cook county governments undetermined amounts of revenue which might run into millions of dollars. The irregularities were discovered as a result of test audits of a few of the hundreds of books composing the county's tax roll.

Result of Sweitzer Shortage.

The auditors, Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery, were employed by the county audit commission headed by Walter L. Gregory. Clayton Smith, president of the county board, appointed the commission following the Robert M. Sweitzer shortage, and the auditors for two months have been going over the records in the treasurer's office from which Sweitzer was ousted by the county board because of his failure to turn over $414,000 to his successor as county clerk when he became treasurer.

The auditors' report yesterday was the second submitted to the commission and the county board. Both were preliminary in nature, and the auditors were given authority yesterday to inspect the records of the county clerk's and assessor's office where this is necessary to get the complete history of some tax transactions.

Example of Revenue Lost.

The largest revenue losses indicated were in connection with remission of part of the penalties on delinquent tax bills. The auditors reported that in a single tax book, No. 1 of South town, which covers about half of the loop, they found what they termed "undercollections" of interest aggregating $599,297 in three tax levies alone, those for 1928, 1929 and 1932.

Of that sum, however, $270,939 is carried on the books as due on bills not yet paid in full, and $146,863 consists of remissions of penalties granted by County Judge Jarecki on 1928 tax bills, for which the auditors reported they could find no statutory authority, but which Judge Jarecki held he had authority to grant at the time the matters were before him.

There remained $181,486 in remissions of penalties, usually half of the statutory rate of 1 per cent a month. Of this sum, $9,473 was due to arithmetical errors of the treasurer's staf in computing penalties, the auditors reported. All but $26.37 of these errors were in favor of the taxpayers and against the governments.

No Authorization by Court.

An additional sum of $172,013 in remissions of penalties was found in cases in which the auditors were unable to find any court records authorizing the reductions. In a majority of these cases there were no statutory grounds for such reductions, the report states, and in a number of the cases the properties in question had never been before Judge Jarecki on objections, which would have given him jurisdiction to grant reductions.

Further unauthorized credits to taxpayers were charged by the auditors in connection with cases in which court attacks were made on tax rates. The test audit on this phase of the investigation included only the books covering loop properties, and disclosed unauthorized rebates totaling $50,886, according to the auditors' figures. Summarizing these findings, the report states:

"We found that allowances were made to some taxpayers in excess of those authorized by court orders, and that in other cases rate reductions, ordered by the county court, but superseded by decisions of the Supreme court, were nevertheless allowed to taxpayers.

Stop Litigation Is Plea.

The report also contained a general recommendation regarding tax rate litigation, which has resulted in the county treasurer's staf having to make literally millions of changes in tax records:

"The situation with respect to rate orders is in a very confused state and no matter what steps are taken to attempt proper recording on the collector's warants the treatment of such orders will continue to be very difficult. The analysis of the orders and applications against assessments cannot be reduced to simplified accounting practice.

"It appears to us that the institution of practices which would reduce the occurrence of litigation is one of the greatest needs in connection with expediting the collection and distribution of taxes."

Another Way to Dodge.

A third type of revenue loss was found by the auditors in connection with the correction of assessment errors in which an improvement had been listed on the wrong piece of land. In each of five cases studied by the auditors the property which had been overassessed was given its proper rebate, but in no case was the tax increased on the corresponding property which had been underassessed. The revenue loss in these five cases alone aggregated $24,702.

A number of arithmetical errors, all to the advantage of taxpayers, were found in the entries of orders of the county court reducing taxes on properties.

The report also went into considerable detail regarding a number of tax sales in October, 1930. These sales were apparently made in violation of the statute providing that the tax buyer must pay cash at the time of sale. The payments for the tax titles were not made until one or two years later, and in some cases after the owners of the property had redeemed it.

Prosecutor Hears Report.

The figures on these tax sales, as well as on numerous erasures of records in collection with tax sales, were given the county board several weeks ago by Commissioner George A. Miller. State's Attorney Courtney, who was present yesterday when the report was presented, asked if the auditors would trace the irregular tax sales and redemptions, further, and was assured that they will.

"If this mine run sample of the audit indicates wilful negligence or crookedness in the office," commented Col. A. A. Sprague, a member of the audit commission, "then it is for the prosecuting authorities or the county board to take whatever action they see fit. My thought is that this commission should recommend from time to time to the county board a continuance of the investigation with the aim of putting in a new system to avoid any irregularities in the future."

Hope Increased Tax Funds Will Match Appropriations

Most of the local governments are appropriating 90 per cent of their estimated revenues despite the fact that in recent years only from 60 to 70 per cent of the tax levies have been collected. Representatives of the city, county, forest preserves, and park district were asked yesterday how they expected to escape financial disaster.

Controler Robert B. Upham defended the city's appropriation policy on the ground that it has protected itself by allowing for 10 per cent on loss and cost of collection and an additional 3 per cent on salvage [funds appropriated and not spent].

Tells of Economy Measures.

"The city has economized to the bone," the controler said, and cannot function with less than 90 per cent of the 1935 levy. Corporate expenses for 1934 were $44,071,000 as compared with $58,768,068 for 1930, a peak year. The city has caught up on $13,500,000 of back salaries and $9,000,000 of unpaid bills. It is impossible to forecast accurately the amount of loss and costs, but we believe we have arrived at a safe figure if recent improvements in collections continue."

Mayor Kelly said that the city is living within its income and refraining from unnecessary expenditures. "We feel that our loss and cost estimate is adequate," he said, "especially since it is cushioned with salvage money."

Parks Keep Under Budget.

Park Controler Edward N. Heinz said that while the park district is permitted to issue tax warants to 90 per cent of the tax levy, during the first six months of 1935 it operated at a little more than 25 per cent under its budget.

County Auditor Lee J. Howard contended the situation is not as bad as it appears on the surface because during the last year or two the county has collected a tremendous amount of back taxes and actually the major taxing bodies, with the current year, are receiving from 85 to 90 per cent of their tax needs."

Charles G. Sauers, superintendent of the forest preserve district, said the district "recognizes that current tax collections have been deficient and that an effort had been made to be conservative in current appropriations." In a supplemental budget adopted a year ago, he said, the appropriations were only 60 per cent of the levy.

COAL CONTROL BILL WILL BE CALLED UP BEFORE HOUSE TODAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Looking toward fulfillment of its last important original work before adjournment of congress, the house took steps today to bring up for consideration tomorrow under no limitation of amendment the Guffey-Snyder bill for the control of the bituminous coal industry.

Discounting reports that the senate, in its haste to adjourn as soon as the tax bill is out of the way, would not consider the coal bill even if it passed the house, leaders decided today to push for enactment of the proposal.

President Roosevelt has succeeded twice in deferring a national coal strike on the promise that congress would at least try to pass the Guffey-Snyder bill. The walkout now is threatened for Sept. 16.

The ways and means committee, whose favorable report on the bill was made public today, obtained from the rules committee special procedure whereby the bill can be brought up tomorrow. Plans call for disposal of the bill by Saturday night or Monday.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The senate today confirmed Findley B. Howard of Nebraska as minister to Paraguay.

U. S. SEEKS BIDS TO FLY THE MAIL ACROSS PACIFIC

Calls for Weekly Service to Canton, China.

The postoffice department has issued a call for bids on a weekly air mail service across the Pacific from San Francisco to Canton, China, via Honolulu and Manila, it was learned here yesterday. The department is willing to award the contract for a term of ten years with a maximum base pay of $2 a mile for a specified load of 800 pounds.

According to the specifications the contractor must supply multi-motored flying boats capable of long sustained flight at an altitude of 1,000 feet on half the available power, and there must be at least six seats for passengers in addition to the mail.

Reserve Fuel Supply Required.

Furthermore the planes must have a minimum cruising speed of 125 miles an hour, and must carry fuel reserve sufficient to make the long over-water flights and still have gasoline for an hour's flight at the end. The equipment and pilots must be capable of flying both day and night. The contractor must establish and maintain his own bases and navigational aids.

Observers here said the request for bids set up conditions which could be met only by Pan-American Airways System which already has conducted pioneering flights over the route. No other contractor has established bases, and no other air transportation operator has the equipment in flying boats of sufficient range, or radio navigational aids essential to ocean flights.

Pan-American Subsidy Refused.

On April 23 the house of representatives refused to approve a $2,000,000 subsidy for Pan-American which had been tacked on the post-office-treasury appropriation bill in the senate. The subsidy was intended, according to representations then, to provide funds for the development of the trans-Pacific airway, already well advanced by that time.

In addition to base pay contractors will be given $1 per pound per 1,000 miles for all mail carried in excess of the base load. The contracts must be subject, however, to the regulations which provide that no officer, employé or agent of any airline operator holding mail contracts can be paid annually more than $17,500 in salary or bonus or both.

SENATE PASSES ROOSEVELT SOAK RICH TAX BILL

Defeats La Follette on Small Income Levy.

amendment to the agricultural adjustment act. He was induced by Majority Leader Robinson, however, to withdraw this, in view of the plan of the steering and policy committees to take up the bonus question early in January.

Cancel Whale Oil Duty.

Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] put over an amendment repealing the whale oil import duty of 3 cents a pound. Senator Thomas P. Gore [Dem., Okla.] put in an amendment reducing the crude oil tax from 1-10 to 1-25 per cent a barrel. This tax was imposed merely to permit inspection of the books in an effort to curb the "hot oil" trafic.

Senator Augustine Lonergan [Dem., Conn.] obtained adoption of an amendment exempting insurance policies taken out for the payment of death duties from taxation.

All other amendments were shouted down, and the bill otherwise was passed as the finance committee's experts drafted it. A summary of the bill follows:

1. Surtaxes on individual incomes in excess of $1,000,000 are increased from the present maximum of 59 per cent to:

1 million to 1½ million—60 per cent.
1½ million to 2 million—62 per cent.
2 million to 3 million—65 per cent.
3 million to 5 million—68 per cent.
5 million to 7 million—71 per cent.
7 million to 10 million—74 per cent.
Above 10 million—75 per cent.

46 Incomes over Million.

This provision is expected to yield a total of only $4,000,000 in revenue, for only forty-six individuals had income in excess of $1,000,000 in 1933.

2. Graduated income tax on corporations ranged as follows: Net income up to $15,000, 12½ per cent; $15,000 to $40,000, 14 per cent; $40,000 to $100,000, 15 per cent; above $100,000, 15½ per cent. The existing flat rate is 13¾ per cent. A yield of 60 million dollars is expected.

3. A capital stock tax of $1.50 per thousand, instead of $1 as at present, and an excess profits tax of 6 per cent on profits above 10 per cent and 12 per cent on profits above 15 per cent. The present excess profits tax is 5 per cent on all profits above 12½ per cent. A yield of $65,000,000 is expected.

Levy on Dividends.

4. A new tax in proportion to the corresponding income tax brackets on 15 per cent of net intercorporate dividends. Such dividends now are wholly exempt. The average tax will be about 2½ per cent on the dividends each time they pass through a holding company and the estimated yield is $39,000,000.

5. Estate taxes, now graduated from 1 per cent on amounts less than $10,000 to 60 per cent on amounts over $10,000,000 are increased to range from 2 per cent to 70 per cent. Gift taxes, approximating 75 per cent of the state tax rates, are increased accordingly, and the existing exemption of $50,000 on net estates is decreased to $40,000. The expected revenue is $101,000,000.

These provisions add up to a total of 269 million dollars, but 15 million is deducted from the estimate because of a provision exempting up to 5 per cent of a corporation's net profits from income taxes if given to organized charities.

House Bill Different.

The house bill differs throughout from that of the senate and is estimated by its proponents to yield 255 million dollars a year, or a million more than the senate bill. Instead of the estate tax increases, it imposes inheritance taxes graduated up to 75 per cent. Its corporation income tax has only two brackets, 13¾ per cent below $15,000 and 14¼ per cent above $15,000. It makes no change in the existing capital stock tax, but has a graduated excess profits tax ranging from 5 to 20 per cent on profits above 8 per cent. It starts surtax increases at $50,000, instead of $1,000,000, and has no inter-company dividend tax.

The wealth destruction program has been assailed in public discussion throughout the country ever since President Roosevelt's unheralded message came up on June 19, and the leaders of his party privately confess their contempt for it.

Harrison Disagrees.

Chairman Harrison even stated at a public hearing of his finance committee that he did not "agree with the President's philosophy." The President, nevertheless, has received virtually everything he demanded in one bill or the other. His chief rebuffs were the refusal of the house to accept the graduated corporation tax, which is a tax on business, and has no relation to earning capacity, or the ability to pay, and the senate's refusal to accept inheritance taxes. These are the major issues to be settled in conference.

27 MILLION GIFT OF ROCKEFELLER REVEALED BY SEC

Stock Donations Follow Tax Message.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Jr. gave away securities worth $27,300,000 nine days after President Roosevelt asked congress to impose inheritance taxes and raise estate and gift taxes, the Securities and Exchange commission disclosed today.

"Gifts for individuals and charitable organizations" involving 2,100,000 shares of Socony Vacuum corporation stock were reported to the SEC by Mr. Rockefeller. The gifts were made on June 28, when the stock had a market value of $13 a share or an aggregate value of $27,300,000. Individuals and organizations sharing in the gifts were not named.

Huge Sum May Be Seized.

Even under existing gift taxes, without the increases urged by the New Dealers and embodied in the pending tax bill, as much as 11 million dollars, or about 40 per cent of the huge gifts, might be seized by the federal government.

Approximately $28,724,400 in stocks were given away by eleven persons, including Mr. Rockefeller, between June 20, the day after the President's tax message, and the end of June, according to SEC records. Stock transactions in July and August have not been made public.

List Other Gifts.

Persons making gifts after the tax message and the value of securities given away are:

Henry J. Fisher, $660,000; John N. Willys, $142,000; William K. Vanderbilt, $201,500; R. R. Williams, $141,000; George H. Lorimer, $95,000; Henry J. Breyer, $61,020; P. B. Jamison, $46,2520; Isaac Elliott, $32,000, Max Weinstein, $21,200, and Flora S. Wupperman, $14,400.

Mr. Rockefeller still retained on June 28 2,852,570 shares of Socony Vacuum stock, having a market value of about $37,083,500, after making his gifts and selling 4,400 shares of the stock during June, the SEC report showed. His total holdings in various Standard Oil companies as originally reported to the SEC were estimated at $250,000,000.

The $27,300,000 in securities given away by Mr. Rockefeller on June 28 was shown in the second report of gifts which he has filed. On March 4 he gave away 70,000 shares of Socony Vacuum, worth at that time $910,000, and on March 15 he gave away 15,000 shares, worth $180,000.

Purchases, Sales Disclosed.

Among the stock purchases and sales which the supplementary summary disclosed was the purchase of 600 shares of Madison Square Garden's stock, costing an estimated $4,200, by Walter P. Chrysler. Mr. Chrysler, who began buying into the Gardens some time back, had 4,500 shares of the stock at the end of June.

Cyrus H. McCormick, the summary also showed, sold 1,600 shares of common stock in the International Harvester company in seven transactions between June 15 and 24. He then purchased on the 29th of June 5,363 shares, making a net increase of 3,763 shares in his holdings. The stock was selling at $44 a share during his sales and $45 when purchased. He reported total holdings of 271,266 shares worth $12,207,470 on June 29.

Morris Goldblatt and Nathan Gold of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., each reported sales of 1,579 shares of the company's common stock between June 1 and June 28. The stock averaged about $21 a share. At the end of the month Morris Goldblatt still retained 26,225 shares in his own name and Nathan 26,224 shares worth appoximately $550,725. In addition each reported that he was trustee for 370,790 shares worth about $7,786,600.

Sells Mail Order Stock.

Benjamin J. Rosenthal, Chicago, reported selling 2,500 shares of common stock of the Chicago Mail Order company on June 11. He still held 94,115 shares.

Cornelius Crane, Chicago, sold 300 shares of common stock of Crane company on June 8 and held 61,211 shares of common and 4,213 shares of preferred.

S. S. Kresge, Detroit, sold 3,800 shares of common stock in the S. S. Kresge company between June 11 and 29 when the stock averaged about $23.50 a share. He retained 1,282,784 shares of common worth approximately $30,145,300.

FOREIGNERS REQUIRED TO PAY TAXES ON ALL INCOME EARNED IN U. S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Foreigners coming to the United States on business, regardless of how brief their stay, must under a rule of years' standing, pay a tax on income earned while here, the internal revenue bureau said today.

The bureau's statement was prompted by reports that Sir Percival Phillips, British newspaper correspondent, had been required to report on income earned while in the United States recently.

Sir Percival was here to write a series of articles on the New Deal, and was compelled to cut short by one day a stay in Washington so as to make the necessary report to the collector of internal revenue in New York.

Terrific heat develops within an engine even at ordinary driving speed; in fact, motor oil comes in contact with some engine parts which get as hot as 500 degrees Fahrenheit.

ISO-VIS "D" Motor Oil withstands this intense heat—because it has the kind of viscosity, or "body," that is not greatly affected by extremes of temperature, hot or cold.

Moreover, ISO-VIS "D" won't form Sludge—arch enemy of a motor—because it is made by Standard's advanced refining methods, the Propane Dewaxing and Chlorex Extraction processes, which remove all weak portions.

As a result ISO-VIS "D" saves real money for motorists. It lasts longer—requires fewer quarts between drains—and gives dependable, efficient lubrication.

CHICAGO GRANTED 16 MILLION FOR SEWER PROJECTS

Ickes Approves Gift to Sanitary District.

An allotment of $16,692,000 from the Federal Public Works administration to the Chicago sanitary district for sewer construction was approved yesterday by Secretary of the Interior Ickes at Washington. This increases to $58,630,000 the funds received by the district from the PWA, as the government purchased $41,938,000 of the district's bonds at par in 1933.

The $16,692,000 is an outright grant from the government, amounting to approximately 30 per cent of the $58,630,000. Ross A. Woodhull, president of the sanitary district, explained yesterday that when the bonds were purchased the government set apart the $16,692,000 to be used for retirement of the bonds, which might depreciate or be impaired because of noncollection of taxes. Because of the district's improved financial position, the $16,692,000 is now made available as an outright gift to provide employment.

Project to Cost 120 Millions.

The federal funds are to aid Chicago in complying with the ruling of the United States Supreme court requiring a reduction in the amount of water diverted from Lake Michigan through the Chicago river. The total cost of this project is estimated at $120,000,000.

The projects which will be financed with the allotment were listed by Mr. Woodhull as follows:

Upper Des Plaines intercepting sewer	$5,000,000
West towns outlet sewers	3,300,000
River controling works at mouth of Chicago river	3,000,000
Calumet sewers	1,360,000
Calumet City intercepting sewers	1,000,000
North side sewage treatment work extension	557,000
Stony Island avenue sewers	545,000
Belt line sewers	510,000
Loop sewers	500,000
Cherry street intercepting sewer in Winnetka	250,000
Goose Island sewers	250,000
Harrison street sewers	200,000
Ten siphons under the north shore channel and pumping station in Niles	150,000
Halsted street branch sewers	65,000
Total	$16,692,000

Spend Quickly, Is the Order.

Ickes instructed Carl Bauer, director of the PWA for Illinois, to spend the money "as quickly as possible in order to create the maximum amount of employment." Mr. Woodhull said work on the upper Des Plaines intercepting sewer would start in October.

Up to July 31 the sanitary district had spent $13,373,000 in construction work on the water diversion project. At one time more than 6,000 men were employed, and an average of 4,498 men have been at work at all times on the job.

At a meeting of the sanitary district yesterday Leo Michuda & Son was awarded the contract for the construction of the southwest intercepting sewer No. 4. The company's bid, $1,103,456, was the lowest of eight received. The sewer will be built under McKinley park and Pershing road from Western to Racine avenues. It is the fourth section of the 10 million dollar concrete sewer that will take sewage from 68 square miles of the city in the area between Roosevelt road and 87th street.

TWO ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF STEALING PLANE

Two men were captured in Chicago last night and returned to Gary to face a charge of the larceny of one airplane, two seater cabin type. The prisoners, both of whom waived extradition, are A. R. Field, 28 years old, 526 Indiana street, Hammond, and Walter Pemble, 29 years old, 1800 Ann street, Whiting.

The complainant in the case is Nick Jankovich, who owns a flying field and three airplanes in Hammond. According to his story Pemble, who is a former transport pilot, and Field took the plane from his field last Sunday. They flew as far as Kankakee, where the machine crashed in a soy bean field.

Field and Pemble were traced to Chicago and arrested at 1034 West Monroe street by Sergt. Walter Fould of the Chicago police, and Charles Carlson, chief deputy sherif of Lake county.

Alterie was slain while leaving his apartment at the Eastwood Towers, 922 Eastwood avenue, on July 18.

Picture Reverse Side of Great Seal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—New one dollar silver certificates are being printed by the government and will be put into circulation soon, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced today.

The new money, which will differ from the existing paper certificates in design but not in size, is being prepared because the treasury has adopted a new method of printing on the bills the signatures of the secretary of the treasury and the treasurer of the United States. Instead of being engraved on the dies the signatures will be printed from steel engravings just before the bills are issued.

Pictures Great Seal.

Seizing upon this opportunity to change the design of the money, the treasury has placed on the back of the bill a reproduction of the great seal of the United States, picturing the reverse side of the seal for the first time in the history of American currency.

The front of the great seal is the familiar American eagle with a shield, grasping an olive branch in one talon and arrows in the other talon, surmounted by thirteen stars and the Latin motto, "E Pluribus Unum."

The reverse of the great seal, used for the first time on money, shows an unfinished pyramid, surmounted by an eye in a triangular glory. The pyramid bears in Roman numerals the year of the Declaration of Independence, 1776. Above the eye is the Latin motto "Annuit Cooptis," rendered as "He [God] was favorable to our undertakings." The motto at the bottom is "Novus Ordo Seclorum" and is translated as "A New Order of The Ages." The eye and triangular glory symbolize an all-seeing Deity.

Symbol of Strength.

The pyramid is the symbol of strength and its unfinished condition denotes the belief of the designers of the great seal that there was still work to be done. Both the mottoes on the reverse of the seal are condensations of excerpts from Virgil's Aoneid.

The first committee on the great seal was formed on the afternoon of July 4, 1776, and consisted of Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams. The great seal as finally adopted was largely the work of Charles Thomson, secretary of congress, and William Barton, a private citizen of Philadelphia. The design was officially adopted on June 20, 1782, by fundamental law. The great seal was again ratified after the constitution was adopted in 1789.

BILL FOR COINAGE OF PENNY FRACTIONS IS KILLED IN HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—With its chairman contending the Supreme court would not uphold the attorney general's contention that state coinage of subpenny sales tax pieces was illegal, the house coinage committee today killed the midget coin bill.

The committee voted 9 to 1 to table the legislation requested by the administration, for this session at least. Representative Compton I. White [Dem., Idaho] was the only member voting for the issuance of new and smaller change. Chairman Andrew L. Somers [Dem., N. Y.] voted with others against the administration proposal.

"In opposing the midget coin plan," Somers said, "we took the attitude that the question involved—the minting of a coin with which to pay sales taxes— is a state matter and should be solved by the states."

39 YEARS ON JOB; HARTS WILL FETE NURSE, 75 TODAY

All activity in the Highland Park home of Abraham S. Hart, vice president of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, will center today around the trim little figure of Anna Truetner, German nursemaid, who has been in the family for 39 years. Mr. Hart explained that today is Anna's 75th birthday and she will be fêted by the grandchildren, as well as the children of the late Mrs. Max Hart, who first employed her in 1896.

"Thirty years ago," recalled Mr. Hart, "I know from experience that Anna held the world's record for speedy removal of a slipper and its application where it would do the most good."

NEW YORK READY TO BORROW FOR POLLUTION WAR

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—New York City is ready to borrow $100,000,000 from the federal government to end the pollution of surrounding waters and make the beaches safe for bathers if New Jersey and Connecticut, now lagging in coöperation, take action in the same direction, Mayor La Guardia today told fifty members of the tri-state anti-pollution commission and health officials at city hall.

"New York," the mayor said, "is vitally concerned about the waters that surround the city. But we are at the mercy of New Jersey and Connecticut. Without 100 per cent cooperation from those two states it would be useless to spend $100,000,000 because it would accomplish nothing, as the waters from other states pour in here.

"The war on pollution has been going on for years. We have collected a great deal of information as to the number of microbes contained in a gallon of water. We have looked at the microbes and done everything but put diapers on them."

Signing of the tri-state anti-pollution treaty was delayed this year because the New Jersey legislature passed it with modifications which now must be ratified by New York and Connecticut.

MAYOR KELLY BANS PLACARDS ON TREES, POLES

Mayor Kelly yesterday ordered the police department to enforce ordinances against posting signs and placards on trees, poles, fences and vacant buildings. The instructions were issued to Police Commissioner James P. Allman after representatives of civic and women's organizations called on the mayor to ask that such action be taken.

William F. Stelzer, president of the Cook County Civic council and head of the delegation, told Mayor Kelly that indiscriminate posting of signs and bills throughout the city was depreciating property values in the areas affected.

COMES THE REVOLUTION—AND HOW.

II.—LONGER INTRODUCTION TO SINIBALDO.

When Europe of the middle ages experienced a revival of learning the churchly and secular scholars of the Italian universities began playing with an idea they said they found in the rediscovered Roman law. They called it the theory of corporations. A great lawyer who became pope breathed life into their doctrin by inventing the fictitious person. It was a political theory which soon was turned to impressive uses.

German princes in the empire, calling in Italian lawyers, found something they could use to explain themselves more satisfactorily. Instead of being feudal seigniories they were states. That was better and bigger. Centuries later a sun king in France, a great despot, summed it up in a simple phrase: "The state, it is I." He probably didn't know he was indebted to Sinibaldo de' Fieschi, who became Innocent IV. But why go back to Louis XIV.? Our own times have been fertile in bearing fruits of the idea and we begin to suspect that we do not have to go abroad for them.

We know that a corporation can turn into a state. As Americans we have the classic example of it. In the charter of the joint stock company of Massachusetts Bay, a corporation, an important provision was omitted. How it came about is not known. One of the promoters may have been farsighted and he may have whispered in the ear of the engrossing clerk or put something in his hand. The charter did not state where the directors should meet. The governor, vice governor, directors, and stockholders, with their charter, moved themselves and their offices to Massachusetts, there becoming the governor, lieutenant governor, assembly, court, and electors of the commonwealth of Massachusetts. It was done as easily as the transformation in Cinderella. The mice became the coach horses.

Can this go into reverse? Can the coach horses become mice? Hitler is the state, Mussolini is the state, Stalin is the state. Take the latter case. Can a state become a corporation? Stalin hasn't the consent of the governed. Kerensky might have assumed that right. Stalin hasn't hereditary right. That was the czar's foundation. Stalin inherited from force and holds by force. That is the reality. The form under him is that of the corporation. In structure the U. S. S. R. is about the thing John Winthrop and his associates moved from London to Boston.

The comrades were not concerned about their form. They cannot be imagined as worrying about the legalistic concepts or trying to find a philosophical doctrin of authority. They took what was best suited for the kind of control they intended to exercise, and, in general, it was the machinery of the corporation, with the Red army as the company police force to see that not even the directors disobeyed the front office.

When Mr. Roosevelt wanted to provide electrical gadgets for the people in the Tennessee hills, where American socialism is striding along, the TVA, a corporation which has been freed from many congressional restraints, formed another corporation, the Electric Home and Farm authority, with 10,000 shares of common stock. Mr. Roosevelt gave the corporation $1,000,000 for the purchase of the stock, held in the name of the incorporators, who are the TVA directors. The RFC, another corporation, gave the gadget corporation a credit of 10 million dollars, and when the TVA corporation has taken over the power business its subsidiary corporation will see that the socialized people have toasters, curling irons, and other appliances.

What looked good to the German princes in the middle ages looks good to American Rooseveltian socialism, which can't work with representative democracy and clumsy departments. How easily the curling iron corporation got 11 million dollars for the gadgets. The New Deal is trying to work with Sinibaldo de' Fieschi's persona ficta. Maybe a democratic republic could discover that it had turned out to be a communistic corporation. Who knows?

BROTHER BASIL AND BROTHER JOHN J.

Is it possible that we have been mistaken about Brother John J. of the New York O'Connors in Washington and his relations with Brother Basil? Brother John is so much in the news these days, as is also Brother Basil, that it is surely unnecessary to identify the one as chairman of the house rules committee investigating utility lobbies and the other as attorney for Mr. Hopson of the Associated Gas and Electric Utility system, who is on the spit.

The investigation grows louder, which is obviously a part of congressional strategy to drown out the cries of the injured and innocent investors, and funnier, which may or may not be within the purpose. Mr. Black of Alabama is chairman of the senate committee competing with Brother John's committee. Such is Mr. Black's temperament that anything under his direction may be expected to grow funnier as it proceeds, and with each opportunity he will also make it louder. To satisfy both Mr. Black and Brother John, Mr. Hopson would have to be twins. Mr. Black wanted him on his spit while Brother John's committee was slowly turning him to brown on both sides.

In an affair of this sort the congressional cooks do not mind it if the roast burns. In fact, they prefer it that way, as was indicated when Mr. Cox of Brother John's committee first insulted and then threatened to scar Mr. Hopson up and throw him out of the room. A congressional committee is always distinguished by the amenities it offers a fellow on the witness stand, and although Mr. Hopson may or may not get all that's coming to him, and may or may not be an enemy of the people, he is not being singled out for particularly rough treatment. Any citizen in the country would be bullied, browbeaten, and insulted if he were so unfortunate as to be called for testimony. It's a favorite Washington custom.

But to get to the point of doubt. Brother Basil does not seem to have been doing his client much good in spite of his connections with the White House and with Capitol Hill. However, it is to be noted that Brother John was keeping hold of Mr. Hopson while Mr. Black was threatening to take him really to pieces and scatter him all over the Hill. Query: Was it really Brother John's purpose to take Brother Basil's client into the woodshed and there beat up an old rug with resounding whacks while Mr. Hopson sat smiling on a soap box, emitting cries of great pain each time the stick fell? Such things have been known to happen when dad had to carry out a sentence on son and didn't want to.

If such possibly could have been the case, then we must observe Brother Basil and Brother John in the best of fraternal spirits.

MR. FARLEY REMEMBERS RHODE ISLAND.

The Republicans in Ohio are daring their Democratic governor to call a special election. Congressman Truax, a Democrat, died a few days ago. He was congressman at large. The election of his successor would constitute a state-wide referendum on the New Deal. Gov. Davey says there isn't going to be an election.

Gov. Davey is again on friendly terms with the administration in Washington. Last March Harry Hopkins, the relief boss, set up his own organization in Ohio because, he said, Gov. Davey had used some of the Hopkins easy money for corrupt political purposes. The governor replied by swearing out a warant charging Mr. Hopkins with criminal libel.

"Come to Ohio if you dare and show that you are a man," said the governor at that time. "Or turn and run like a coward and confess your contemptible character."

Mr. Hopkins finally went to Ohio a few weeks ago, but a day or so before he arrived Mr. Davey withdrew the warant. He did not throw his arms around Mr. Hopkins, but he did announce his unwavering support of President Roosevelt. Mr. Davey did not state what, if anything, Washington had given him to cool his anger, but perhaps Mr. Farley knows.

A special election will cost half a million dollars, and that is Mr. Davey's best excuse for opposing it. Still it seems probable that if Mr. Farley comes to the conclusion that the Democrats can win, Mr. Davey may change his mind. A victory in Ohio would be helpful in counteracting the effect of the Rhode Island returns.

The new federal district attorney in Chicago, Michael Igoe, has resigned his seat as congressman at large. There is another Illinois vacancy in the Twenty-third district. Both of these seats could be contested at special elections. If Mr. Farley thinks he can win them it seems likely that he will prevail upon Gov. Horner to call elections. Otherwise not. The nation thus has a convenient index to Mr. Farley's inside opinion of the popularity of the New Deal.

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE MORALS.

[St. Joseph, Mo., News-Press.]

The phrase "double standard of morals" has a meaning different from its original meaning as understood a generation or so ago. Under its later interpretation it relates to the apparent fact that governments may do things which, if done by an individual, would be highly reprehensible. Earlier in the week Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis handed down a decision in a case involving the AAA processing tax, in course of which he said:

"It is said that congress is about to pass a law, and that the President will approve it, whereunder the doors of the courts of justice will be closed to those whose money and property unlawfully have been taken. With humiliation it must be confessed that there is a basis for this apprehension. It is true that the sovereign may not be sued without the sovereign's consent, and while a just and righteous sovereign will never deny that right to its citizens, it is yet possible to do so. Shortly, no doubt, we shall know whether such a step is to be taken in this republic."

The reference here is to the AAA extension bill, a part of which forbids suits to recover processing taxes that have been paid, even though the tax be declared unconstitutional.

"The king can do no wrong," but even if he is wrong his subjects have no redress. Both congress and the President may refuse to be impeded by a mere moral obstacle, but if there is a legal obstacle the Supreme court can be counted on to come to the rescue, as it did in the gold clause cases when it repudiated repudiation!

The decision of Judge Otis is in line with this. After such rulings no one in public office should undertake to play fast and loose with the national honor. The courts thus help to free Americans from the sense of chagrin and shame.

A SOUR ANSWER.

"Well, my good fellow, this is a great university. It is known in every corner of the world. When you leave here you can be proud of your background. Think of it. You have had every advantage a young man could desire. Your four years have been spent in profitable pursuit of the greatest thoughts of the greatest minds the world has known. Now the time has come for you to choose a profession. The world is entitled to expect a lot from you. What are you going to turn your hand to?"

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

ROCKWELL'S MILL.

On a spot where nature in variant guise
Delights the heart and rests the eyes,
Where beauty sings sweetly to the soul,
And Cedar's whimsical waters roll,
Where wild flowers deck a rockbound hill,

There Capt. Rockwell's genial smile
Welcomed those who came the while,
Sated anglers, those with grain,
Or allure of the mill, with its refrain
Of guiltless labor, of its power and speed,
Seeming glad to perform a useful deed.

Bethesda's blessing sweet and cool
Filled the depths of the nearby swimming pool,
And in shady nooks and on moss grown stones
Cupid fashioned enchanting thrones
Where ofttimes the birth of Love found breath
That has endured change and time and death.

The mill and the miller both have gone;
Years have sped since the glamorous dawn
Of my youthful days, yet the old mill stream
Retains its lure and bestows a dream
Where the past returns, and I drink my fill

MUSIC FESTIVAL.

At last the Wake-Line has figured out a plan whereby we may attend the Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field tomorrow night. It had caused us no little concern. Because there is no Line in the Sunday papers, Saturday is our "day off."

We long have felt it a duty to improve the breed of thoroughbreds on Saturdays, yet the Music Festival begins shortly after 7 o'clock and we don't wish to miss that opening drum corps parade, which leaves little or no time for dinner if one stays for the eighth race at the track.

Now don't get us wrong. We profess no real appreciation of good or classical music, although we once did endure two years of season grand opera tickets under family suasion. But we always do like to attend the Soldiers' field event because we can understand drum corps, baton swinging, spirituals, fireworks, and community singing, at which we're a wow if properly stimulated.

It may look simple enough—just leave the races early. It has been our experience, however, that it's necessary to stay for the last race in the hope of getting "even." That would make us late to the Festival. So a bright thought struck us. Change our system. We now plan to be winner after the sixth race so we'll want to leave, then a little dinner at some restaurant along South Michigan, and prompt arrival at Soldiers' field in time for the opening parade. Strange it took so long to figure it out. See you at the Music Festival. We'll be the fellow lustily harmonizing in the community singing of "Sweet A-d-e-l-i-n-e."

LISTENING.

I think, sometimes, the nicest thing
In all the world is listening.

For me, it never could be spring
Unless I heard a robin sing,
And there's no lovelier refrain
Than the soft rhythm of summer rain.
I love to hear the wind in trees,
It seems a troubled heart to ease;
And in some dim wood, green and still,
To rest beside a quiet rill
And there to find in everything
Something divine—when listening. J. L.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

Dear Mr. Woodruff: This morning Mr. Blair, my employer, was at THE TRIBUNE office, Dearborn and Madison, and it was his intention to purchase 6 tickets for the football game of Aug. 29, but somehow he got tickets for that musical Saturday night.

All indeed might have been well, but what good would they be for six deaf mutes for which the football tickets were intended? It put him in a very embarrassing position, as he had already invited them to the football game.

I really don't know what can be done with these enclosed musical tickets, but if you can reserve six good seats for us he will be in the city again Friday of this week when he returns to work from his vacation.

In case you cannot place me, I am the deaf mute who used to work at Glennon & Kern's printing office 'Way Back When, and you came there to make up a trade publication. Thanking you for any help you can give in this mixup. E. W. Craig.

SUMMER DIARRHEA IN INFANTS.

DIARRHEA in babies, particularly in the summer time, is a symptom of grave importance. Of course, there are cases in which it may mean little, but ignoring the condition often spells disaster. In 1932, in twenty-six states, there were more than ten thousand infant deaths from diarrhea. In fact, available data indicate that summer diarrhea causes more deaths among children under the age of 2 than any other single condition.

We must not regard diarrhea as a disease, but its presence means that we are dealing with an infection—an acute inflammation that has attacked the mucous lining of the intestines and is causing frequent stools. The excretions sometimes contain blood and nearly always large quantities of mucus. The profuse discharges from the bowel mean that the patient is losing water to the point where the alkali reserve is depleted.

Once started, summer diarrhea is a difficult problem to manage, particularly in very young children. Heat favors the growth of bacteria in milk and, since milk constitutes the bulk of the baby's food, more bacteria may be unwittingly added to those already present in the intestinal tract. Hot, humid days tend not only to multiply bacteria but to decrease the resistance of these little patients and lower the normal secretion of digestive fluids.

Although there are several types of diarrhea, the so-called fermentative variety is the most common. Vomiting is a characteristic symptom and is usually followed by abdominal colic and distention as well as by an unusual amount of intestinal gas. Diarrhea rather promptly makes its appearance and there are symptoms of fever, irritability, restlessness, and prostration. The stools gradually increase in number and are largely fluid. The reaction of the excreted material is frequently acid, and the skin of the buttocks will show areas of reddening, irritation, and scalding. The principal danger lies in the fact that the diarrhea is robbing the body of water. Afflicted children lose weight rapidly and become desperately ill unless prompt measures are taken to supply the loss of water and salts.

Once the attack has occurred the intestinal tract must be emptied to rid it of offending material. If, however, diarrhea has swept the digestive tract clear, there is no advantage in giving laxatives. An effort should be made to maintain the normal amount of fluid. Regardless of vomiting continue to give as much fluid by mouth as possible. Occasionally washing the stomach and colon will be of value. Should fluid loss continue normal salt solution may be given under the skin.

The diet is extremely important and one plan advocates boiled skimmed milk in small quantities. If this is well digested the quantity is increased and fats are gradually added. Sometimes the intravenous injection of sodium bicarbonate is necessary to counteract acidosis.

Raw apple pulp in the treatment of diarrhea in children has recently been popularized by Heisler and Moro. Moro described the treatment of 52 patients ranging in age from 3 months to 10 years. He prescribed from fifteen to fifty ounces of grated raw apple each day for two days. One ripe mellow fruit was used. Under this plan several observers have reported that diarrhea is rather speedily relieved and abdominal pain and cramping disappear.

It is far more important to prevent "summer complaint" than to cure it and this means cleanliness not only of the child himself but of everything about him. Milk should be boiled unless it comes from a known pasteurized source and is fresh. Overeating, eating at irregular intervals, and the use of food of unknown origin such as may be handed around by the children of the neighborhood must be prohibited. Fruits are dangerous if they are overripe or have become infected by flies. Green apples are anathema.

FOILS WRITER'S CRAMP.

M. M. writes: Your article on writer's cramp was of great interest to me. I developed writer's cramp approximately 20 years ago. I have been employed in a small office for 27 years, using pen and hard pencil for special work. In January, 1925, I could use neither pen nor pencil. Since the fall of that year, without having had to change my occupation, I have been writing with my left hand equally as well as I ever did with the right, and the handwriting is identical. It is just a year since I have had no pain or ache whatever, and I am wondering if this will continue. Can you tell me more about it?

REPLY.

The chances are that you will continue to be well, and that the condition—whatever it was—that caused your trouble will not return. Your success in training your other hand has relieved the tension "cramps."

SEES FEARS GROUNDLESS.

E. T. A. writes: In your article on cancer you state that irritations, chemical and mechanical, anywhere in the body may accelerate the growth of cells, and if the irritation continues cancer may result. Every one knows the enormous amount of cooking done in aluminum ware, and any chemist or metallurgist will tell you of the extreme rate of chemical activity of aluminum, particularly when the chemicals of foods are combined with aluminum in boiling water. Many doctors and health authorities testify to the chemical activity of aluminum when further introduced into the human system. I am therefore firmly convinced that aluminum is a contributing cause of cancer, the danger of which should be carefully considered and studied.

REPLY.

I am frank to say that I believe there are no grounds for your statements, or those to which you refer. You could eat cooked foods out of aluminum dishes for a thousand years and never get enough aluminum to cause the slightest symptoms of poisoning.

ACT RAPIDLY; DEADLY.

F. S. writes: What is prussic acid? Is it a dangerous poison?

REPLY.

Prussic acid is known chemically as hydrocyanic acid. It is a rapidly acting poison and produces death by stopping [within a few seconds] oxidation processes in the tissues. It is rarely used in criminal poisoning because the odor is easily detected and will be present for a considerable time. Very tiny doses are sometimes used by physicians as a stimulant for the brain center that governs breathing.

OLD AGE PENSION.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can you tell me when and where I have to make application for the old age pension? F. P.

Gov. Horner has announced that he will submit the recently adopted old age pension law of this state to a special session of the legislature in September, so that the act may be remodeled to conform with the federal act which it is anticipated will have been passed by that time. The new act will presumably clear up several of the points that are raising questions under the present act.

Hence we suggest that old age pension questions be withheld until the general assembly has had an opportunity to enact a law on which the pension finally will be applied and paid. Even if no new legislation is adopted, no payments will be due under the present act before Jan. 1, 1936.

BELONGINGS HELD ILLEGALLY.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On June 16 I received a $10 order from the Illinois Emergency commission to rent a room. The landlord accepted it and was paid up to July 17. The afternoon of July 22 I was ordered out of the room by the landlord because neither I nor he had received an order in advance from the commission. The landlord is holding my clothes for the back rent, claiming that the relief or I owe him $4.50 for the four days. He says he will not give me my belongings unless it is paid. What can I do to regain my possessions? S. W.

Technically he has no legal right to hold your belongings without court proceedings, but as a practical matter it would cost you more to force matters than to pay up the small amount that you owe.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DANGEROUS BUILDING.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—[Friend of the People.]—A house in the 7200 block of St. Lawrence avenue is a disgrace to the neighborhood. The doors and windows are broken. The inside of the house is all broken up. I am afraid a fire may be started in it or that some one will be killed. L. S.

Our records indicate that owing to death of owner this matter was placed in the hands of the corporation counsel and through court action building was declared a public nuisance and was referred to the Illinois Emergency Relief for demolition.

Deputy, Acting for the Mayor, Department of Buildings.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

It is widely believed that certain persons [called "dowsers"] can locate water underground by carrying a forked stick of peach, cherry, apple or other wood in their hands. They claim that the stick suddenly turns in their hands when they walk over a vein of water. Scientific experiments have been made and it has been found that these "dowsers" passed right over water veins many times. In the Sahara desert the divining rod has failed to locate water, and in Germany a society was organized to study the divining rod and found it a hoax. Gen. Allenby's "water diviners" failed to locate water in Palestine, and an Australian engineer found abundant water at the depth of only 13 feet. Prof. D. W. Hering of New York university says that if the stick has any power it should work equally well with all people, and if it is the person rather than the stick then it is psychic, and so why use the stick?

PLEDGES.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—I was amused not only by Mr. Hoover's speech asking the President to state what he intends to do about the constitution but also about the favorable comments on this speech made by various prominent Republicans.

Suppose the President would comply with this request. I heard F. D. R. promise that if elected he would cut government expenses, balance the budget, and preserve the money standard, and, believing him sincere, I voted for him. However, what he did after election taught me and should have taught the whole nation that no reliance can be placed on any promises made by the present President.

WON'T BE FOOLED AGAIN.

CO-OPERATION, NORTH AND SOUTH.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Unfortunately since the war between the states a political barrier, defined as the Mason-Dixon line, has separated the Americans of the south from the Americans of the north, although their ideals, education, culture, and general background are identical. During the present crisis we are offered an opportunity for the first time of uniting these two factions into one great big powerful American group capable of resisting the encroachments of all subversive and un-American groups. The south has already made definite overtures toward such a unification. The spirit which Gen. Grant displayed with his gentlemen's agreement with Gen. Lee might well be employed today.

With the opportunity for unification before us today considerable surprise and indignation was expressed by many people over the smirking, self-satisfied attitude expressed in your cartoon of Aug. 10, "He May Come Around to It Yet." It will, in the opinion of many, take a dozen constructive editorials to repair the harm done by this cartoon.

If the south and the north are not united in an amicable and equitable manner at this time, God help America!

E. J. BRAND.

BRAZIL.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—I enjoyed very much Mr. McCutcheon's observations on his trip through South America and particularly through Brazil. He refers to the rich valley as supporting Brazil's claim as the "richest nation in the world." I wonder. I bought three $1,000 bonds of the government of Brazil. They are now quoted on the New York exchange at $19 per hundred. It is hard to reconcile the descriptive splendor of the country with the price of the bonds. Yes, I also have some bonds of that "magnificent city of Rio." They are quoted at $12.50 per $100. This is to recall that trite saying, "All that glitters is not gold." P. H. M.

NEW FACES.

Oxford, Ind., Aug. 12.—Your new "face" is indeed pleasing, but what America needs most is a new face on Capitol Hill. All together, let's go!

AN IMPROVEMENT.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Hooray for the improvement in print that our TRIBUNE has made. No one who has normal eyesight need wear glases to get the news now. It certainly is more restful to my eyes than the old was and being a daily and Sunday reader I am eager to say thank you! MRS. E. M. ALLEN.

WITHOUT ARTIFICIAL LIGHT.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—I take pleasure in expressing my appreciation of the new type you have adopted. I was able to read my morning paper comfortably yesterday without the aid of artificial light.

I have been a constant reader of THE TRIBUNE for a third of a century and a witness of its constant progress. To my mind this new, larger, and clearer type is by no means an unimportant step in that advance. H. A. SWIGERT.

CHANGING THE CONSTITUTION.

Independence, Ia., Aug. 11.—Who objects to changing the constitution? No one can object until some specific change is proposed. Let's change the constitution if and when we, the people, after calm and due consideration, think it ought to be changed, but for the sake of God's kingdom among free men let's not allow it to be changed by the President and a few of his brain trusters as and when they want to change it. For then and in that case we have no constitution and are under an oligarchical dictatorship. EDWIN DUKES.

MR. WALLACE'S SUCCESSOR.

Paris, Ill., Aug. 12.—The very interesting editorial on "A Republican President and Coalition Cabinet" omits an important name. The candidate should have on his coalition ticket (if it may so be called) for secretary of agriculture the name of Elizabeth Simmons, wife of George B. Simmons, Marshall, Mo. She has impressed me tremendously with her radio talks and articles.

WILLIAM L. SMITH.

QUESTION ABOUT TAXES.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—I recently have heard the question raised many times as to the extent to which United States government, state, county, and city employés are exempt from paying income taxes on their official salaries. Would you kindly enlighten your readers as to whether all such employés are exempt and also what action would be necessary to have such employés subject to the laws in the same manner as you and I? CHICAGO GROUP TO STUDY PARK NEAR NEW YORK

How Playland Is Run by Westchester County.

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Chicago Permanent Fair commission which is coming east in search of ideas for its model recreational park project, will find a field for study in Playland, a 214 acre amusement park, built and operated by Westchester county on Long Island sound just outside the village of Rye. The Chicagoans expect to visit this work.

Official champions of Playland believe it to be about the last word in permanent amusement parks in America. Whether it will meet the Chicago idea remains to be seen. Along its two miles of sandy ocean front, around its island-dotted lake—carved out of an ugly salt marsh—fronting its picturesque half mile Midway and under and about the stately trees that stretch a half mile back to one of the country's many beautiful parkways, are to be found the means for about every form of wholesome outdoor fun.

Play for Everybody.

There literally are acres of mechanical devices of sufficient variety and ingenuity to meet the taste of all from the very young to the very old—scenic railways, merry-go-rounds, a ferris wheel, chute-the-chutes, loop-the-loops, and a hundred other contraptions of varying degrees of dizziness and daffiness.

There is a "Kiddyland"—a sort of Playland in miniature—where mothers may check their babies by the hour or the afternoon in charge of trained, courteous attendants, conscious that there will be something to amuse the youngsters every minute.

There are free circus features along the brilliantly lighted Midway—only it's being called the "The Mall" now. There are rowboats, outboard motors, and launches to convey the more romantic or leisurely around the four miles of lake front; fishing facilities for the would-be Izaak Waltons; miniature speedboats for maritime enthusiasts in search of a little thrill of their own.

Food is provided at dozens of "spotless" eating and refreshment stands—one has a soda fountain 75 feet long, called "the longest in the world." There are miles of flower lined walks. For bathers there is one of the best equipped bathhouses on Long Island sound.

Costs About 14 Millions.

As it stands, the park represents an investment by the county of about $14,000,000 and was opened in 1928. On summer Sundays 50,000 to 75,000 merrymakers fill the park, which has parking space for 4,200 cars. The park has paid its way from the start. It has helped to provide funds for golf courses and other things under the park commission's jurisdiction.

Originally Rye beach, the present park tract, formerly was regarded as having an unfavorable effect on the millionaires' estates of Long Island sound. For some years before its acquisition by the county, Rye beach was divided between two rival amusement projects. There were ramshackle cottages and cheap hotels mixed helter skelter.

Following the county's purchase—mostly from individual owners—all such structures were razed. A marsh was converted into a lake, bays and harbors were made. The amusement section planned in accordance with an architectural design. The buildings had to harmonize. Landscape architects laid out walks and provided for flower beds and trees.

Sheltered Against Rain.

A board walk a mile long was laid down along the beach. A million and a half dollars was spent in park buildings—structures soothing to the eye and in keeping with the spirit of the enterprise.

The bath house has a swimming pool with filtered fresh water tested hourly for purity, there is an administration building, picturesque bus terminal. Shelter is provided along the Midway so visitors can go from one amusement building to another in all kinds of weather.

One of the most talked of structures in the park is the Music Tower, from which is broadcast a well selected music program carried to every part of the park by means of concealed amplifiers. The equipment of that structure alone represents an outlay of $150,000. Band concerts form an important feature of the broadcasts, but when there is no band or orchestra playing, the amplifying system may be hooked up to broadcast a radio program or an electric recording.

During Victor Herbert week recently there was an hour and a half of that popular composer's works.

Provides Picnic Grove.

Another feature much made of by the management is the picnic grove described in the park's literature as the "most modern" in America. That section of the park is wooded and is the size of about three city blocks.

There are fenced-off tracts that may be reserved by organizations for picnics as long as a year ahead. All spaces are equipped with picnic tables and running water and several of them have open fire places in which the fuel—like everything else is furnished free by the county.

There is a shelter or refuge in times of storm and a cafeteria for those who failed to bring along their own basket lunches. A hostess is in charge at all times.

The beach space in front of Picnic Grove is devoted to a wading pool—for the small children, who are watched by uniformed attendants. The park also has an athletic field with standard equipment.

Everything in the park is owned and operated by the county with the exception of the two big restaurants on either side of the "inland" swimming pool, a refreshment stand called "Frozen Custard," and the fishing concession where the concessionaire rents out his own boats, bait and equipment.

Cleanliness is a major item on the park program and it is the boast of the management that its beach is clean and free of litter after a Sunday crowd of 50,000.

Besides chartered steamers which feed merrymakers into the park from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, the park is reached by two nearby railroad lines and a variety of bus systems.

MAYOR OF MIAMI, PREDECESSOR, TOO, HIT BY INDICTMENTS

Miami, Fla., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Three members—a quorum—of the Miami city commission, with a former mayor and a real estate broker, were indicted today on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the city in a park site acquisition.

It was the second indictment within two days naming Mayor A. D. H. Fossey. That real estate broker, mayor since June, was charged yesterday with participating in a scheme to obtain city property by false pretenses.

Others named in today's conspiracy true bill were Commissioner E. G. Sewell, a former mayor; Commissioner Orville Rigby; C. H. Reeder, a former mayor, and Victor J. Tatham, real estate broker and tax certificate buyer.

Agrees to Cease Fining Drivers as 'Disorderly'

Police Magistrate Charles A. Braun of Dixmoor, promised the state's attorney's office yesterday that he would stop the practice of changing state trafic violations to charges of disorderly conduct so that he might enter fines against arrested motorists. Braun appeared at the state's attorney's office for questioning on complaints of motorists that they were fined $15 by this method. Under a new law police magistrates lack jurisdiction over state trafic offenses.

JUDGE CLEARED OF MISCONDUCT IN PATENT CASE

Alschuler Exonerated of Dirksen's Charge.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The house today unanimously approved a judiciary committee report recommending the dismissal of charges of misconduct brought against Judge Samuel Alschuler of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

JUDGE ALSCHULER.

The charges were brought four months ago by Representative Everett M. Dirksen [Rep., Ill.] in connection with a decision made in the case of the Marshall Electric company against the Pullman company, involving an infringement of patent rights.

Dirksen accused Judge Alschuler of deciding in favor of the Pullman company because one of their attorneys was Edward F. Dunne Jr., son of former Gov. Edward F. Dunne of Illinois, a close personal friend of Judge Alschuler.

No Basis for Charge.

After a thorough investigation, the judiciary committee declared there was absolutely no basis for the charges.

"The charges were absurd," Representative Ralph E. Church [Rep., Ill.] told the house. "I believe my colleague acted without full knowledge of the facts. I cannot but feel that he was deliberately misinformed by some one and unknowingly made a tool for the revenging of some one's grievance.

"It is a dangerously bold assumption to say that because two fine, outstanding men are friends, a judge with a splendid record of fairness, honesty and impartiality, would be influenced in a decision by the presence of the son of a friend in a case.

Three Men on Bench.

"I do not believe my friend knew that on the Circuit Court of Appeals there is more than one judge. The opinion in the case in question was not the opinion of Judge Alschuler but the unanimous opinion of Circuit Judges Alschuler, William M. Sparks, and Louis Fitzhenry.

"It grieves me as a Republican representative from Illinois to see as fine a Democrat and as able a judge as Samuel Alschuler made the victim of an ill-founded, unwaranted attack, simply because he happened to be a friend of ex-Gov. Dunne."

BASIL BLACKETT, BRITISH FINANCE EXPERT, KILLED

GIESSEN, Germany, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Sir Basil Phillott Blackett, 53, British financial exper and a director of the Bank of England, died today a few hours after a train struck the rear of his automobile. His companion, Fraulein Kathrina Eisentraeger, 60, a school teacher and an old friend, was seriously injured. Blackett's body will be taken to England tomorrow.

SIR BASIL BLACKETT.

Sir Basil was considerad a world authority on economic matters. During the world war he went to the United States on special economic missions and assisted Washington in organizing its war savings machinery. In October, 1915, he was a member of the Anglo-French financial mission which raised a $500,000,000 loan in the United States.

From 1917 to 1919 Blackett was the representative of the British treasury in the United States. In 1920 he married Miss Beatrice Bonner, the daughter of the late Edward H. Bonner of New York. Sir Basil three years ago wrote the book "Planned Money," in which he suggested a new monetary system which he labeled "Sterlingaria."

U. S. REDS PLAN NEW COALITION TO FIGHT FASCISM

Scheme Told Moscow by Secretary of Party.

MOSCOW, Aug. 15.—(AP)—America was pictured as moving toward Fascism today by speakers of the communist internationale.

One of them, Earl Browder, general secretary of the party in the United States, said communists planned an anti-Fascist coalition "to protect the American toiling masses from becoming victims of terror and atrocities such as have been visited upon the Germans."

"Since the illusions of the New Deal have been dispelled, the time has become ripe for a united front movement," he asserted.

Reports Break from Big Parties.

Browder said "millions" of Americans began to break away from the leading political parties after the last congressional elections.

Georgi Dimitroff, the Bulgarian who was a defendant in Germany's reichstag arson trial, said the New Deal and the program of opposition leaders in the United States tended toward Fascism.

"The reactionary American financial circles which are attacking Roosevelt are the organizers of the Fascist movement in the United States," Dimitroff asserted, "and the New Deal itself is a form of development toward Fascism more marked even than the nationalist government in England."

Predicts New War.

Other speakers criticized the policies of Senator Huey P. Long, Father Coughlin, and Dr. Francis E. Townsend.

M. Ercole of Italy, who made the official report to the congress on "preparations for new imperialistic wars," said the eve of a new world war is at hand and urged a fight against Fascism and militarism.

He said Washington foresees the coming of war and "is playing for time to strengthen its position." Ercole attacked Germany, said Japan is preparing for a war against soviet Russia, and accused British "imperialists" of instigating wars in Europe and the far east.

FORECASTS NEW RED OUTBREAK ON U. OF C. CAMPUS

A prediction that "radicalism will break wide open again" at the University of Chicago this fall was made yesterday by Nelson E. Hewitt, executive director of Advisory Associates, in an address before the Paul Reveres at the La Salle hotel. His subject was "The inside dope on the whitewash given the Midway campus" in the recent senatorial investigation of alleged radical teachings there.

Mr. Hewitt is the author of a booklet, "How Red Is the University of Chicago," and is a student of radical and subversive influences. He also is publisher of a weekly pamphlet "The Advisor," which deals with communistic trends in the United States.

"The only thing that has been done at the University of Chicago since the legislative investigation of radicalism there was to have one professor remove his roomful of soviet trophies from his quarters," said Hewitt.

He criticized State Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Evanston] for his attitude in the investigation, which ended with a majority report generally clearing the university of all charges.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Amateurs rule the August airwaves—with the aid of Amos 'n' Andy, baseball announcers, and dance orchestras—while most of the "million dollar" names of radio amuse themselves in far corners of the land, or world, pending the opening of sponsor's purse strings next month. And vacation to many of them is a paying proposition.

Jane Froman and Don Ameche are just vacationing in Hollywood, and Al Jolson, Dick Powell, and Ruth Etting are at work both in radio and pictures. Bing Crosby, a regular resident, is following the nags at Saratoga, as is Ben Bernie.

Another radio contingent is in Europe. Ireene Wicker, the Singing Lady, and Beatrice Lillie are in London. The Boswell sisters and the Mills brothers also are touring the British Isles. Grace Moore soon will be leaving her villa on the Riviera to return to America.

Myrt and Marge and Gene and Charlie Kretzinger are in Hawaii following a summer of vaudeville touring. Bob Brown, who works with them, is on his way back from Honolulu.

Clara, Lu, and Em are off the air now, but making no extensive trips.

Ed Wynn is spending the summer with his son, Keenan, who is playing with stock companies in barns and little theaters. Tony Wons is fishing at Eagle River. Alice Hill is visiting her brother at West Point. Milton Charles, the organist, headed for Nova Scotia last week. Gertrude Niesen is singing at the St. Louis outdoor opera.

But before September is scratched off the calendar all these and many others are likely to be back behind the microphone.

Seymour Simons orchestra, with Mary Jane Walsh as soloist, will open at the Continental room of the Stevens hotel with a CBS wire tonight. . . . Vincent Lopez' orchestra is to start an engagement at the Palace theater today. . . . Frank Mastro's Radio Roundup will be heard on WEDC at 2 a. m. tomorrow night [actually Sunday morning] instead of 2:30 as heretofore. Mastro takes the spot formerly occupied by Judge John H. Lyle who moves to 1 a. m.

Bob Becker, TRIBUNE outdoor editor, will be interviewed by Helen Stevens Fisher on his South American adventures and also a fishing story during the the National Farm and Home hour, outletting through WCFL locally, at 12:30 today. One Eye Connolly has given notice that he intends to crash this program next Tuesday.

Mr. Schmidt was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1865, on the day that President Lincoln was assassinated. His trip from Europe consumed three full months and his journey from New York to Chicago in those early days took nearly two months more.

For 55 years Mr. Schmidt voted from the same address, the same house, and in the same ward and precinct.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Noon today probably will see completion of the nine point plan for reunion of the Methodist Protestant, Methodist Episcopal, and Southern Methodist Episcopal churches, according to Dr. H. E. Woolever of Washington, D. C. The joint commission of the three churches has been in session most of the week at the North Shore hotel and the First Methodist Episcopal church, Evanston.

Completion of the plan represents many years of work on intricate problems of ecclesiastical and institutional relationships of the churches, which have been separated into two denominations for 117 years and into three branches for 91 years.

Negro Problem Solved.

The problem of the Methodist Negro occupied principal attention yesterday, but according to Dr. Woolever that part of the new plan now is virtually complete.

The name of the reunited church was reconsidered yesterday. Dr. Woolever stated that the simplest of all names considered has been adopted, namely, the Methodist church. An earlier name favored was the United Methodist church. The adjective Episcopal was dropped from the title, according to Dr. Woolever, not so much because of any opposition to the bishops the word implies, but in order to be prepared in the future to discuss union with churches which have no bishops.

Other Mergers Considered.

Commissions of the Methodist Episcopal, Protestant Episcopal, and Presbyterian churches have been at work for a number of years looking toward possible union.

The Methodist reunion cannot be effected before 1940. Dr. Woolever stated that attention was given last night to the call of a special uniting general conference, to be held directly after the three churches have voted approval of the merger.

MARK 123D YEAR SINCE MASSACRE AT FT. DEARBORN

Fort Dearborn day, marking the 123d anniversary of the Fort Dearborn massacre, was observed officially in Chicago yesterday by two commemorative ceremonies.

The first ceremony was held at 11:45 a. m. at Michigan avenue and Wacker drive, the site of the old fort. Mayor Kelly opened the program and Barnet Hodes, city corporation counsel, spoke on the events of 1812 which led up to the fateful massacre. A child from St. Vincent's orphanage then placed a wreath below the commemorative plaque at the southwest corner of the Michigan avenue bridge.

A second ceremony, sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce, as was the first ceremony, was held later at 18th street and Prairie avenue, at the spot where the Indians in ambush attacked the fleeing settlers and garrison. A wreath was placed on a tablet marking the scene of the massacre.

Boy Scout Troop Departs on Trip Around the Lake

As a reward for their successful efforts in obtaining first class rating, 26 members of Troop 39 of the Boy Scouts of America left Chicago yesterday by truck for a 16 day 1,000 mile camping trip around Lake Michigan. The boys are the guests of Advertising Men's post of the American Legion, which "adopted" the organization six months ago as a part of its Americanization program. The troop six months ago had a membership of 17 boys from the Eckhart park district at Chicago avenue and Noble street. Under the direction of Charles M. Sloan of Advertising Men's post, the troop increased its membership to 37.

Dostal is merchandise manager for the northwestern district of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, 20 North Wacker drive. Frederick F. Kinsey is division manager of the Westinghouse Lamp company of the same address.

Yesterday's TRIBUNE stated that 45 men and 20 women were arrested Wednesday in a handbook raid at 3403 Fullerton avenue, the address given by police. The address was 3403 Diversey boulevard.

FIREMAN DIES AS SPECIAL RUSHES HIM TO HOSPITAL

Carl Beck, 45 years old, fireman on a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific freight train, collapsed as the train drew into Bensenville at the end of its run early yesterday. He died of a ruptured stomach ulcer while being rushed to the Washington Boulevard hospital here on a special train composed of engine and caboose.

Beck lived in Milwaukee. With Engineer John Dougherty at the throttle, his 55 car train pulled out from Milwaukee at 2 a. m., bound for the Bensenville freight yards. A doctor summoned to attend Beck in Bensenville said he must be taken to a hospital at once. The yard trafic manager authorized an emergency run to the Western avenue station of the line and a switching engine and caboose were hastily connected. An ambulance was waiting to rush Beck to the hospital, but he was dead when the train arrived.

Frank Mayo, in Comeback, Injured in First Picture

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 15.—(AP)—For several years Frank Mayo, forced from the top ranks of screen players with the advent of the talking picture, has vainly sought an opportunity to get back in the films. He was successful today—but it ended in his being taken to a hospital with a possible skull fracture. He was at the controls of a make-believe dirigible which was struck by a steel girder as it fell.

BOY FOUND ON DESERT RECOVERS.

Brawley, Cal., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Found unconscious on the desert near Flowing Wells Monday, Russell West, 16, of 753 Ocean Way, Danville, Ill., was sufficiently recovered to leave the county hospital today. He said he expected to resume his hike toward home.

Caddy Dies After Being Hit by Driven Golf Ball

Anthony Rzepa, 14 years old, 14445 Campbell avenue, Posen, died in the Burnside hospital yesterday of an injury to his head incurred last Monday when he was hit by a golf ball in a caddies' match tournament at the Southmoor Country club. The Rzepa boy was knocked unconscious by a ball driven by Alex Kogut, 12115 South State street, another caddy at the club, but was revived. He lapsed into unconsciousness again, however, and he was taken to the hospital, where he died.

CANADA SHIVERS IN WINTRY BLAST; MERCURY AT 22°

The weather man forecast continued cool weather and added that the chilly blasts probably would move eastward, relieving a heat wave over Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

After five days of widespread storms that left four dead in their wake, temperatures last night fell sharply over most of the foothill provinces. The fatalities were caused by lightning.

Hundreds of bicycles, automobile tires, trunks and handbags, radios, articles of jewelry and a score of other items, taken from burglars and robbers and which never had been reclaimed by the owners, went under the hammer of Al Crowley, police auctioneer, at 2200 Cottage Grove avenue yesterday. You Get Youth and Swank in CollegeClothes Outfits Also Suitable for Business Wear.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

There's a new collection of young clothes for young shoppers, designed by a young designer, that is well worth the excitement and fanfare it is getting. Snappy, fresh looking stuff that can go into college-bound baggage, or stay at home, or be added to discriminating young business women's wardrobes. Slim, thin wool dresses for daytime, in grand new fall colors of wine reds and bronze greens and the inevitable blacks. Clothes with a decided "accent on youth" silhouettes.

For instance, one with a wide circular skirt and a fitted top, another with black galyak fur trimming, even to the tiny fur covered buttons that hold a cleverly concealed inverted plait in place in the sleeves. Another twosome has a plaited all the way around skirt of black wool and a dashing scarlet velvet blouse top.

The dinner and dance clothes are simply breath-taking. One, called merry-go-round, has a swirling skirt, long to the ankles, with huge puffed sleeves. Bright colored braid trimming goes around the sleeves and the youthful bodice top which inspires the name. Another has long, full, shirred sleeves of shell pink chiffon and a blouse top of the same chiffon attached to a properly-slinky black skirt that is long.

Another black beauty looks like some of the very feminine creations worn by the languishing ladies in the color film "Becky Sharp." The dress is of black, with the very cut out top outlined with the candy pink and white striped satin of the long-sleeved short jacket. The stripes are horizontal in the ruffled body of the very short jacket and gathered into a yoke. Of course it takes a slim young figure to get away with the model, but it's a knockout on the right girl.

The fashion photograph illustrates a much more sophisticated and more expensive ensemble—a civet cat short swagger fur coat, worn over an American beauty wool dress. The coat is completely reversible, lined with black wool so that the turn-back cuffs and roll collar show the wool for contrast against the black and white fur. The dress has full gathered sleeves and a rippled jabot front neckline. Available in a Chicago shop.

Stunning Ensemble for Fall

From a Chicago collection of new fall ensembles. This stunning costume features an American beauty red wool dress made with full gathered long sleeves, a rippled jabot in front and a wide belt with huge metal buckle. The short swagger fur coat is of civet cat lined with dull black wool. It can be worn reversed with the fur contrasting the wool in the turn-back collar and cuffs.

Miss Damita Denies Break with Flynn

Gary Cooper's Hair Is Long for His Vacation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Gossips are already after Lily Damita and Errol Flynn. They're virtually newlyweds, but, nevertheless, rumors have started that they have split. Miss Damita and Flynn are at a loss to understand what caused the rumors and join in voicing a vehement denial. They are working at present on adjoining stages at the Warner studio.

Two hours after Gary Cooper finished the last scene in "Peter Ibbetson" at Paramount he joined his wife and boarded an airliner for a vacation in New York. He was still equipped with archaic sideburns and long hair which he grew for the role. Today Henry Hathaway, who directed the picture, received a frantic wire from Cooper who wanted to know when he would get permission to get a hair cut as New Yorkers were commencing to look upon him as a freak whenever he put in a public appearance.

Hathaway wired back for Gary to be patient for a few days, until the picture is finally cut as there is a possibility he may be ordered back for added scenes or retakes.

About the strangest gift on record came to John Wood, Australian actor, from Sydney. It was an ostrich egg said by the senders to be the largest ever found. On the egg were the signatures of 900 members of the John Wood Fan club of Sydney. They left a space for Wood to place his autograph and he shipped it back to his home city, heavily insured, where it will be placed on exhibition in a museum. Wood was brought here by RKO to play Flavius in "The Three Musketeers."

A temperamental horn on her automobile placed Gail Patrick in an embarrassing spot on her way home from work at Paramount studio in "Gettin' Smart." A short circuit caused the horn to toot every time she turned the wheels to the left. A man in a car passed her, honked and slowed down. When she turned out to pass him her horn sounded. The man beamed and Miss Patrick's face turned a violent red for she realized he thought she was flirting. The third time this happened Gail turned off the main highway and drove home over less frequented streets. Then she summoned a mechanic forthwith.

If ever there was a person in films entitled to an assistant it is Fred Kohler—and he has one. Kohler is playing a one-armed rough and tumble character called Shanghai Duck in "The Frisco Kid." He wears an iron hook on his arm, giving it the appearance of the stump. Kohler wears a lether sheaf over his doubled fist with the hook in it and the harness laces up to his elbow. The contraption impedes circulation in his arm. Between every scene his assistant unlaces the prop and massages Fred's arm to keep him out of misery.

Wilder Ripley Is Engaged to Eastern Girl

Romance Got a Start on World Cruise.

BY JUDITH CASS.

A WORLD cruise a year ago has a pleasant aftermath this morning in the announcement Mrs. Charles T. Brown is relaying from her home, the Lindens, in Moorestown, N. J. Mrs. Brown is making known the engagement of her daughter, Helen Sullivan Brown, to Wilder Harding Ripley, son of Mrs. Robert H. Ripley of Winnetka.

Young Mr. Ripley and Miss Brown were passengers on the Empress of Britain when it left New York a year ago last January for a leisurely four months on the high seas and in far away ports. On shipboard the romance developed and it has continued the last year while Mr. Ripley has been working in New York City.

Miss Brown prepared at the Shipley school and then was graduated from Sarah Lawrence college. She met a number of Mr. Ripley's Chicago and north shore friends a month ago when she came here with Mr. Ripley to be the house guest of the senior Mrs. Ripley. Since then Mrs. Ripley has gone out to Buffalo, Wyo., for a vacation on the HF Bar ranch.

Although Mr. Ripley has not spent a great deal of time in Chicago of recent years, he always receives an enthusiastic welcome upon his return. He attended the Hill school and then was graduated from Duke university at Durham, N. C.

Mr. Ripley and Miss Brown plan to be married on Oct. 5 in Moorestown.

Mr. Ripley's brother is R. Hampton Ripley who married Janet Kirk in an autumn wedding in 1932. His sister is Mrs. Beatrice Ripley Baker. This summer the Hampton Ripleys are having the fun of modernizing the old home the senior Mrs. Ripley deserted when she built her new place in Winnetka's Indian Hill section.

Garden Club Show at Lake Geneva.

Horticultural hall at Lake Geneva will be a kaleidoscope of floral variety this morning with everything in readiness for the opening of the annual midsummer show of the Lake Geneva Garden club. Among those who worked most of yesterday to arrange the exhibits, the opinion is that the show never has had an equal for interest and beauty.

Many of the entries come from the estates that surround the lake and they are among the finest in this part of the country, but the abundant spring rain has helped to make the flowers grown out of doors larger and lovelier than ever. The show is not all flowers for there are many entries of fruits and vegetables that the Lake Geneva garde-

Sally's Guests Enjoy Play by Child Actors

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Up the elevator and through the white arched doorway of the Jack and Jill theater, into the land of make-believe and happy endings! This journey was taken by one hundred happy boys and girls yesterday afternoon. They had each won an invitation to our party and assembled to watch the presentation of a special entertainment by a group of talented youngsters just about their own ages.

"Water Babies" as adapted by Miss Alice Gerstenberg and presented by the Jack and Jill players under the direction of Marie Agnes Foley, is completely entrancing. The studio itself is a charming little theater decorated in pale green and thoroughly equipped with footlights, spotlights, and chairs that are just the right sizes for small visitors.

Each child was presented with a handsome program containing a complete cast, all the way from Charles Kingsley himself to Mrs. Doasyouwouldbedoneby. Then the lights were dimmed, the curtains parted and we were all engrossed in the adventures of little Tom, the chimney sweep. He was a cute youngster and certainly had a lot of trials and tribulations, but after three acts and seven scenes he finally was transformed into a happy little boy.

Miss Foley greeted us personally and then all players in the cast came out from backstage and shared our individual boxes of candy.

ROHR, Germany.—The treasure of this out-of-the-way village of Rohr, a mere huddle of peasant houses some thirty-five miles southwest of Ratisbon, is an old abbey church, built in the baroque style by Egid Asam. Enthusiasm for the work of these two masters of the baroque, the Asam brothers, led us to seek this church, and in trying to take a short cut over an unmapped road we were lost for a time in a dense Bavarian forest. The light barely filtered through the dense green; the air was pungent with the smell of pine, and it was like the forest of a German fairy tale. The road became a mere wagon path and wound through the trees, crossed by many similar paths, obviously logging roads. At one spot there was a clearing with fallen trees already stripped of their bark. But the wood choppers had gone home, as evening was falling. Finally the road grew lighter; we emerged from the forest and found a peasant man and woman working in their field of whom to ask the direction to Rohr.

IT was sunset, but there was enough light left for us to see the beauties of the church when finally we drove through the narrow street of the village, slowing up that geese might waddle from the road. The squalid surroundings—for Rohr is not one of Bavaria's most charming villages—did not prepare one for the splendor of the church interior. It was a symphony in browns, whites, and pinks, with garlanded women and stucco cherubs smiling from puffs of clouds. The high altar is considered one of the finest baroque sculptures in Germany. The description of it that Henry Channon gives in his book, "The Ludwigs of Bavaria," is an amusing one:

"There is the usual yellow window half hidden by an angel filled stuccoed Paradise from which falls a great gold coronet crowning the Assumption. The Virgin, in gold and blue brocade, is being borne by two angels to heaven. The group is miraculously suspended in mid-air. Behind the Virgin is a rippling curtain of green plaster; below her opened tomb and about it nine apostles stand amazed, speechless before the miracle. The tomb is empty, the lid lies at the side where it has carelessly fallen, the winding sheet is thrown carelessly over the edge, and the Virgin, dressed for a supper party at the Nymphenburg, ascends in astonishment to Paradise. Some of the apostles have thrown up their hands in astonishment; one holds a long candle in one hand and in the other a gold rose dropped by the Virgin. They are gesticulating like French deputies. The excitement is immense. One is impelled to rush to the gallery to applaud her arrival."

WE left the rich and beautiful church and went out into the cobbled street where hens and geese straggled and belated field workers were coming in to their suppers. Our own evening meal would be in Munich, some two hours ahead.

Streets Bloom at South Bend Flower Show

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Downtown districts of South Bend were being adorned with thousands of gladiolus blooms today in final preparation for the three day American gladiolus convention and Indiana Gladiolus society exhibition to start here tomorrow.

Forty-five floats adorned with blossoms from a dozen states will form a parade at 12:45 p. m. tomorrow at the Oliver plant, and led by the United States Army Second Infantry band, will march through the downtown district. The parade is scheduled to reach the downtown sections by 1:30.

The leading float will be an elaborate display by the Fraternal Order of Police, while at the end of the procession will be the float carrying the princess of the exhibition, Miss Joan Getzinger, and her blossom court.

Another feature of tomorrow's program will be the garden tours which will be conducted under the auspices of members of the South Bend Progress club. These tours will be routed to outstanding gardens in South Bend and community. At the Jefferson plaza outstanding collections of gladiolus from all parts of the nation are to be exhibited. Among these are to be several new varieties which never before have been shown. Ralph Pease, Chardon, O., champion amateur gladiolus grower of the country, is to display blooms which it is claimed, will exceed any such bloom ever exhibited.

PRICES OF BEEF AND PORK HIGH; LAMB A BARGAIN

Lettuce and Apples Lower for Week-End.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Extra change will be needed in the pocketbooks of meat buyers for homes, hotels, restaurants, and clubs when they go shopping today and tomorrow in Chicago and surrounding suburbs. Warning came from the stockyards yesterday that consumers may expect beef, pork, and lamb to go even higher during the next few weeks. Corn, the main feed used in fattening cattle, is still in the fields, and market experts point out that it will take several weeks to transform the new crop into beef, pork, and lamb.

Cattle, hogs, and sheep all have climbed higher after registering an increase last week over the week before. A boost in prices also appears in the wholesale dressed meat market.

Shops Follow Wholesale Trend.

In most retail butcher shops throughout the Chicago area prices of the main cuts of beef and pork have been boosted in line with advances of live animals and dressed meats.

Several cents a pound have been tacked onto the retail price tags of pork loins this week compared with last. In fact most pork cuts were included in the biggest advances which occurred on fresh meats in many retail shops. Practically all of the main cuts of beef, including steaks and roasts, will be found higher today and tomorrow than they were a week ago.

Most butchers have turned to lamb cuts for their bargain counter displays this week-end. Many shops have reduced lamb cuts several cents a pound. Some stores have made slight reductions in fresh shoulders of pork for roasting and small cured hams.

Fat Cattle Prices Rise.

Explaining why fresh meats generally are expected to go higher in line with this week's advances in live animals, dealers cited federal reports that fat cattle which produce the choice and good cuts are 25 to 75 cents a hundred pounds higher than a week ago. In the wholesale beef market good to choice carcasses are up 50 cents a hundred pounds over last week. John Campbell, federal reporter, indicated yesterday that he expected beef to go even higher.

Mr. Campbell also reports officially that hogs are 25 to 40 cents higher than this time last week. Pork loins are up from $2 to $2.50 a hundredweight. Shoulders and butts were advanced $1 to $2 a hundred pounds. Fat lambs are reported "strong to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher," and lamb carcasses up from 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds.

Low grades of flour are selling at 4 cents a 24½ pound sack above last week and the higher priced brands have been advanced in some stores.

Eggs Continue to Rise.

Eggs continued their upward trend begun two weeks ago. Cabbage is up from last week, but still is considered unusually low. Heavy wholesale supplies of this product, coming chiefly from local gardens, are expected to hold prices down for some time. Lard is up in most stores.

Head lettuce, eating apples, cantaloupes, and roasting ears are the chief items on the green grocers' counters that have been marked down in price since last week. Prices of cucumbers, carrots, onions, celery, and fresh tomatoes are considered reasonable. But few berries remain on the market. Most of the offerings are of poor quality. The first of the season's Illinois grown eggplant reached the Chicago markets this week. The quality is good, but prices are considered high.

FULLY RIPENED PEACHES BEST FOR CANNING

When peaches are in their prime condition to eat out of the hand they are best for canning, according to advice from the Purdue university home economics extension division.

All fruit should be well ripened before it is canned. Unripe fruit is low in quality, the texture hard, and the natural flavor and aroma have not developed. All soft or stale fruit should be discarded. The soft ones will make good butter. Stale fruits are seldom, if ever, used profitably.

Peaches that have been fully ripened on the tree are much better than fruit that has been picked when green. Peaches that have fully ripened on the tree have one-fifth more sugar content than those picked when green and allowed to ripen.

BEEF SALAD.

1 cup cold beef, diced
1 small cucumber, diced
½ teaspoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon capers [optional]
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 sprigs mint, minced [optional]
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
French dressing

Toss together all the ingredients, using enough French dressing to blend. Just the slightest suspicion of garlic in the French dressing gives a still more pleasant tang.

FARMERS SEIZE MARSHALS AND HALT U. S. SALE

Plattsburg, Mo., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A thousand irate farmers, uttering threats, tearing clothes, and swinging fists, surrounded United States Marshal Henry Dillingham and three aids today on the courthouse lawn and forcibly prevented the foreclosure sale of a farm.

"It was awful," Dillingham said later in describing how the farmers circled him and kept him prisoner from 1:30 to 5 p. m.

The crowd tore the trousers of George Colbern, a Federal court bailif, snatched his pistol from him and beat him with fists. They also grabbed the pistol of E. E. Fisher, another bailif.

Some of the throng cut a tire on the marshal's car, let out the air and removed the carburetor. Dillingham related later at his home in Platte City.

REFRIGERATOR AIDS CAUSE OF SUMMER COOKIE

Ice Box Dainties Are Made in Jiffy.

"Let's Have a Picnic," a booklet of picnic plans and recipes, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Crisp, crunchy cookies are on the preferred list of our summer desserts. How about yours? We like them because, after the initial mixing and baking period, which needn't be long or troublesome, they always are ready. Served with iced drinks, fresh fruits, or frozen desserts, they serve to climax many of the jiffy meals we all are likely to choose on these warm evenings.

If you're gathering together your choice cookie recipes for summer, be sure to star those which ask no intricate mixing, rolling, or long baking. And, choose those which keep well in warm weather. All of which probably means just this to you—ice box cookies! They may be mixed in fairly large batches and kept for a week or more, carefully chilled as you bake a fresh panful according to your needs.

This type of cookie depends upon its shortening, to provide the necessary liquid and crispness, rather than an appreciable amount of milk or water. When the fat melts in the hot oven the cookies spread a little and brown quickly. These rich crunchies, having no additional liquid, are not rolled and cut, but are shaped into a roll in waxed paper, chilled to harden the fat, and then sliced for baking. Also, because of their high fat content, it isn't necessary to oil a baking pan for them.

The same dough may be treated in another way, if you prefer. The chilling period may be shortened to just a few minutes and the dough rolled in tiny balls in the hand. These small balls, placed on the baking sheet, are flattened crosswise with the tines of a fork, with the resulting grooves left to serve as decoration. They're baked in the same way, and they have the advantage of needing no overnight preparation.

A word, too, about the storing of such cookies. Some circulation of air must be provided in their box or jar, or they become moist and limp. On the other hand, if you choose to bake a softer type of cookie, a covered jar or a wrapping of waxed paper should be provided to keep in the necessary moisture.

As supplies for the summer cookie jar, we've these two excellent recipes to suggest.

Orange Pecan Ice Box Cookies.

1 cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup white sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2¾ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ cup pecan meats

Cream the fat until soft, add the sugar, the beaten egg, orange juice, and grated rind. Beat until smooth, and stir in the sifted flour and soda. Add the nuts, shape into rolls about 2 inches across, and wrap in waxed paper. Chill overnight, and bake, in thin slices, for 10 to 12 minutes in a 350 degree F. oven.

Peanut Butter Crunchies.

½ cup peanut butter
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup white sugar
¼ cup butter
1 egg
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup flour [unsifted]

Cream the sugar, peanut butter, and butter together. Mix with the unbeaten egg, sifted flour and soda, and blend well. Shape into small balls [about a teaspoon of dough each] on an ungreased baking sheet, and press down firmly with the tines of a fork. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 10 minutes.

2 LARGE GLASSES A DAY FOR VIGOROUS HEALTH

The Husband Snatcher

By Elizabeth York Miller.

SYNOPSIS.

Nancy and Dick Heritage have been married for two years and are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by Edith Heritage, her mother-in-law, she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. There is a gap of four years in Nancy's life which she had not satisfactorily accounted for. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy had been committed for four years. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Miss Satchell believed in Nancy's innocence. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn that Nancy is expecting a baby. Edith Heritage invites a friend, Mrs. Lane, and her daughter, Sylvia, for tea. Nancy pleads a dentist's appointment. The Lanes arrive just as Dick comes home. They are startled when they see Nancy's photograph, but Sylvia, who is interested in Dick, explains that Nancy had lived with them, and they'd had a misunderstanding, but bygones were bygones. Nancy returns home after the Lanes had left and has a quarrel with Mrs. Heritage, who threatens to leave, until Nancy apologizes. That evening Dick disappears. He returns later intoxicated. A taxi driver calls the next morning to collect fare for two girls and two men. That afternoon Sylvia Lane calls on Dick at the architect's office where he is employed.

INSTALMENT XVII.

SYLVIA'S GAME.

Sylvia was all chic impudence, sparkling at Dick with the brilliance of a cut diamond; wanting a light for her cigaret which she fixed into a Chinese red holder that he could scarcely fail to notice exactly matched her finger nails, the little red feather in her cap and her deep coral necklace and earrings. For the rest, her attire was dove gray. Dick was a man who noticed such things. A woman whose clothes did not harmonize offended his idea of good taste.

"I'll bet you're wondering what I came for," said Sylvia. "You've been asking yourself that question ever since the beauty in the hall announced me."

"Well, what did you come for?" he asked. "Modesty forbids that I should suggest it was because you had an overwhelming desire to see me again so soon."

"Shall we say I've made business merely an excuse? I must flatter you a little. Men simply adore flattery."

"I think I would adore anything from you," he said unwisely.

Dash the girl! Why should she compel him to pay her silly compliments? He had just got safely out of one scrape; did he want immediately to involve himself in another? He slipped his hand into his coat pocket where the woolly dog and its blue ribbon made a soft, squeezable parcel. That was for his little son, and before long everybody who knew him would be saying what a model father he was.

"I can read your mind. You're on pins and needles to get rid of me."

No dalliance, if you please, with flirtatious young females.

Dick was important enough in the firm to have a room to himself, but of course anybody might look in at any time to consult him about something, so it was a little disconcerting when his young visitor cleared a place on his desk and swung herself up on it.

"You're very polite, Dick Heritage," she said. "I can read your mind, though. You're on pins and needles to get rid of me. I'm not behaving properly. But then, you see, I never do behave. People tell me it's one of my greatest charms. However, I won't try your patience too far. I've come to see you on business, Mr. Heritage. I want you to plan a beautiful house for me."

"O, I say, that's great!" Dick exclaimed.

"I thought you'd be pleased. You do draw up plans for houses, don't you?"

"Whenever I get the chance. What sort of a house, Miss Lane? A big one, I hope."

"Well—not such a very big one. First I've got to find the place for it. That was in my mind yesterday when I said I hoped you'd let me drive you into the country some day. You thought I was just getting fresh with you on short acquaintance, didn't you?"

"Of course I didn't!" Dick said with mock indignation.

"When you told me you were an architect and casually mentioned you were with this firm, I suppose you thought I wasn't paying any attention. But the fact is, Mr. Heritage, I've been turning the idea of a country cottage over in my mind for some time, and it seemed as though fate had thrown us together for our mutual benefit. You see, you are Nancy's husband and I was always so fond of Nancy. It's just great to think I can do a little something for Nancy, even in a roundabout way."

"O, that's it, is it!" said Dick. "I've got Nance to thank for this order, have I?"

Sylvia gave him one of her limpid glances and then lowered her eyelids. "In a way," she said, her voice intentionally guarded. Then, more briskly, she added: "I want it to be a perfect house, Mr. Heritage, and I've got no end of ideas of my own. We shall have to see a lot of each other before you start on the plans. And of course the situation is most important."

"Good heavens, it's nearly 6 o'clock. I had no idea."

"I suppose you are going straight home from the office?" hazarded Sylvia. Her tone and the question implied that if he wasn't, perhaps Dick would like the pleasure of her company a little longer.

"As straight as a hare," he assured her.

"Then you must let me drive you back," Sylvia said, a note of triumph in her voice.

How innocently he had walked into that little trap. Even now Dick wasn't sure that she had intended it as such.

Those eyes of hers. Yes, Nancy's description of them was correct. Sylvia Lane's eyes were hypnotic and you found yourself rather hanging on the next glance from them. But forewarned is forearmed and Dick told himself a little boastfully that in his case the rest of Nancy's prophecy was unlikely to be fulfilled. What was it exactly?—that Sylvia's eyes, being hypnotic, could make you do things you were sorry for afterward.

Just for a second, Dick thought that he did not want Sylvia Lane to drive him back to Primrose Dene in her car, but while he was searching for a reasonable excuse she took his acceptance for granted in such a way that it was impossible for him to refuse.

"Mother's dining out this evening and I haven't a thing to do. Perhaps Nancy will invite me to take pot luck with you. I'm just crazy to get going on my cottage. We could talk it over after dinner, couldn't we?"

Dick replied with suitable enthusiasm, but deep down in his heart there was an uncomfortable doubt. Would Nancy be very pleased?

Apparently Sylvia had not the remotest suspicion that Nancy did not like her. However, there was nothing to do but get into the luxurious car and admire Sylvia's skill as a driver. He forgot all about the pink carnations for Nancy.

They didn't go home quite as straight as he had hoped. The various parks afforded detours and when finally the heights of Hampstead were scaled, it was so close upon dinner time as made no matter.

On the veranda was Edith Heritage, but no sign of Nancy.

"Hello, mother. Miss Lane's going to have a bite to eat with us. I'm to design a country cottage for her. Isn't that great? We're going to discuss the plans after dinner. Where's Nancy?"

Edith welcomed Sylvia as fondly as though the girl were her own daughter, but the look she gave Dick was enigmatic.

"Nancy's got a headache and I think she has gone to bed. I wouldn't disturb her if I were you, Dick. Really, I wouldn't."

"Perhaps I'd better not stay," said Sylvia.

"O my dear, it's quite all right. No—no, you must stay. I am simply delighted. Too wonderful, that you're going to build a little house. And how nice of you to think of Dick!"

Edith was warmly hospitable, and Nancy would scarcely have recognized her for the same person.

"I think I'd better just have a look at Nance," Dick said uneasily.

Again his mother impressed him as being a shade mysterious.

"Really, Dick, if you'll take my advice you'll leave her alone. I—er—believe she's fixed up that little room at the back for you. I know she was busy up there this afternoon with Minnie and they moved in your chest of drawers. . . . Now sit down, Sylvia—or would you like to go up to my room and take off your things? I must speak to Minnie a moment, if you'll be kind enough to excuse me."

Sylvia said she would only slip off her coat.

Doris Blake Answers

Ask Her to Reconsider.

"Dear Miss Blake: My girl and I broke up. She is going to marry another for spite. Have I a chance to win her back? SCANTY."

Why don't you go to her, tell her you're still in love with her, and ask her to reconsider?

Compatibility Mainly Temperament.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 30 and love a girl of 20. Am I too old for her? "ANXIOUS TEDDY."

ners prize quite as much as their astors and roses.

A large and vivid display of gladioli in the center of the hall has been made to dominate the show. And then there are the wall pockets, the miniature bouquets, and an herb table with old fashioned green leaves that Shakespeare wrote about. Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson will be in charge of a wild flower exhibit this afternoon and hovering around the booth filled with garden accessories will be Mrs. John Riley's daughter, Hester, Miss Frances Neill, Miss Theodora Finney, Mrs. Ralph Hobart, Mrs. Riley Warren, and Mrs. James N. Riley.

Exhibition Will Open at 2 o'Clock.

By 2 o'clock when the doors will be thrown open the judges will have pinned their blue and red and gold ribbons on the exhibits. Mrs. Henry Bartholomay is having the judges of the Lake Forest Garden club specials for luncheon at her summer home.

During the afternoon and evening many of the club members and their guests will linger on the patio where long, cool drinks and other light refreshments are to be served. Mrs. Frank Porter is in charge of this refreshment booth and she will have as her assistants Mrs. Sangston Hetler, Mrs. Daniel Peterkin Jr., Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, and Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin Jr., who is here from New York.

For the organization of the show a great deal of credit is due Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, the general chairman. Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Edwin B. Frost, and Mrs. William F. Peterson have served as her co-chairmen. The Lake Geneva Gardener's and Foremen's association is responsible for some of the professional exhibits. The proceeds will benefit Holiday Home where handicapped boys and girls are given vacations every year.

Lady Peek and Son Leave for West.

One titled English family left Chicago last night after a brief visit while another arrives tomorrow. Lady Peek of London and her son, Sir Francis, have been at the Drake hotel for two days, but last night they left for California, where they will visit Lady Peek's mother, Mrs. William C. Stribling, in Santa Barbara. They stopped over in Chicago that Lady Peek might show her 19 year old son the sights of this city, which she considers one of the most progressive and beautiful in the world.

Tomorrow Sir Richard and Lady Winstedt of London and Singapore are arriving to be the house guests of Isaac Miller Hamilton in his penthouse at 3500 Sheridan road. Mr. Hamilton met the Winstedts a few weeks ago on a cruise to Alaska and they enjoyed each other's company thoroughly so he invited them to be his guests while here.

They are coming here from Rochester, Minn., where they have been visiting and studying the Mayo clinic. Mr. Hamilton has planned to take them on a drive about the city tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow evening he will have them for dinner at the South Shore Country club. On Sunday he will be host to them for golf at the Exmoor club.

Sir Richard has been in the diplomatic service for 32 years. From here they will go on east to sail for London and home.

Luncheon Party for Miss Earle.

Mrs. Dwight Green will issue invitations the beginning of next week for a luncheon for Miss Elsie Earle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Edwin Earle, on Sept. 10 at the Indian Hill club. Miss Earle is to make her bow to society at a dinner-dance on Sept. 5 at the Onwentsia club which her mother's cousin, Mrs. Frank R. Fuller, will give. All of Mrs. Green's guests will be the coming season's debutantes.

The luncheon Mrs. William Ogden Green and her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, will give for Miss Mary Jean Bartelme will be given Thursday, Sept. 12, and not on the 10th as was stated yesterday. Miss Bartelme will be presented at a tea at home on Sept. 11 by her aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Bartelme, and grandmother, Mrs. Ferdinand Eugene Bartelme.

Mrs. John Paul Welling and her debutante daughter, Miss Harriet Welling, arrived in New York recently from several weeks in Europe and they are expected in Chicago some time before Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Welling plan to present their daughter at a tea at home in November.

Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes is waiting until she returns to Chicago early next month to make final plans for the debut of her youngest daughter, Miss Elisabeth Dewes. Mrs. Dewes, the debutante, and Miss Dorothy Dewes are spending the summer in the Harold Eldridge cottage at Harbor Springs, Mich. Miss Elisabeth, who last year was a freshman at Bryn Mawr, will take the whole winter off from her studies to enjoy the debutante festivities. She was graduated from Miss Master's school at Dobbs Ferry a year ago.

Wings of a Century Cast to Have Picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pope Jr. will entertain at a supper party Sunday evening in their Glencoe home. Most of their guests will be Chicago friends.

Mrs. Maurice Patrick Geraghty, the former Helen Tieken, who so ably directed the Wings of a Century at A Century of Progress in 1933 and 1934, will be among those present at the first annual reunion and picnic the cast of the two shows is holding Sunday. The picnic will begin at 1 o'clock in the forest preserve along the banks of the Des Plaines river at the end of the Milwaukee avenue street car line.

The young John Derns, now practically settled in their new Glencoe house, are awaiting the arrival of Mr. Dern's family from Washington, D. C. Secretary of War Dern and Mrs. Dern with their daughter, Mrs. Harry Baxter, are leaving the beginning of September on a trip that will take them to the Philippines for a month or more. En route they will stop off here and also in Salt Lake City, their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Armour and their daughter, Betty, who attends Miss Walker's school at Simsbury, Conn., and their son, Lester Jr., are leaving tomorrow for four weeks in Europe.

Mrs. Walter Schuttler has joined Mr. Schuttler at Saratoga for the remainer of the racing season. She will return to Chicago in two or three weeks. Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hughes also are in Saratoga, but they are expected at home next Wednesday.

The junior Albert Blake Dicks and their daughter, Helen, and son, Albert III., sailed on the Bremen Tuesday for Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Eames MacVeagh have gone to Magnolia, Mass., to visit Mrs. Stanley McCormick. Before the MacVeaghs return to Chicago they will go to Dublin, N. H., to visit his father's place.

The David Malloys are at the Skytop club in the Pocono mountains, Pennsylvania, to remain until the end of the summer season.

Don't Nag Teen Age Boy or Girl About Trifles

Lenience in Small Matters Eases Many Trials.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"O, mother—let me alone! If I freeze, then I'll freeze. It'll teach me a lesson," exclaimed a 15 year old who was going out one summer day and whose mother was following her usual custom of insisting on underwear, an extra "pullover," or some other "precautionary clothing," as you might call it.

"But I'm afraid you'll catch cold, darling."

"O mother.." in exasperation, "You baby me so. I won't catch cold, I'm tough, mother. I'm not going loaded up with clothes like a Byrd antarctic expedition. I'd look silly taking a sweater today."

We all know these struggles over clothes and how, when our children reach a certain age, our solicitude irks them. This is one of the many small ways [provided they are not too imprudent] in which we can ease up on these great big darlings of ours who still seem like our small children—but, sad to say are not!

Boys and girls in their teens crave freedom and independence. Gradually they must have it—but not all at once. As I said the other day in this column, we can't when they're in their middle teens, give them a latch key, a car, and a full purse. They're not ready for all that—they're not experienced enough or world wise enough to use it well. We can't give them their head entirely. But we can loosen the rein in regard to little things.

We can give our boys and girls in their teens a great sense of freedom and independence by not riding them hard in small ways and by not being over solicitous in matters that aren't really important.

Joan Crawford Likes Her Portrait Done as Egyptian Princess

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Joan Crawford looks like an Egyptian princess. At least that's the way she appears to Edward Biberman, American modernist painter, and that is the way he has painted her in a picture which caused a flurry of comment at its unveiling before Hollywood critics.

The artist, who calls Miss Crawford "the epitome of American beauty," depicted the actress as an Egyptian goddess with full lips and high cheek bones.

2 N.-T.	Pass	3 Cl.	Pass
4 Cl.	Pass	5 Cl.	Pass
Pass	Dbl.	Redbl.	Pass

Some may wonder why East did not overcall. East was the same person who had failed to overcall yesterday. He could be coaxed into the bidding only with difficulty. Once East had gone down six tricks at an overcall and he had never forgotten. It had left some sort of a sear across his soul.

South, on the other hand, was a bidder who could not be controled once he got the bit in his teeth. His proper bid is one spade over one diamond and the proper contract is three clubs; but here was South, up to five and redoubled.

West could hardly restrain himself from doubling four clubs. Five, doubled and redoubled, was right down his alley. He opened the jack of spades, having heard that you should lead your longest suit when you have trump length. South won with the ace and ruffed a spade on the board. He reëntered his hand with the ace of hearts and ruffed yet another spade. He came back to his hand with the king of diamonds and trumped yet another spade on the board. When East failed to overruff, discarding an encouraging heart, South nodded sagely. It was just what he had suspected.

It seemed subsequently as if some higher power must have guided South, only West didn't put it exactly that way. At any rate, South played the ace of diamonds and trumped a third diamond in his hand. West, much to his own disgust, had to follow. A small heart was led. West leaped in and trumped it returning a spade. South trumped that in the dummy, discarding a low heart from his own hand. The king of hearts was led. South trumped it low, and West, having nothing but trumps, was forced to overtrump and lead back into the ace, queen of clubs.

Fiance Has No Right to All of Girl's Time

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"We have been engaged to be married for several years. Due to the fact that I have lost my job and haven't been able to get another, the wedding had to be postponed indefinitly.

"My fiancée just returned from her vacation in the country with her girl friend. My fiancée reports that they had a wonderful time with different fellows practically every night, drinking and dancing and road houses until the small hours of the morning. She swears it was just clean sport. No necking or petting. I censored her, and told her she had no right to do as she did and that her behavior was unbecoming to one who is engaged. She disagrees and insists since she did nothing wrong, and that I have no right to talk that way to her. She even admitted she took off her engagement ring on that vacation and kept it off." M. S.

Oh, I say, M. S., you are a tyrant, a perfect dog in the manger. What did you want the girl to do on her vacation? Spend her time writing to you, sitting around refusing to dance and have a good time just because she is engaged? Boy, you'd better get up to date. Girls don't do that any more. They're not isolated just because they happen to be wearing a ring.

You're lucky to have her come back and be fair enough to tell you what she was doing. Many girls would have kept that all a secret. If the girl is willing to wait for you until you get back on your feet so that marriage bells may ring, she's doing plenty. She shouldn't be denied a little fun. We would think you'd be glad to hear that her vacation was a success.

Most young men, we find, hate to make a girl feel that she's tied to them when they have no money to take her around.

Suit Over Injuries at Hollywood Party Settled Out of Court

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The suit of Lon Young over injuries assertedly incurred when the movie producer was struck by a thrown cocktail glass at a Hollywood party last New Year's day, apparently has been settled out of court.

Young in trying to collect a judgment against Mrs. Marjorie Chansler, wife of Roy Chansler, movie scenarist, attempted to attach Chansler's salary on the theory that half of what he earned belonged to his wife as community property.

An agreement to cease attachment proceedings was reached today.

Professional Field Demands Trim Figures

Indicate General Health and Good Grooming.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Pretty school teachers, one read the other day, are the teachers that are wanted.

You saw that story, of course, about the teacher who was turned down because of her overweight condition?

Everywhere a job seeking woman turns today she's made to feel that appearance counts more than experience, more than mental capacity, more than reliability. An unhealthy sign, you say? An idolatrous worship of beauty?

Nothing of the sort! No doubt a few tragic instances, such as that of the school teacher who tried unsuccessfully to get her weight down, will crop up. The woman may have all the ability in the world as a teacher. Her rejection may be an injustice. She may be the type that can reduce only under medical direction, if at all.

It isn't a pretty face that is demanded. It's only a face that radiates health, cleanliness, and care. It isn't hair of any particular shade or style of coiffure. Again, here, all that's demanded is well groomed hair. The silhouette requirements are based purely on efficiency demands. It isn't that these occupational requirements have a bathing beauty figure or a movie star's silhouette in mind. It's merely that the person who keeps her weight under control is bound to be a more efficient, tidier, neater, all around more effective person than the one who lets herself go.

When a pretty teacher is demanded, again it isn't a Loretta Young type that the demand is patterned after. Before me at the moment is a list of books on health and beauty care of the school child. A teacher who does not represent the principles she preaches is not going to make an impression on youngsters with her health talks.

But the point is that employers have not turned into Ziegfelds or Earl Carrolls. They're simply moving in step with the whole modern health trend. What they ask of employés is health and the symptoms of a live, healthy body in the good skin, good hair, fat-free figures, which, after all, are what constitute good looks as they register today.

Modern Applique Quilt Employs Fuchsia Shades

Fuchsia.

BY NANCY CABOT.

A thoroughly modern and strikingly simple applique pattern is "Fuchsia." Like the flower, the quilt pattern uses two shades of fuchsia on a soft pink background. That is as modern a touch as that of the present Paris fashions, which combine pink and Dubonnet red. The simple patches take no time to applique, and twenty-eight applique patterns may be made at the rate of four in an afternoon, that is, for those who take their quilts to a tea and thimble club.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coins. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

For the woman who looks on a bath as much more than the commonplace business of getting scrubbed clean there's a new little English luxury to induce that "O-what-an-orchid-am-I!" mood that buoys a woman up so. It's an effervescent powder that makes the water soft and sweet smelling. You can pick your own fragrance, since there are a flock of them from which to choose.

This fizzes as it hits the water, which somehow is something of an exciting satisfaction in itself—probably a vague suggestion of those legendary baths in champagne. It colors the water, too—rose, blue, green, or mauve as your taste or your mood might dictate.

We discovered, both by personal experience and by the reaction of our stooges, that the fragrant mists which envelop you as you lie back and meditate in a bath scented and softened with this just unkink all the knots of nerves and muscles. And anything that promotes such beautiful relaxation is all to the good, we'd say. Serenity certainly has its merits when you figure up beauty scores.

We like bath trimmings as summer items. You probably do, too. After all you're only as cool looking and as unaware of the wilting temperature as any of your own little secrets about attaining crisp freshness of body and soul make you. This pretty, fizzy powder that promotes the satiny skin and the delicate scent isn't an essential in life, but it's a delightful aid to charm, especially in summer—and therefore, if you think that being charming is an art rather than a businesslike science to be reckoned in figures, well worth while.

You'll find this champagne-ish zip to soap and water in a local shop.

PLEADS FOR MILK AND ICE FOR HIS ADOPTED CHILD

Jobless Man Asks Help of Tribune Fund.

"I am writing this," said a letter to the TRIBUNE free ice fund yesterday, "with the hope that you may help me in solving what is to me a very serious problem."

Thus began one of the many pitiful letters which are being received daily. Written in a flowing script, it told of a man and his wife, who after 15 childless years adopted a baby last winter, but failed to complete legal arrangements.

In May the man lost his job. He applied for relief. He was informed that, if he obtained relief, there could be no allowance in his "budget" for the baby, because he had never taken out adoption papers.

"Worth Its Weight in Gold."

"That boy is worth his weight in gold to my invalid wife," the letter continued. "If finally I am given a food order I will continue as I have in the last week—eating pancakes made with plain flour and water in order that our baby can have milk.

"I am reluctant to apply for help, but we need milk, and we need ice."

Unfortunately, the free ice fund does not supply milk, but it can supply this needy couple and the child with ice if the contributions of readers of THE TRIBUNE make it possible.

Among the ice benefits held this week was a fair, given by Buddy Hansom, 13 years old; Melvin Sang, 10 years old, and Billy Jane, 10 years old. Its proceeds, $2, were received yesterday, as was a contribution of $1 sent by the Initiative club, an organization of 15 young men and women, as their "social service work for August."

$17 in New Contribution.

In Memory of Mrs. Eva Loeffler	$5.00
Initiative Club	1.00
Playmates' Fair	2.00
A Friend	5.00
John Butler Schwenim	2.00
John H. Oberndorf	2.00
Total	$17.00
Previously acknowledged	$1,539.76
Grand total	$1,556.76

Only one contribution was received yesterday for the Camp Algonquin fund, through which tenement mothers and children are sent for two weeks' outings to Camp Algonquin on the Fox river. This was a check for $5, sent with the request, "Please omit my name. Just say a friend." This brings the Camp Algonquin fund to $2,593.47.

Contributions to either fund should be sent to the cashier, Tribune Tower. All donations will be acknowledged in the columns of this paper.

STARTS A FILLING STATION; STRIKES BOTH GAS AND OIL

Natural gas and oil have been found on property bordering on Skokie road, one block south of County line road, west of Glencoe, it was learned yesterday. The owner of the land is John Patterson, who operated the Subway cafe, also known as "The Goat's Nest," at 507 North Wabash avenue until it was closed recently by police for violating the liquor dispensing law.

Patterson intends to build a filling station on the east side of the Skokie road property and a roadhouse on the west side. Drillers have been drilling for water on both locations. On the east side, natural gas was discovered and oil on the west side. Both wells were capped after the gas had been used to operate a stove and a barrel of oil drawn from the other well.

Ambassador to Poland to Speak at Celebration

John Cudahy, United States ambassador to Poland, will be the chief speaker at the celebration to be held Sunday in Humboldt Park of the fifteenth anniversary of Poland's victory over the Bolsheviks at the Vistula river, Poland. More than 100,000 Chicagoans of Polish birth and extraction are expected to attend the celebration of the victory which saved Poland as an independent republic. The celebration will open with a parade from Milwaukee avenue and Augusta boulevard to a point near Kosciuszko's monument in the park. The Star Spangled Banner and the Polish national anthem will be sung.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Interesting Plants

Aug. 15, 1935.

TEST plots at the Tribune experimental farm near Wheaton are now in their most interesting stage. Visitors from the city and country are coming to the plots in increasing numbers each day.

Most of the plants are blossoming and forming seed. Cotton plants are especially interesting to most visitors; many are having their first chance to see this crop of the southern states. Sunday the first white blossom opened. Monday this bloom turned pink and Tuesday it dropped from the plant. Several more have come out this week and many will be opening over the week-end.

Cotton is not normally grown farther north than the extreme southern counties of Illinois. It was necessary to start the seed at the Wheaton farm in a greenhouse last winter. The plants were set in the open field on June 7.

Home and commercial gardeners are watching the progress now being made by Sousei O Saya, a soy bean used as a human food. This week the pink blossoms are opening on the plants and pods are beginning to develop on some of the earliest plants. The tallest plants are about 30 inches high.

Hop vines are running wild over the trellises in the test plots. The crown roots were set out on May 21. Some of the vines are 20 feet long. Light green spiny blossoms are thick on the vines, some are taking on their characteristic sand color as the pods begin to take shape.

Whippoorwill and Ramshorn cowpeas are "taking the place." Some of the vines are seven feet long and have spread in every direction until they formed almost a solid thick green mass in the rows and between the rows. Purple blossoms are coming out on the Whippoorwills and yellow blossoms are opening on the Ramshorn vines. The Ramshorn cowpeas are sometimes eaten as a vegetable. They are prepared and cooked, hull and all, the same as ordinary green beans.

Atlas sorgo, a valuable forage crop in Kansas and Oklahoma, is being tested at the Wheaton plots this year. It was first tried out at the Tribune Yorkville farm last season and made a fair showing. This year it is making an even better showing because the weather has been more favorable. Some of the tallest plants in the plots are five feet high and it likely will have several more weeks in which to develop a big tonnage of forage before killing frost.

Workers at the plots clipped the Harbin lespedeza plants back Monday to within two inches of the ground for the purpose of producing from the second crop seeds that will remain dormant over winter and reseed the ground next spring.

Farmers in northern Illinois are eager to see whether The Tribune farm will be able to bring Sericea lespedeza, No. 04730, through the winter successfully. Sericea is a perennial variety of lespedeza that lives over winter farther south. This particular strain is considered hardier than others now being tested in the corn belt.

At the Wheaton plots the stand is thin but the plants are thriving, some are sixteen inches tall. The main purpose of the test is to find a strain of the perennial lespedeza that will live over winter this far north. Seed of another strain of Sericea was planted in the Yorkville plots last year but the ground was so dry the seed failed to sprout.

MARIJUANA WEED PATCH FOUND AT JOLIET; DUG UP

Guards from the Joliet penitentiary were busy with shovels and pitchforks yesterday turning under a 10 foot by 15 foot bed of marijuana weed discovered in an obscure nook of the old prison quarry. Three convicts who were found smoking cigarets they had made from the leaves were in solitary confinement. Presence of the narcotic weed in the prison was discovered by Capt. J. R. Carpenter, who recognized the odor of the smoke as he passed along a cell block. The weed grows wild near Joliet and presumably the bed in the quarry was started by seeds blown there by the wind.

WORKER DIES IN ROUNDHOUSE.

Edward Paleck, 61 years old, 2530 South Clifton Park avenue, died of a heart attack yesterday in the roundhouse of the Chicago and Western Indiana Railroad company at 51st street and Stewart avenue, where he was employed as a car repair man.

COLLEGE RULES TO GOVERN ALL-STAR GAME

CUBS CRUSH DODGERS, 11-3; WHITE SOX LOSE, 3-1

ROUT ZACHARY GIVE WARNEKE 13TH VICTORY

Demaree Hits Triple with Bases Full.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Servier.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The Dodgers, who had their big moment with a twin victory yesterday, reverted to type this afternoon and permitted the Cubs to enjoy themselves to the limit. The Chicagoans, coming up with an attack such as they reveal only on rare occasions, ran their legs off on the base lines and triumphed, 11 to 3. It was the 12th surrender of Casey Stengel's artless performers in 16 games with the Cubs this season, but it neither lifted the Chicago club out of third place nor served to cut down the 3½ game margin held by the leading Giants.

Lon Warneke, whose dozen defeats to date can be attributed in part to a shortage of runs, didn't have this feature to fret about today. Lon had a three run lead before he pitched a ball. Before he started the second inning he had a comfortable 8 run buffer to fall back on if necessary. But the Dodgers never emerged from their customary futile state so the winning of No. 13 for Warneke was merely a matter of going through the motions.

Chase Old Tom Zachary.

The industry with which the Cubs applied their bats, not to mention the aid given by the customary Dodger fielding, turned old Tom [Lefty] Zachary's starting assignment into a limited appearance. A triple by Frank Demaree with the bases filled in the first inning started the veteran on his way, but he lingered long enough in the second to see the dancing Tuck Stainback thump a homer into the seats with two on. After that the Cubs had a rather easy time with Leslie Munns, the wildman, but eventually were placed in a tight halter by one Tom Baker, making his big time debut. The youngster held them to five hits and one run in five innings.

Besides being a nuisance for the Cub hitters, Baker managed to cause Warneke some annoyance. The freshman pitcher was at the plate three times for a total of two singles and one double, thereby promoting two of the enemy runs.

Incidentally, Stainback's homer gave him some badly needed nourishment for the column devoted to runs batted in. It raised his season's total from 6 to 9, a rather modest figure when you consider that several of the Cubs have batted in more than sixty.

Demaree Clears Bases.

Galan's single to left started the enterprise that blossomed into three runs off Zachary in the first inning. Herman's drive past first base landed on the foul marker for a double, Galan stopping at third. Stainback was removed on a pop to Stripp, and Hartnett was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Demaree then stepped in with a triple to right center, cleaning up the bases. Cavarretta popped to Cuccinello and Lindstrom flied to Koenecke.

Seven Cubs batted in the first inning, but in the second they improved on this by sending nine men to the plate, five of them scoring. This parade began with a safe bunt by Jurges, who raced to second when Lopez threw wild on Warneke's sacrifice. Galan singled to left, Jurges scoring. Herman flied to right, after which Stainback walloped his third homer of the season into the left field stand, Warneke and Galan preceding him across the plate. Munns dashed to Zachary's rescue and walked Hartnett. Demaree forced Gabby and then scored the fifth run of the inning on Cavarretta's double to right.

The Cubs continued to progress by scoring one in the third, this being in the nature of a gift from Munns. He walked Jurges, who went to second on a wild pitch. Warneke also

BOSTON KNOCKS THREE HOMERS; BEATS SOX, 3-1

Cronin, Werber and Cooke Pound Tietje.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Boston Red Sox yesterday employed the home run technique exclusively to slap down the White Sox for the third time in three days. The score was Boston, 3; Chicago, 1, and the Boston tabulation was accounted for with homers off Les Tietje by Joe Cronin, Bill Werber and Dusty Cooke. These smacks, the ones by Cronin and Werber in the second inning, and the one by Cooke in the sixth, formed half of the Boston hit total for the day.

Lefty Grove went all the way with ease and grace for his fifteenth victory of the year. The Chicago Sox made one more hit than the Boston Sox but Grove tolerated nothing that looked like home run swatting. The one Chicago run was made in the seventh inning, when the score was 3 to 0, on Luke Appling's second single and a double by Al Simmons.

The day's business left the White Sox with their longest losing streak on their hands. They now have dropped seven straight and thirteen out of their last fourteen. No ball players are to be brought in until the roster limit is suspended on Sept. 1. As a consequence the committee appointed to celebrate "Victory Day" is in a quandary and has held up all orders for floral horseshoes until something definite can be determined.

Two Homers In Second.

Tietje easily disposed of the first three batsmen to face him but there was a mysterious letdown in the second inning. Cronin opened the session with his No. 7 homer, a shot into the left field stands. R. Ferrell flied to Washington, but Werber, not to be outdone by his boss, slapped another homer, a virtual duplicate of Cronin's effort. It was Werber's thirteenth of the year and the second of the current series. Melillo popped to Hayes but Dahlgren singled to left. Grove was called out on strikes.

Tietje became effective again in the third, fourth and fifth innings, in which only nine batsmen faced him. Cronin walked in the fourth but promptly perished in a double play.

Up till the home fifth the only Chicago hit was the single with which Radcliff opened the home offensive. Piet forced Radcliff and Dykes ended the first inning by grounding into a double play. The Sox efforts in the second, third and fourth innings were confined to infield outs.

Red Sox Score Again.

Appling led off the Chicago fifth with a single to left, the second Chicago hit and the second stroke to the outfield. Infield grounders by Washington and Simmons advanced Appling to third, where he died when Hayes fouled to Melillo.

The fourth Red Sox hit was the third Red Sox home run. It was knocked by Cooke to start the sixth inning, and, like Cronin's and Werber's, went into the left field stand. It was Dusty's second of the year. Almada, Johnson, and Cronin rounded out the inning with infield outs.

In the home sixth the White Sox made their third and fourth hits off Grove. Tietje singled to right with one down and was forced by Radcliff. Piet singled past first, Radcliff stopping at second. Grove knocked down Dykes' hot one and tossed him out.

White Sox Get a Run.

The Sox busted through for a run in the seventh. Appling opened with his second and the team's fifth hit, went to second on Washington's tap, and scored on Simmons' double to the right field corner. Simmons reached third on Hayes' fly to Almada and the inning ended when Sewell grounded out to Melillo.

Shea batted for Tietje to start the eighth and was called out on strikes with his bat on his shoulder. Melillo threw out Radcliff, then Piet walked. Johnson went to the vicinity of the

Bears Hold Scrimmage at Training Camp

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 15.—At the end of an hour and twenty minute scrimmage at St. John's Military academy today, their first of the year, the Chicago Bears straggled off the field mumbling and arguing among themselves. Coach George Halas and his assistants, Red Grange and Luke Johnsos, were not satisfied. None of the players was satisfied. Heavy gloom hung everywhere.

Conditions were not as bad, however, as the preceding paragraph might lead one to suspect. The chief reason for the discontent lay in the fact that the coaches and the players expected too much. Being in excellent shape and completely engrossed in their preparation for the All-Star game at Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 29, the old men thought they were ready to function with the same precision and zest that made them the outstanding team in the National league the last three years.

Team Lacks Coördination.

Instead they found a long layoff leaves a rustiness and lack of coördination that three days of hard fundamental work will not eliminate. The truth of the matter, some observers insisted, is that the Bears today appeared to be nearly again as good as they were in their first scrimmage last year.

They are handicapped by the absence of a seasoned quarter back and they are a long way from being the football team they were at the close of last season. But they have two more weeks in which to iron out the roughness and raggedness and they can continue their pursuit for perfection unhampered tomorrow.

O'Neill Receives His Contract to Manage Indians

Cleveland, O., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Steve O'Neill, successor to Walter Johnson as manager of the Cleveland Indians, said tonight that he had signed a contract offered by Alva Bradley, president, to manage the team for the remainder of the season.

"It was a mere formality," O'Neill said. "We discussed a contract Aug. 4 and everything has been perfectly satisfactory."

Bradley said: "O'Neill has my best wishes."

"While the contract is only for the remainder of the season, I told O'Neill I hope that everything will continue to go along in a way that will make the future take care of itself."

BRIDGES TO FACE YANKS DESPITE INJURY TO LEG

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Tommy Bridges, right handed pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, who was injured by a line drive in the Washington game today, will be able to take his turn in the approaching series with the New York Yankees, Trainer Denny Carroll informed Manager Mickey Cochrane tonight.

Bridges was struck just above the left knee by a liner off the bat of Cecil Travis, Senator third baseman. He recovered the ball to throw out Travis, but Elon Hogsett was called to finish the game. The pitcher's leg was badly swollen tonight and the imprint of the ball stitching still was on it.

HALAS OF BEARS LOSES IN FIGHT FOR PROS' CODE

All-Americans Get More Scrimmage.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The football game between the All-Americans and the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field on Aug. 29 will be played under the collegiate code of rules. This decision was made when the rival coaches were unable to reach an agreement in their rules' meeting.

The men in charge of the college team, Frank Thomas, Charles Bachman, Dr. C. W. Spears, and Edward [Slip] Madigan, insisted that the college code prevail. While willing to divide the game between professional and college codes, Coach George Halas, of the Bears, held out for the National league rules.

Ward Breaks Deadlock.

Unable to secure an agreement, Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE and originator of the game, made the decision that the college rules will be used. Mr. Ward explains his decision as follows:

"I realize that the Bears' offense is handicapped by the imposition of the college forward pass rule, but the All-Stars would be at even a greater disadvantage were we to adopt the professional rule.

"All members of the Bears' squad are college men. Therefore, they were accustomed to the college regulation on the forward pass before they turned professional. The All-Stars, however, have had no experience with this type of attack.

"Whatever advantage there is in this game rests with the Bears. Theirs is a hand picked team. The college boys have been chosen through popular vote, which does not always turn up the strongest competitive players. With the college forward pass rule in use there is some question about the outcome of the game. If the professional regulation were adopted, there would be little question of the ultimate result.

Halas Offers Compromise.

"Coach Halas of the Bears asked to play only half the game under the professional forward pass rule. He later volunteered to cut it to a quarter and promised that his team would use it then only in the event they were behind. There is no question about the fairness of his attitude, but there is a principle involved which THE TRIBUNE, as promoter of the game, cannot ignore.

"The young men and coaches who make up the college squad were chosen by more than 8,000,000 fans. They are here as the guests of THE TRIBUNE. They have less than three weeks to prepare themselves for a game with the world's strongest professional team. They have plenty of handicaps to overcome without being required to acquaint themselves in this short time with a style of football entirely new to them. The psychological effect might be disastrous."

Scrimmage Continues.

Scrimmage continues to be one of the daily chores of the All-Stars. By this early drill the coaches expect to get a definite idea of the capabilities of the players and, while there is risk that injuries may incapacitate some of the stars, this chance must be taken if the team is to acquire an edge to its attack.

Inky Wotkyns, the plunging full back from Southern California, suffered a slight concussion during scrimmage. He was taken to St. Francis hospital in Evanston, where physicians said the injury was not serious and that Wotkyns would be able to return to the team within a few days.

Frank Sobrero, who was injured Wednesday night, received only a bad bruise, physicians reported yesterday, and will be able to resume scrimmage within a few days. All others are in condition, barring minor scratches and bumps, the result of the contact drills.

The coaches are optimistic over the showing of the team on attack. Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland has been racing for long gains and un-

FRENCH PRINCESS BEARS OUT; FOUL CLAIM ALLOWED

Tabitha Made Winner After Disqualification.

French Princess, the flying filly from the stable of Mrs. John Marsh of Chicago, was so full of run and so determined to win the Torrence Road purse at Lincoln Fields yesterday afternoon that she became wobbly in the stretch, found it impossible to carry her speed on a straight line and had the victory taken away from her after she finished in front by a neck.

Right behind her at the finish was Tabitha and in third place was Tom Worden's Bert Reid. Finishing fourth was My Blonde.

Order Number Down.

Jocky Jimmy King who had ridden Tabitha showed more speed getting to the judges' stand to claim a foul than French Princess did in the race. The stewards heard his story and immediately ordered the numbers down. French Princess was disqualified and first money went to Tabitha. Bert Reid was moved into second place and My Blonde was awarded third money.

The ruling brought no joy nor happiness to most of those in the crowd, for French Princess had been backed so extensively that she went to the post as the 3 to 2 favorite.

French Princess Bears Out.

After galloping into an easy lead French Princess enjoyed a wide margin until midway in the stretch. Tabitha then started a drive which carried her alongside French Princess. Then French Princess began to bear out. Jocky Joe Renick was partly to blame, the stewards held, and they suspended him for the remainder of the meeting.

After moving into first place Tabitha paid his backers $12.60.

Another one of those big stake fields which are becoming the rule at Lincoln Fields is in prospect for the seventh running of the $5,000 added Francis S. Peabody Memorial at one mile, which will be tomorrow's feature. Racing Secretary Will Shelley says he expects about 20 handicap horses to be named through the entry box today.

West Main, one of the choices for the Peabody Memorial, turned in the best trial over the sloppy Lincoln Fields racing strip yesterday morning when he went a handy three-quarters in 1:14 3-5. He was at the half in :49. Over at Washington Park, where the going was fast, the faint-hearted Transmutable, another Peabody eligible, went a sparkling seven furlongs in 1:26 4-5, driving. He was moving along in real racing time, with a quarter in :23, a half in :47 3-5, and six furlongs in 1:13 3-5.

Mikel Barred for Running Horse as a Two Year Old

BY FRENCH LANE.

John D. Mikel, well to do farmer and breeder of thoroughbred horses near Bloomington, Ill., was ruled off the turf by the board of stewards at Lincoln Fields yesterday afternoon.

Mikel was represented in the first race, an event for 2 year olds, by My Bane. The stewards charged that My Bane is a 3 year old.

"Upon the report of Dr. G. B. McKillip, state veterinarian representing the Illinois Racing commission, corroborated by Dr. N. E. Southard, that the horse, My Bane, was 3 years old, J. D. Mikel is ruled off all courses under jurisdiction of the Illinois Racing commission. Mikel entered and raced said horse in the first race as a 2 year old maiden, in violation of the rules governing corrupt practices."

Leading Trainer Few Years Ago.

Mikel, who was America's leading trainer a couple of years ago, was stunned when he was told of the ruling. When he was composed enough to make a statement he said:

"They are wrong and I'll bet my life on that."

Mikel came into the limelight last fall in New England when he was suspended for 90 days, along with all the horses in his stable, for violation of the anti-dope rule. That appears to be the only instance in which he has been in trouble with the turf rulers.

Veterinarians McKillip and Southard based their findings on an examination of the colt's mouth and teeth, it is reported. Dr. Southard was arrested, later released, and never prosecuted in the horse doping scandal uncovered at Arlington Park two years ago.

Will Go to Court.

Mikel announced that he would retain counsel immediately and would demand that the Lincoln Fields stewards prove in a court of law that the colt My Bane is not a 2 year old.

"Personally I wouldn't know," Mikel said. "My father [W. M. Mikel, for years a breeder of horses] operates the farm. Racing our horses keeps me away from the farm most of the time every year. My father sends the horses to the track for me to train and to race. He specifies their names, their breeding, and the years in which they are foaled.

"He sent My Bane to me early last spring. He was a big green running colt and the thought never entered my mind that he was anything but a 2 year old. My father had registered him in the American stud book as a 2 year old and that's the division in which I've been running him."

My Bane's Seventh Start.

My Bane was making his seventh start as a 2 year old and in none of his races has been closer than eighth. Mikel pointed out that fact to interviewers.

"If I tried to slip a 3 year old over as a 2 year old surely I would send a good one out and win a bet," he said.

There were a number of judges and lawyers in the crowd at Lincoln Fields yesterday. They heard the ruling against Mikel and those who would venture an opinion doubted that proof of a horse's age can be established by an examination of the animal's mouth or teeth.

The Mikels have been farmers downstate for many years. Their farm is located near the village of Carlock. The elder Mikel began breeding thoroughbred horses more than 20 years ago. Until the last few years he operated in a small way.

The colt My Bane was bred there, being a son of Braedalbane, leading sire at the farm, and the mare Birdie L.

DESTROY VOLTA, SIRE OF MANY WINNERS, AT 23

Reno, Nev., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Volta, 23 year old bay stallion imported from England in 1925 by George Wingfield's Nevada stock farm and sire of about 50 horses that gained fame in the racing world, was destroyed today because of age. Retired to stud in 1917 after winning $22,865 in 19 races, Volta was one of a famous string of stallions owned by the Earl of Carnarvon.

Wingfield, Reno capitalist, bought Volta for $15,000. His most successful offspring, Franklin, won the Ascot, Epsom and Newmarket stakes and also one of the famous Spanish stakes.

MEMPHIS PLAYS GIANTS.

Mrs. Adler, Louise Johnson Meet in Parks Golf Final Today

Mrs. R. A. Adler of Mid City, one of the tournaments co-medalists, and Louise Johnson of Mohawk, a winner in the first golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE three years ago, will meet today in the 36 hole final for the Illinois women's public parks championship over the Waveland avenue course of the Lincoln Park Golf club.

In the semi-finals yesterday Mrs. Adler, who had shared the qualifying medal on Monday with Mrs. Roy E. Garland of Medinah, came through with the best golf of the tournament to eliminate Josephine Souchek of Big Oaks, the defending champion, 2 and 1, while Miss Johnson defeated Virginia Jensen, also from Mohawk, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Adler shot a 39, one under par and equaling the women's course record, to be 3 up on Miss Souchek who had a 42 on the first nine. Both had 34s through the eight hole coming home, and Mrs. Adler needed only a 5 on the 18th to repeat her 39 on the opening nine of the match.

The three way tie for the team championship of the Chicago District Golf association will be decided today at the Northmoor Country club, when foursomes from Bob o' Link, Edgewood Valley, and Glen Oak meet in a special 36 hole playoff. The three teams were deadlocked at the conclusion of the regular tournament at Medinah July 23. Bob o' Link is the defending champion, and both Edgewood Valley and Glen Oak are former titleholders.

Tam O' Shanter's annual Doon Th' Burn invitational tournament will head tomorrow's program, with a huge list of prizes being offered for low gross and low net on both 18 and 36 holes.

The fourth annual championship of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association also will open tomorrow on four courses of the organization, with 18 holes of qualifying play at each. Eight will qualify from Northbrook, seven from Wabansee, and eight each from Big Run and Big Oaks. Match play will open Sunday with two 18 hole rounds at Evergreen. On Aug. 24 two more 18 hole rounds will be played at Evergreen, and the same course will be the scene of the 36 hole final Aug. 25. No entry fee is required.

Sunday and Monday offer two of the most interesting events of the year. The Illinois P. G. A. and the Chicago Women's District Golf association will gather for the second annual prodadies' event at Beverly Sunday, and the P. G. A. will assemble again at Olympia Fields Monday for the second pro-senior tourney with members of the Illinois Seniors' Golf association.

Ruth Cards a 77 and Then Sees Yanks vs. Indians

Cleveland, O., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Babe Ruth was torn between two desires when he arrived today to enter the $3,500 prize open golf tournament which starts tomorrow at the Acacia Country club.

Ruth, the abdicated home run king, considered today's baseball game between his team of zenith years, the New York Yankees, and the Cleveland Indians. Ruth, the amateur golfer, also considered the wisdom of a practice round over the Acacia course. Then he managed to find time for both.

The Bambino and another former diamond star, Tris Speaker, played 18 holes of golf at Acacia with two professionals, Grange Alves of Acacia and Billy Burke of the Cleveland Country club. Then Ruth, Speaker, and Burke motored to League park, where they arrived soon after the Yankees and Indians started their game.

The Bambino turned in a 77 in his initial round on the course where par is 73.

Babe will find himself among some of golfdom's fastest company in the medal play tournament, including Tommy Armour, with whom Ruth will tee off tomorrow afternoon; Walter Hagen, Henry Picard, Denny Shute, Craig Wood, and Burke.

Mike Jacobs Says Baer's Hands Are in Good Shape

Speculator, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs visited Max Baer's training camp here today and said he was satisfied the former champion's hands are in good shape for Baer's September bout with Joe Louis. Until he watched Max assault the punching bag, Jacobs had planned to have Art Lasky, California heavyweight, stand by to substitute against Louis if Baer's hands failed to mend properly.

SMITH WINS TWO MATCHES IN COOK COUNTY TOURNEY

Shoots 5 Under Par to Beat Morrison.

Sid Smith, Lansing Airport ace, became the favorite to win the Cook County amateur golf title when he won his first and second round matches at Garfield park yesterday.

In the morning round, Sid toured the short nine hole course in 30—27—57, five under par, to defeat a teammate, Keith Morrison, 3 and 2, while in the afternoon he continued his steady pace to win easily from Ryan Peterson, Edgebrook, 5 and 3.

Perry Defeats Pitcher.

L. J. Pitcher, winner of the qualifying medal in a three way playoff, was eliminated in the first round by Harry Perry, unattached entrant, 1 up. Perry advanced to the quarter-final round when he triumphed, 2 and 1, over G. G. Vas, Jackson park.

Hardy Hodgson, protégé of Horton Smith, Oak Park Country club pro, entered the quarter-finals by winning from Jerry Behrstock, Bryn Mawr, 1 up, and then upsetting a home club favorite, Bill Develin, 3 and 2.

In a second round match, John Krutilla, Hickory Hills, was forced to go to the nineteenth hole before he downed Al Eisenstein of the home club, 1 up.

Christopher Tops Plae Dae Tourney with Total of 145

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Charley Christopher led the field home yesterday in the sixteenth Plae Dae, annual invitational event of the Park Ridge Country club. His score of 145 was the best 36 hole gross performance of the field of 160 members and guests.

Christopher started the day with a morning round of 73, three over par, giving him a three stroke advantage over his pal, Tom Robbins, the tall Texan who was making his farewell appearance at the northwest side club, as he will leave presently to take up a new position in New York. In the afternoon Robbins made a handsome effort to overtake Christopher, shooting a 72 which gave him a full aggregate of 148 for the day, but Christopher turned in the same score on the matinee round to retain his three stroke margin.

The low net winners for the 36 holes were R. A. Walton of the home club and E. J. Fiery of Bob O'Link. All net scores for the day reverted to par. Walton finished with 183—44—139, while Fiery came in with 177—54—123. Both were brought back to par of 140 for 36 holes, and the first prize given to Walton because of his lower handicap.

Low gross foursome 36 holes—Dr. W. M. Young, 158; Dr. A. O. Young, 162; E. H. Kerber, 154, and A. W. Nelson, 159, all of Park Ridge. Total, 636.

Low gross morning round—A. W. Nelson, Park Ridge, 77; second, E. H. Kerber, Park Ridge, 77.

Low net morning—E. S. Gillette, Park Ridge, 79—9—70; second, John Petrie, 81—12—69; third, M. G. Symonds, 85—16—69.

CAYUGA, a factor from the start and under strong riding the final three-eighths, came to outside in stretch, and, wearing down FLYING JUSTICE, appeared ready to draw out. Latter had good speed and saved ground where possible, but weakened after five-eighths. STEALTHY STEP, well up from the start, saved ground on the turn but came out slightly in stretch and held on well.

FRENCH PRINCESS, suited by the going and racing into an easy lead before reaching the turn, increased her advantage gradually on stretch turn, weakened after five-eighths, and, forcing TABITHA wide thereafter, lasted, but was disqualified for fouling. TABITHA, reserved off the early pace, responded well when called upon, and but for interference in final eighth might have finished in front. BERT REID was a strong factor from the start and weakened after five-eighths, but outstayed MY BLONDE, who crowded into the fence soon after the start, went well.

ETERNAL FLASH, a strong contender from the start, withstood a hard drive gamely the final quarter, and, after wearing down CREOLE BIRD, drew away slowly. Latter, inclined to bear out on the turn, worked her way clear under strong riding and held on fairly well but could not withstand the winner. CANTERON lost ground the last three-eighths and finished well under strong handling.

CLOUD D'OR, lucky to get through between horses in the first quarter and saving ground the last three-eighths, was under severe pressure the final three-sixteenths, and weakened, but lasted. GLITTERING, raced wide throughout and slow to respond to strong riding, finished fastest of all. GIANTS DEFEAT CARDINALS, 5-4, ON WILD PITCH

Jackson Scores Deciding Run on Collins' Heave.

New York, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The Giants sank the Cardinals deeper into second place today, winning, 5 to 4, in the third game of the series as the desperate world champions, now trailing by four full games, beat themselves in their anxiety.

Phil Collins, third St. Louis pitcher, wild pitched the game away in the seventh, sailing a fast one over Bill De Lancey's head to let Travis Jackson, Giant third baseman, dash home with the deciding run.

There were only 8,600 in the Polo grounds, but they saw Frankie Frisch rage at the plate as Umpire Bill Stewart called him out on strikes for the final out in the ninth with the tying run on second base.

Bud Parmelee started for the Giants and Bill Walker for the Cards, but neither finished. Parmelee was replaced by Al Smith in the eighth after Joe Medwick, who led the Cardinal attack with three hits, doubled and scored on Jim Collins' single with none out. A double play, the second started by Dick Bartell at critical moments, pulled Smith out of trouble after he fanned pinch hitter Terry Moore.

Doctor Gives Humphreys Slight Chance to Live

Eastview, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Attending physicians said tonight that Joe Humphreys, noted fight announcer, had a slight chance to survive. The patient still was in a comatose state resulting from the cerebral hemorrhage suffered Tuesday when he was about to leave Grasslands hospital. "The end might come suddenly," the attending physician said, "but if he shows no further loss of strength in the next three or four days he might be expected to survive."

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Tommy Bridges, aided by a pinch single in the eighth by Charley Gehringer, scored his 18th victory of the season today as the Detroit Tigers rallied to beat the Washington Senators, 6 to 3.

With the score tied at 3 all in the eighth, Gehringer, who had been out of the lineup two days with a knee injury, batted for Clifton. His single scored Owen and broke the deadlock.

YANKEES, 3; INDIANS, 1.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The New York Yankees staged one big rally today after Willis Hudlin had held them to one hit in the first six innings and did enough scoring to beat the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 1.

Dickey and Lazzeri opened the seventh with singles. Each advanced on Saltsgaver's fly and Dickey scored when Pinch Hitter Ruffing grounded out. Hits by Combs, Rolfe, and Chapman completed the scoring.

left field wall to pull down Dykes' drive.

Salveson pitched the ninth and started by walking R. Ferrell, who went to second while Appling was throwing out Werber. Melillo was called out on strikes and Dahlgren was given an intentional pass. Grove fanned on three pitches.

In the ninth, after Cronin threw out Appling and Washington fanned, Simmons walked and stopped at second when Hayes beat out a single to Cronin in deep short, but Sewell ended the game by forcing Hayes at second, Cronin to Melillo.

The Red Sox this afternoon will say their 1935 farewell to Chicago when they meet the White Sox in the final of the series. Wes Ferrell will go after his twentieth victory of the season. Vernon Kennedy will pitch for the rampant White Sox.

The reason Umpire Bill McGowan has worked behind the plate in three straight games is because he has a busted toe and can't run.

Zeke Bonura visited the radio booths during the game. He told friends his doctor has informed him he'll be out for another week. Zeke says he doesn't think it will be that long.

Mule Haas, the other major invalid in the White Sox sick bay, is getting no better fast, it is said.

HAAS, BURKEMO REACH FINAL OF WESTERN JUNIOR

Birmingham, Mich., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Fred Haas Jr., New Orleans, the defending champion, and Walter Burkemo, 17 year old Detroit youngster, advanced today to the thirty-six hole final of the Western Junior Golf tournament.

Haas accomplished his march to the final by continuing the display of subpar game he has flashed throughout the meet. He whipped Jerome Barber, Jacksonville, Ill., 4 and 3, in the quarter-finals in the morning and won from Charles Smead, Chicago junior district champion, 5 and 4, in the afternoon.

The Detroiter, youngest of seven children of a Detroit painter, breezed through his quarter-final match with Joe Franco, Chicago, winning 3 and 2, but had to come from behind to win in the semi-finals from Billy Warren, Detroit, a University of Michigan sophomore, 1 up on the 19th hole.

MASON, MANAGER OF HARRY GREB, IS TAKEN BY DEATH

James [Reddy] Mason, one of boxing's most picturesque characters, died last night at Alexian Brothers hospital of heart disease. Mason, 67 years old, managed Harry Greb, who held the middleweight crown from 1923 when he dethroned Johnny Wilson until 1926 when he was beaten by Tiger Flowers. Mason is reputed to have earned in excess of $100,000 for his end for managing Greb and other boxers.

Of late years Mason, who formerly resided in Pittsburgh, Pa., has been living here with his 19 year old daughter, Dorothy Mason, at the Granada hotel. He spent the remaining years of his life attending major league basball games and fights at which he attracted attention by his use of a megaphone he carried in a brown paper bag. He attended a show at Marigold Gardens last Monday and appeared in the best of health.

Mason suffered an attack Tuesday. On orders of his physician, Dr. Kurt Ossendon, he was removed to the hospital.

The body will be taken to Pittsburgh tonight. Burial will be at Calvary cemetery there Monday morning. In addition to his daughter, Mason is survived by an older brother, Edwin Mason of Pittsburgh.

walked. Jurges took third on Galan's liner to Koenecke and counted on Herman's single which took an unexpected hop over Leslie's head. Stainback and Hartnett filed out.

Munns was among the missing after the fourth but before his departure the Cubs picked up another run, making it 10 to 0. Demaree led off with a single to left, Cavarretta fanned and Lindstrom doubled to right. Demaree scored on the extra base drive. Then Warneke singled to left and Lindstrom headed for the plate. He refused to risk a slide and was tagged out on Bucher's throw.

The first batter to nick Warneke for a hit was Frey, who doubled to left with one gone in the fourth. He was doubled off second when Cavarretta flagged Bucher's line drive. Then the Dodgers mustered enough strength to get a run around to the plate in the fifth. Stainback did a sun dance under a long fly off Cuccinello's bat and it dropped for a two bagger with one out. Boyle, who had supplanted Koenecke, singled to right and Cuccinello scored. Another double play put a stop to the Dodgers' harmless fun.

Cubs Get to Baker.

Rookie Baker didn't permit the Cubs any liberties in the fifth, but in the sixth luck broke against him and a run registered. Demaree walked after Hartnett had been thrown out on a ball that bounced off Frey's hands and was recovered behind second by Cuccinello. Cavarretta singled to right. Lindstrom sent a fly into the left field corner and Bucher, fearing a collision with the grandstand, let it roll off his glove for a single, Demaree scoring. The Dodgers claimed the ball was foul but could find no sympathizers. Jurges then fanned and Warneke flied to Bordagaray.

The Dodgers registered again in the sixth and might have had a few more if Warneke hadn't been assisted by swell plays on the part of Jurges and Lindstrom. The run resulted from successive singles by Baker, Bordagaray and Frey. Another Dodger counted in the eighth on a double by Baker, a wild pitch and an infield out.

Cubs and Root Draw Earnshaw as Mound Foe

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 15.—George Earnshaw, the former American leaguer, who has just begun to fight, will pitch against the Cubs tomorrow in the fourth game of their series with the Dodgers. The pride of Swarthmore has won his last two games. Charley Root, who served less than one inning during Wednesday's double defeat, will start for the Cubs.

The Cubs carry no batting practice pitcher, a fact that caused Vice President Charley Grimm no little pain this afternoon. Charley threw to his boys in practice and a line drive off Billy Herman's bat thumped him on the right elbow. Grimm thought a bone had been broken, but aside from a temporary paralysis of the forearm no damage was done.

Chuck Klein's recent performances as run producer haven't been what you can term classy. In his last seven games he was at bat 14 times when there were one or more mates on the bases, but he stands credited with driving only one of them home.

The Dodgers who are always thinking up something new, are hard at work on a new kind of record and probably will make it by the time the season ends. It has to do with letting the third strike go past unnoticed. So far a total of 131 have been called out while holding their bats on their shoulders.

ders, full back; Sisk, right half back, and Red Pollock, the former Penn Military academy full back, at left half.

Of the new men, Pollock and McPherson were the most impressive. Pollock is a tall, rangy driving type of player who handles punts well and is being drilled at the safety position. McPherson is a squat, powerful guard with exceptional speed for his 210 pounds. Placed opposite Zeller and later Jim McMillen, who is returning to football after six years, McPherson acquitted himself well.

Seek Successor to Lyman.

The scrimmage revealed a spirited four corner fight for the regular left tackle berth, where Halas must find a successor for Link Lyman. Art Buss, a substitute for Lyman last year, has the advantage there, but Milford Miller, a 223 pound recruit from Chadron [Neb.] State Normal; Fred Crawford, of Duke, a member of the 1934 All-Star team who did not play football last fall, and Trost were conspicuous in today's scrimmage and Buss has yet to cinch a place in the starting lineup against the All-Stars.

Bronko Nagurski, Pollock, Sisk, Feathers and Manders broke away for long runs and Manders made a 30 yard place kick with Masterson holding the ball. For the most part, however, the offense was too

New York, Aug. 15.—Weakness in government bonds, in an increased turnover, was the most noticeable feature of today's bond market. The government issues showed signs of steadiness until the Washington announcement shortly before noon of the relatively poor showing in the treasury's auction sale of 2⅞s. Thereupon prices in the treasury list began to break, declines extending to 8-32 of a point. HOLC and federal farm issues dropped back moderately.

The majority of issues managed to finish above their lows of the day. Treasury 2⅞s were the most active of the government division with a decline of 5-32. Of a total federal turnover of about $5,000,000, the 2⅞s accounted for $3,937,000.

Rail Group Is Irregular.

In the corporate department rail liens turned in a rather ragged performance, with most losses attributed to profit taking.

Declines of fractions to a point or so were suffered by Northern Pacific 4½s, Missouri Pacific refunding 5s, Atlantic Coast Line 4½s, Great Northern 4½s, Nickel Plate 5½s, Pere Marquette 5s, and Western Maryland 4s. There were a few firm bonds in this group. Among these were Alleghany corporation 5s, Boston and New York 4s, and Erie general lien 4s.

Utility Issues Move Narrowly.

The utilities and industrials were rather narrow, but a number managed to edge forward. Such issues as U. S. Rubber 5s, Columbia Gas 5s, and Porto Rico Tobacco 6s were in demand at higher prices. At the same time such loans as Richfield Oil 6s, Consolidated Coal 5s, American Smelting 5s, Consolidated Gas 5½s and Peoples Gas 5s yielded small amounts to more than a point.

Transfers in all groups amounted to $13,985,000, par value, against $10,990,000 yesterday.

Northwestern Mutual Life.

Investors' Guide: Can you give me some information regarding the status of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company? I am going to subscribe to a retirement income policy, but want to be sure that the company is financially stable.—S. N. P.

Answer: Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, Milwaukee, Wis., is the sixth largest United States life insurance company. Admitted assets at the close of 1934 totaled 1,018 millions of dollars, against 998 millions the year before, and 996 millions at the close of 1932.

Of this total, real estate was $45,-996,000. During 1934 the company sold 549 farms acquired through foreclosure at average prices 9½ per cent greater than the values carried on the company's books. Mortgages were $321,938,000, on which the company earned 4.9 per cent in 1934; bonds, $369,572,000, on which the return was 4 per cent; cash, $10,892,000, and policy loans, $218,625,000, on which the company earned 6 per cent. The return on invested assets in 1934 was 4.4 per cent, against 4½ per cent in 1933 and 4.8 per cent in 1932, a good rate of return. Assets are well diversified.

Income in 1934 was $191,406,000 and disbursements were $166,110,000.

In refinancing farm mortgages with federal government agencies the company sustained a loss of only 1.46 per cent in 1934, although the amount received was $32,132,000.

Ratio of actual to expected mortality dropped to 58.6 per cent in 1934, against 61.4 per cent in 1933.

Expenses and lapses are low. Mortality is favorable.

One problem confronting the company is investment of its funds. During 1934 it invested about $115,000,000 in fixed interest securities, of which $111,800,000 were in obligations of the United States government and domestic lesser governing bodies at low rates of interest. This problem confronts all insurance companies. Northwestern Mutual's large surplus [$52,085,000], large backlog of investments acquired at less than prevailing prices, and favorable working out of investments which have been partially written off, plus the normal profits of underwriting, should offset that factor to a large degree.

Pure Oil.

Investors' Guide: Please inform me if Pure Oil company refunded all its notes on Aug. 1, 1935. Again I wish to thank you for your kind assistance in the past.—Mrs. F. E. C.

Answer: Pure Oil company called all its outstanding 5½ per cent notes, due Aug. 1, 1937, for redemption at 100¾ and accrued interest on Aug. 1, 1935.

GRAIN PRICES RISE AS HEDGING SALES DECLINE

Wheat Gains a Cent, Corn Is Higher.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

An abatement in seasonal hedging selling in the Chicago grain market yesterday brought a rise of a cent a bushel in the price of wheat futures. Corn also advanced, with the September future contract climbing 1½ cents a bushel on buying that was regarded as covering of shorts.

Neither the unexpected announcement of the AAA of a substantial increase in the 1936 wheat acreage, nor the news of the appointment of the new Canadian wheat board had any perceptible effect on wheat prices. The market's buoyancy developed as the pressure of hedging selling was temporarily lightened.

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$ .89⅝	$ .88⅝	$ .91⅞
Corn	.57⅞	.56⅝	.58⅛
Oats	.28⅛	.28⅛	.31⅞
Rye	.44⅛	.43⅝	.46⅛

Paradoxical Situation.

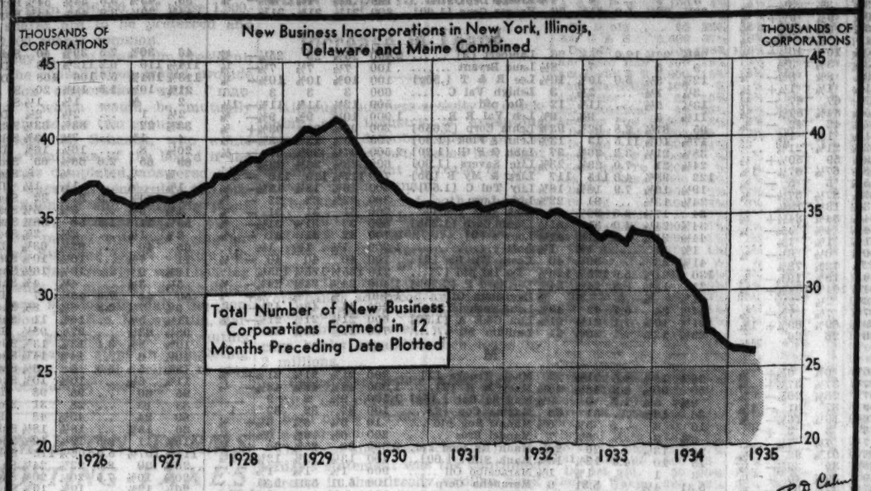
Yesterday's sharp advance in the September corn future and the smaller grains marked up for the later deliveries call attention to the paradoxical situation that now exists. Generally speaking the corn crop outlook is excellent. A total crop of 2,275,000,000 bushels appears likely. New crop corn, however, will not be available for delivery against September contracts and supplies remaining from last year's meager harvest are small. As a consequence the September corn future is selling 20 cents a bushel above the December and May futures.

On the basis of the prospects alone, the decline in deferred corn futures appears to have been justified. Speculators have sold the market short, but are now becoming uneasy. Two factors are causing the anxiety. It is feared that the AAA may decide to extend loans on corn as was done in 1932 and 1933. The other cause of uneasiness among short speculators in corn is the prospect that an extremely tight situation may develop in the September future before it expires.

Situation in Canada.

Announcement of the personnel of the new Canadian wheat board was accompanied by no clear statement of what the marketing policy will be. Retention of John I. McFarland, general manager of the predecessor wheat pool, is interpreted, however, as indicating that the new board will move cautiously in disposing of the dominion surplus. The government in power is still anxious to do all it can to justify its hoarding policy of the last season during which it acquired 225 million bushels of wheat at prices considerably above the present market. If the present party is turned out of power at the coming general election the new government will undoubtedly speed up the sale of wheat in the world market.

Number of New Corporations Formed Continues at a Low Level



School Bonds Sold to Banks at Premium

A syndicate headed by the First National bank of Chicago yesterday was awarded an issue of $5,500,000 Chicago board of education refunding bonds on a bid of par plus a premium of $120,318. The syndicate bid 102.1876 and later in the afternoon publicly offered the bonds at a price as of Sept. 1 of 103.06, equal to a basis to yield 3.15 per cent. Dealers reported a satisfactory sale.

The bonds are dated Sept. 1, 1935, mature Jan. 1, 1955, and are callable after 1946. They replace an equal amount of educational fund bonds due next Jan. 1.

Three Other Groups Bid.

Three other syndicates representing 63 separate institutions submitted bids. These were a group headed by Brown, Harriman & Co., with a bid of 101.8599; Chase National bank, 101.079, and Halsey, Stuart & Co., 100.975. Other members of the successful syndicate were Chicago banks—Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Harris Trust and Savings bank, Northern Trust company and the City National Bank and Trust company.

Situation Has Changed.

The large premium bid is in sharp contrast to conditions existing a few years ago when board of education bonds were difficult to sell. Yesterday's deal follows closely a similar refunding operation of the city last week in which an issue of $9,647,000 in 3½ per cent bonds was sold at a premium of $356,843—a record high in Chicago financial history.

Mayor Kelly declared the premium offered indicated that the school board is again on a firm financial footing and that confidence in its financial status is better than in years.

U. S. SPENDS AT RATE OF 10 BILLIONS A YEAR; EXCEEDS BUDGET PLAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The government has poured out cash since July 1 at a $10,000,000,000 a year rate, if continued, which was indicated to be unlikely, the treasury would spend by next June 30, end of the financial year, $2,000,000,000 in excess of budget estimates.

At the close of business Aug. 13, the treasury reported expenditures of $1,002,196,741. This was at the rate of $29,500,000 each day since July 1.

The President's January budget message estimated $8,520,000,000 would be spent for all purposes during the year, or at the rate of $23,300,000 every 24 hours. The message also estimated a deficit of $4,528,000,000 during the year. Of this total, $539,670,000 had been realized Aug. 13.

RFC TO FINANCE NEW FAST TRAINS ON TIME PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—Purchase of streamlined trains by railroads "on the instalment plan" will be financed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, Chairman Jesse H. Jones announced today.

The RFC has agreed to finance the Budd Manufacturing company in the construction of streamlined trains, which the company would then lease to railroads. The roads would pay a monthly rental for the trains until the full purchase price is paid. Trains will cost about $250,000.

Loans up to 80 per cent of the train's cost will be made to the manufacturer under the industrial loan powers of the RFC. Beside having a mortgage on the train and its earnings, the RFC will insist on approving its design and passing upon the railroad to which it is to be leased.

Auction Sale Price on U. S. Bonds Drops

Secretary Morgenthau's announcement yesterday on the results of the treasury's latest auction offering of 2⅞ per cent bonds of 1955/'60 disclosed a less favorable public reception of these obligations compared with recent offerings of bonds of the same issue.

Tenders totaling $98,465,000 of an aggregate of $147,264,000 received for the offering made on Monday were accepted by the treasury.

Average and Yield.

The average price paid was 100 25-32, while the average yield to the first call date, March 15, 1955, was 2.822, and to maturity, March 15, 1960, 2.829 per cent. The total premium to be received on the offering is $780,275.

The July 31 offering of 100 million dollars of similar bonds brought tenders totaling $320,981,000, of which $106,483,000 was accepted. The average price was 101 18-32 and the average yields were 2.771 per cent and 2.787 per cent to first call date and maturity, respectively. Premiums received totaled $1,663,838.

Higher Last July.

On the July 17 offering of a like amount of the same bonds tenders aggregating $510,958,000 were received of which $101,967,000 was accepted. The average price was 101 19-32 and the average yield 2.77 per cent and 2.78 per cent, respectively. The premium totaled $1,631,894.

Government bond dealers in La Salle street ascribed the poorer demand for the bonds to the fact that prices of the 2⅞ per cent bonds dropped to 101 in two weeks' time. Consequently the public would not bid a price for bonds to the treasury higher than it could obtain them in the open market. The long term government bond market has been weak recently.

COTTON PILES UP ON AAA AS U. S. EXPORTS SLUMP

Amount, Value Far Below Last Year.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Emphasis to the agricultural adjustment administration's cotton problem was given today when the department of commerce made public figures showing exports of United States cotton for the 1934-1935 cotton season August to July, inclusive, were 36 per cent below the previous season in volume and 23 per cent in value.

Cotton shipments in July totaled 277,000 bales valued at $18,418,000, compared with 345,000 bales valued at $22,736,000 in June and 306,000 bales valued at $19,842,000 in July a year ago, the figures showed. July exports were the lowest since last August.

With some 5,000,000 bales of cotton now in the warehouses as a result of the AAA 12 cent loan policy, and a cotton crop forecast of over 12,000,000 bales, the AAA is facing a similar problem to that which the old farm board found on its hands when it took control of large amounts of commodities.

AAA Officials Silent.

No comment on the situation was made at the AAA, and there were no reliable indications of what the cotton loan program on the current crop will be and when it will be announced. Some form of program is predicted, although many AAA officials are doubtful of its wisdom and value.

Total shipments for the 1934-35 cotton season, aggreated 4,795,000 bales, valued at $325,451,000, compared with 7,534,000 bales, valued at $421,406,000 for 1933-34, representing a decline of 2,739,000 bales and $95,955,000. The decline is to be accounted for mainly by smaller shipments to Germany, the United Kingdom, France, Japan, China, and Italy. The total decrease for the above six countries aggregated 2,619,000 bales. Shipments to the soviet union, India, and to Sweden increased 8,000 bales.

Commerce Bureau Explains Drop.

Commercial department officials said the decline in cotton exports to Japan was partly the result of an agreement whereby raw cotton from India is exchanged for manufactured Japanese goods. The decline in exports to Great Britain can be laid at the door of competing cotton countries, one of the largest of which is Brazil, while the exchange situation and unfavorable business conditions accounted for many of the other declines, they said.

Actual consumption of American cotton in foreign countries decreased to a smaller extent than indicated by the above figures, owing to the fact that foreign mills drew upon local stocks of American cotton, officials said. The port stocks of American cotton in Europe and Japan declined by nearly 700,000 bales.

Ayres Agreeing with Dawes; Now Sees Signs of Recovery

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Sisyphus, wicked king of ancient Corinth, who was condemned in Hades to roll uphill a huge stone that always rolled down again, is resurrected by Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust company and chairman of the economic policy commission of the American Bankers' association, to show how he is drawing closer to the optimists, led by Gen. Charles G. Dawes, who think that recovery has begun in earnest.

"Until this summer," says Col. Ayres in his monthly survey, "our struggles against the depression have resembled the labors of Sisyphus for most of the recoveries gained were promptly lost again. This summer for the first time we have been able to hold most of the recent gains.

"There is a more solid basis for the prevailing cheerfulness of business sentiment than the impressive and important fact that stock market quotations have been advancing for five consecutive months."

Less than two months ago Col Ayres, commenting on Gen. Dawes' prediction of last winter that the genuine business recovery would begin in midsummer and that it would first become apparent in a pickup in steel production, said:

"I don't know of any indication at this time to substantiate the Dawes forecast. Of course, the upturn will come some time. We are now studying the situation in an effort to ascertain when that will be."

In his current survey Col. Ayres, speaking of the steel industry, calls attention to an "increasingly healthy broadening of demand for its products, particularly in the miscellaneous field."

"Present prospects," he says, "are that we shall be able to hold most of the recent gains during the rest of the year, and even to add something more before its close."

Sisyphus is gaining on the boulder.

Holds AAA Confesses Error in Permitting More Wheat.

The Agricultural Adjustment administration's action Wednesday in reducing the reduction of wheat acreage for 1936 under the crop control program is pointed to by B. W. Snow of the Bartlett-Frazier company as a confession of impotency by the government's "swivel chair" economists who "flirt with famine."

"Three years in succession of shortage of bread production, and the stalking specter of high cost of living, have at last been sufficient to convince swivel chair operators that something is wrong with a program that gives no consideration to current natural forces," says Mr. Snow.

"Failure to recognize that 'averages' in yield per acre merely represent the mean between wide extremes of range was responsible for the theory that production could be controled by the simple process of reducing the acreage in any given year.

"The surrender at this time of the AAA theory of controled production by reliance on past averages is apparently premised upon knowledge that the full extent of this year's wheat crop calamity is not measured, and that back of it is the threat of another wheat shortage in prospect next year because of the continuing drouth in the southwestern wheat growing area."

Republic Steel Merger Meeting Is Postponed

Cleveland, O., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A special meeting of stockholders of Republic Steel corporation to act upon acquiring the assets of the Corrigan, McKinney Steel company and other steps involved in the planned merger was adjourned today to Sept. 16.

NEW YORK TRAIN SCHEDULE IS CUT FORTY MINUTES

Forty minutes will be clipped from the running time of one of the New York Central's crack trains—the Commodore Vanderbilt—between Chicago and New York City next Sunday. The train will make the run in 17 hours 40 minutes, leaving here at 3:30 p. m. daylight time and arriving in the eastern city at 9:10 a. m.

Another train of the road—the Wolverine—will quicken its schedule 20 minutes, leaving Chicago at 1:40 p. m., daylight time, and arriving in New York at 8:20 the next morning.

The time of the Knickerbocker from St. Louis to New York will be cut 15 minutes, also effective Sunday.

SILVER BREAKS AGAIN DESPITE BUYING BY U. S.

Sells at Low Level for Six Months.

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Silver prices continued to fall today and further confounded Washington. In London the price of bar silver dropped three-sixteenths of a penny to 29 pence an ounce. This is the lowest price to be quoted for the metal in six months and makes the third consecutive daily decline. In New York the quotation declined ⅜ cent to 65⅝ cents.

The recession was not hindered by the overnight announcement of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau that his department had yesterday bought more silver than had been produced in the United States during the last year. Indian and Chinese speculators apparently are not impressed with the sincerity of this government's purchase program.

Foreign Speculators Unload.

Foreign silver speculators have been lulled into a feeling of security by the United States program. Early this year they began to accumulate large holdings apparently in the belief that the United States was pledged to support the market. When higher prices failed to materialize speculators began to have doubts.

The consequence was that they started to unload gradually in London, which is the leading foreign market for the white metal. Immediately the repercussions of the selling reached American producers and other silver interests.

Gold Currencies Steady.

The paradox in the relation of silver currency values to the metal prices resulted from increases of 32½ points to 49.62½ cents in the Hongkong dollar and 90 points to 37.10 cents in the Shanghai dollar. Both currencies have shown consistent losses since the current decline in silver prices began a few days ago.

Gold bloc currencies showed little change today, the guilder being 5 points higher at 67.88 cents, while Swiss francs and French francs remained steady—the former at 32.77 cents and the latter at 6.64 cents.

The French franc remains above

STOCKS LOWER; PROFIT TAKING SELLING HEAVY

Signs of Slackening in Speculative Interest.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 15.—Speculative interest subsided somewhat on the stock exchange today. There was no news of a particularly stimulating character and the recent sharp runups in a long list of trading favorites seemed to invite profit taking. The result was a general tendency to settle to lower levels. The selling became rather pronounced in some quarters in the afternoon and the closing figures were liberally interspersed with minus signs calling attention to losses of a point or so.

Silver shares showed a firmer tendency for a while on the news that the treasury was once again coming to the support of the metal, but the final gong found United States Smelting nearly 2 points lower and fractional losses in American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco and others of the group.

Pivotal Issues Are Lower.

Losses of around a point were chalked up against such favorites of the recent advance as American Can, Westinghouse, U. S. Steel, and Johns Manville. Allied Chemical, a rather spectacular feature in yesterday's trading, succumbed rather easily today as traders took profits. It finished 2 points below the line. DuPont, on the other hand, countered the trend for a fractional gain.

Public utilities showed little trace of their recent spunk and the rails were generally less active and inclined to sag. Consolidated Gas gave up a point and so did Public Service of New Jersey. New York Central, Atchison, Illinois Central, and Delaware and Hudson were among the more outstanding laggards of the carrier division, declines among them running to well over $1 a share.

Studebaker Is Feature.

In the automobile group, Studebaker was the feature, rising above 4 in large dealings. Auburn was hoisted a couple of points and Chrysler moved up a major fraction. General Motors was under heavy profit taking and found the going too much for its efforts.

A rise of more than 3 points in Spiegel, May, Stern brightened up the department store sector. Park & Tilford also ran ahead more than 3 points. First National Stores, on the other hand, had to give up nearly $4 a share on sales prompted by its second quarter earnings report showing net of only 83 cents a share as compared with $1.23 in the corresponding quarter of 1934.

Oil shares looked a little better in the afternoon. Consolidated, Seaboard, Atlantic Refining and other members of this department rose fractions to around 2 points.

REPORT SHOWS RFC TECHNICALLY IS INSOLVENT

Large Diversion to FERA Upsets Balance.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—The Reconstruction Finance corporation is technically insolvent in the sense that its remaining liquid assets will no longer cover its liabilities, the corporation's monthly statement for July, which was made public today, shows.

Diversion of about $1,000,000,000 of the RFC's funds to the Federal Emergency Relief administration and the outright spending of this money by the FERA has left the RFC in the position of owing more than it can collect from its other assets, the statement reveals.

Total loans and advances by the RFC on July 31 amounted to $3,577,685,537 after the exclusion of $999,998,066 which had been turned over to the relief administration. Against its liquid assets of $3,577,700,000 the RFC had liabilities of about $3,650,000,000, or a $72,300,000 excess of liabilities.

Notes Given Treasury.

The RFC's liabilities are notes which it has given to the treasury department as evidence of indebtedness for the money which the RFC has drawn from the treasury. If the RFC is unable to redeem all these notes it will be technically insolvent.

The anomalous situation, in which one of the government's most flourishing corporations cannot meet all its debts, arises from the fact that the RFC was not given credit on the treasury's books for money which was taken away from it and spent by FERA. Some of the money was from unused appropriations and some was from repayments on outstanding loans.

The net result in the treasury's position, however, is unimportant since the relief money would have had to be appropriated out of other funds if it had not been taken from the RFC. President Roosevelt ordered the transfer of funds to FERA under authority granted him in the emergency relief acts of 1934 and 1935.

Carried as Collectible.

The RFC still carries the $999,998,066 given to the FERA in the same category with collectible loans under the heading of "disbursements." There is also in this category and in the $3,577,700,000 of assets about $300,000,000 which the RFC "loaned" to states for relief but which the RFC has no method of collecting.

At the end of July the RFC's total authorizations for loans and advances was close to the 10 billion dollar mark, aggregating $9,948,646,557. Total disbursements under these authorizations amounted to $7,492,692,755.

Of the disbursements, $5,444,525,301 represents loans to commercial borrowers, according to the monthly statement. Repayments on these loans up to July 31 aggregated $2,912,712,551, or an average of 54 cents on the dollar. Banks, which have borrowed $1,884,164,964 and repaid $1,428,236,858, have the best repayment record among the large borrowers.

DELAY HEARING ON ROSENBAUM COURT ORDER

Hearing on the motion of the Chicago Board of Trade for vacation of the federal court order, which enjoins disciplinary action against the officials of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, was continued yesterday until Sept. 16. The delay was ordered by Federal Judge Phillip L. Sullivan, who is handling the case while Judge William H. Holly is on vacation.

Dissolution of the order was opposed by Attorney John S. Miller, representing the Rosenbaum officials, and Attorney Samuel Ettelson, acting on behalf of a small bondholder. Michael Gesas, counsel for the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, supported Attorney Howard Ellis of the Board of Trade in urging dissolution of the injunction. Judge Sullivan said that in view of the opposition he would delay decision until Judge Holly's return.

Earlier yesterday a motion for approval of the transfer of the Rosenbaum elevator properties to a new company was taken under advisement by Assistant Commissioner James R. Clark of the Illinois Commerce commission. Granting of a license to the new firm was opposed by the same interests who argued against vacation of the federal injunction.

Plan Using Relief Labor in Razing Old Buildings

Steps toward setting up municipal machinery for using relief labor in the demolition of 8,500 dilapidated buildings will be taken shortly, according to an announcement issued yesterday by the Metropolitan Housing council. Assistant Corporation Counsel Milton Smith is drawing up an ordinance, to be introduced at the next session of the city council, providing for a special board to pass on all cases where owners refuse to allow the wrecking of their properties.

BIG FILM MERGER, TWENTIETH CENTURY AND FOXX APPROVED

New York, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Fox Film corporation voted today by 2,030,646 to 1,945 to approve the recapitalization plan and merger with Twentieth Century Pictures. The stockholders authorized an increase in capital stock to 4,600,000 shares from 2,816,000. Of these 1,500,000 shares are to be preferred and 3,100,000 shares common.

Sidney R. Kent, Fox Film president, said the consolidation would provide the Fox corporation with "manpower" which would be mutually beneficial to the two groups.

Nicholas M. Schenck, who would become chairman of the board if the merger is completed, answered a series of questions concerning the proposed financial and operating plans of the merged companies.

As the merger vote was being announced Supreme Court Justice McLaughlin in Brooklyn was hearing arguments of minority stockholders who are seeking to halt the consolidation. Justice McLaughlin, earlier, had granted a stay preventing any affirmative steps in completing the merger but had declined to stop the stockholders' meeting.

HAMILTON TERMS BOOSTING TAXES BLOW TO REVIVAL

Terming present tax proposals before congress hastily drawn and ill considered, Col. Isaac Miller Hamilton, vice president of the American Taxpayers League, Inc., and president of the Federal Life Insurance company, declared yesterday that should they be enacted into law another blow will be registered against recovery.

Commenting on the action of the senate finance committee in voting for a 50 per cent increase in the capital stock tax he pointed out that corporations, like individuals, have only so much money to spend. If the government takes it for taxes it will not be available for higher wages or the purchase of new material and equipment to make more employment, he said.

"Any tax raising bill at this time is a mistake," he declared. "We must raise revenue eventually to pay the terrific cost of the New Deal, but the place to start is with the spending end by taking some steps toward balancing the budget. Congress should stop spending. Such procedure would restore confidence and inspire business to renewed effort to reduce unemployment and hasten a return to more normal conditions."

INSISTS POLITICS BARS AGREEMENT ON UTILITY BILL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—An assertion that "political factors" were interfering with a conference agreement on the public utilities holding company bill was made today by Representative Huddleston [Dem., Ala.] in the face of a new senate effort at conciliation.

"If political factors were out of the way we could get along," the Alabaman said to reporters as the second day passed without a meeting of the senate and house conference committee. Senator Wheeler [Dem., Mont.], head of the senate conference committeemen, has asserted that failure to get a bill would give President Roosevelt "an issue" against public utility interests.

Wheeler declined today to comment on reports of a compromise proposal designed to dull the ax aimed at holding companies in the senate measure. He said, however, that a renewed effort at agreement would be made at a meeting tomorrow.

CON. ASSURANCE OPENS SILVER JUBILEE DRIVE

The Continental Assurance company yesterday began a silver jubilee drive, which will end on Aug. 15, 1936, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the company's writing its first policy.

The first policy was for $5,000 and was issued on Aug. 15, 1911, in favor of H. G. B. Alexander, then president of the company, the policy becoming a claim in 1928. The next day two more policies were written for $5,000 each in favor of Manton Maverick and W. H. Roberts. They are still in force.

Capital and surplus in 1911 amounted to more than $150,000, and are now above $3,250,000. Insurance in force at the end of 1911 totaled slightly less than $100,000, compared with the present total of more than $185,000,000.

General Electric Sells Interest in Appliance Firm

Field, Glore & Co. has purchased the holdings of the General Electric company in the Electric Household Utilities company, amounting to 144,808 shares and comprising 37 per cent of Electric Household's outstanding stock, and is marketing the shares privately, officials of the investment house revealed yesterday. The sale probably will be followed by changes in the directorate of Electric Household.

Uruguay May Revalue Gold, Use Profit on Public Work

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The house of representatives today passed a government project to revalue the nation's gold stock in accordance with the present gold market value and to use the profit for public works and government financial operations. The measure amounts to controled inflation inasmuch as the peso [now listed at 80.4 cents] will be devalued and new paper currency issued.

BANK REPORTS SHOW LITTLE INCREASE IN LOANS.

Although business activity is quickening and industry is expanding there is no definite evidence in the weekly bank reports issued last night of any significant increase in commercial credit demand.

The statements of both the New York and Chicago banks showed small increases in commercial loans. In neither center, however, were the increases so large as to indicate any noteworthy credit change. The New York banks advanced an additional 4 million dollars to commercial borrowers during the week, while the Chicago banks expanded such loans by 2 millions.

Loans Far Below Year Ago.

Total commercial loans outstanding in both cities are far below the level of a year ago.

The most significant change in yesterday's statement was the continued increase in the already swollen bank reserves. All reporting member banks of the reserve system showed an increase of 139 millions in their reserves, which now total 5,254 millions. Increases in Chicago and New York accounted for most of this expansion.

The statement reported that of the total reserve funds approximately 2,670 millions represent an excess over legal requirements.

Monetary Gold at New Peak.

Monetary gold stocks of the country were swelled by importations of 26 millions last week, which brought the total to the record high figure of 9,184 millions. It was this expansion in gold stocks and a transfer of federal treasury funds which apparently caused the upturn in reserves.

The treasury disbursed 157 millions last week for manifold governmental purposes, which money found its way back into the banks in the form of deposits. Gross deposits of the New York banks were 113 million higher and in Chicago 15 million higher.

CHOLERA FORCES SALE OF LARGER SUPPLY OF HOGS

Average Price Is Boosted 5 Cents to $13.55.

Finding of mild cases of cholera in several widely separated sections of the country have started some of the young new crop hogs to market several weeks earlier than usual, and resulted in a drop in the average weights of droves at Chicago the last few days. Most of the hogs being marketed because of the danger of this disease are 140 to 220 pound unvaccinated stock, but the selling of the new crop has not been large enough yet to affect the total receipts to much extent.

Farmers bringing in their pigs from the sections where cholera has appeared say the high level of prices also is an influence in moving the new crop earlier.

Where Cholera Exists.

In the last few days hogs from Cedar, Des Moines, Clinton, and Clay counties in Iowa, Mercer county in Illinois, and Blue Earth county in Minnesota have shown the disease. The lightest of the pigs are being held back and vaccinated.

The increased supply of stock under 180 pounds in weight on yesterday's market caused a break of 10 to 15 cents in prices for these kinds, with the plain lights showing losses of 25 cents and more in places. Other hogs, however, were in good demand at stronger rates, packing sows advancing 5 to 10 cents on the strength of the sharply higher lard markets.

The strength in the market for packing sows, which comprise about 50 per cent of the receipts, lifted the average price of hogs 5 cents to a new nine year high of $13.55.

Steers Sell Strong.

The limited number of long fed steers and yearlings in the receipts yesterday brought strong to 25 cents higher prices, selling under brisk competition between local and outside buyers. Most of the grassy and short-fed steers brought steady prices, although there was evidence of strength in some of the better grades of grassy stock and in fleshy shortfeds.

On the strength of the short upward swing of the market the last few days and the urgent call for highly finished steers, the trade advanced the top quotations for prime steers to $12.85 yesatrday, but nothing in the run was good enough to bring more than $12.50.

Lambs brought the best prices since July 9 here, packers and city butchers paying 10 to 15 cents advance and up to $9.10 for the best grades of natives. Top westerns brought $9.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The following figures on hog prices include $2.25 per hundredweight collected for the federal government as processing tax. There is no processing tax on cattle or sheep. The price quotations given below are for 100 lbs of live animal:

LARD PRICES CLIMB AGAIN AS SUPPLIES SHOW NEW DECLINE

The scarcity of supplies and curtailed production continued to send lard prices up yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. The October lard future rose 5 cents a pound, the second consecutive day on which the future has advanced the maximum permitted under the exchange rules. The September future was bid up 4 cents and closed at 17.07 cents a pound, including processing tax.

The semi-monthly report on cold storage lard stocks issued after the close of the market yesterday showed a decline of 6,713,000 pounds in the last two weeks.

Stocks in store in Chicago at present total only 23,736,000 pounds as compared with 134,640,000 pounds at this season last year. At the same time the continued small run of hogs in the Chicago market aggravates the scarcity.

The price of cash lard in the Chicago market has tripled in the last eighteen months. The closing price yesterday was 16.87 cents a pound. Early last year lard sold for 5.30 cents a pound here.

A check-up yesterday of price records going back to 1825 showed that only thirteen times in the last 110 years has lard sold above the present price level.

Silver Senators Demand Probe.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Close on the heels of the recent drop in silver prices, two demands for investigation of the government's silver purchase program were made upon the senate today. One resolution was presented by Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, severe critic of the administration's silver operations, and the other by Senator Pittman, spokesman for the administration on silver policies.

The Thomas resolution, sweeping in character, asked for authorization of the agricultural committee to inquiry into virtually every aspect of the silver purchase plan. The Pittman resolution briefly suggested a special committee of five senators be named to "confer with the secretary of the treasury relative to the administration and the economic and commercial effect in the United States and abroad" of the silver purchase act.

Want Witnesses Called.

Both resolutions provided for appearance of witnesses, for sessions during the congressional recess, and for a $10,000 appropriation.

As the resolutions were introduced, Secretary Morgenthau observed at his morning press conference that the London silver market had virtually returned to normal.

Morgenthau's attitude did not satisfy Senator Thomas, who, after a conference with the secretary, announced that the government's silver policy had "collapsed," and in a senate speech, stated that the "program is just about as clear as mud."

TRADE OFFICIALS MOVE TO AVERT SUGAR SQUEEZE

Fear Shorts May Be Hit by Cuban Quota.

New York, Aug. 15.—[Special.]—Officials of the New York Coffee and Sugar exchange are giving their attention to the prospects of a "tight" situation in the old No. 1 sugar contract within the next two weeks, it was learned today. If a squeeze develops and the situation seems to warant it, the exchange, it is said, may cause the appointment of the control committee provided for by vote of the members on July 2, 1935.

While all new sugar trades inaugurated on the exchange in the last several weeks have been in the new No. 3 sugar contract, against which longs may deliver sugar of any sort, with or without duty paid, there still remain open contracts in the No. 1 contract against which may be tendered only Cuban sugars before duty is paid.

Large Part of Quota Taken.

The AAA has reported that through Aug. 13, there have been 1,612,833 tons of Cuban sugar charges against the 1935 quota, or about 87 per cent of the total, which would leave about 244,000 tons to come. Of this total, 61,000 tons would be within the refined quota, while the balance of 183,000 tons would be filled from imports and through the payment of duty on warehoused stocks throughout the country. It is indicated that New York stocks now total about 55,000 tons, of which duty has been paid on 42,000 tons.

About 100,000 to 150,000 tons of additional Cuban sugar delivered to the United States may be all that is needed to fill the Cuban quota for 1935, and, even if warehoused, as in the case of most recent arrivals, holders may overnight pay the duties and therefore bring such sugars under the quota.

Delivery Problem Seen.

It is therefore evident that the Cuban quota may be filled very rapidly, so that the exchange authorities are mooting the problem which might arise should remaining No. 1 contracts in force be in excess of the Cuban quota, thereby preventing deliveries of sugar being made and forcing switching into No. 3 contracts at steadily rising prices.

The September old contract already is 9 points above the September new contract, based on tonight's closing bid prices on the exchange.

While information is not generally available as to the volume of open trades in No. 1 sugar contracts, the fact that the matter is receiving officials' attention points to a district possibility, that Longs have not converted enough No. 1 contracts into No. 3 contracts to avert a possible embarrassing situation from the standpoint of shorts.
